GARDEN, FARM, BEES, ETC.

WINTER GREENSTUFF.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times the Garden Correspondent says:—

For July planting so soon as space can be found, Savoys play a prominent part. The Kales, both tall and dwarf, of the curly tribe are unrivalled for their hardiness, while the Asparagus Kale, for its profuse, tender spring sprouts, has character peculiarly its own. Brussels Sprouts, mentioned recently with the possibility of planting between the drills of potatoes in view of their necessary long season of growth are often abused by the barbarous practice of leaf-stripping later on; they should have no more than the removal of any faded foliage from the stem base. Plants of the very distinct Winningstadt Cabbage from the spring sowing set now will be appreciated ere autumn gives way to winter.

POULTRY, CAGE BIRDS, DAIRY.

CULLING THE OLD BIRDS.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times the Poultry Correspondent says:—

Culling is necessary all through the year, but now it may be done by removing the old birds that cease laying this month. Early moulters that drop their feathers before September are usually bad layers, and any that are in that condition now should be got rid of. It is better to dispose of the old birds at this time, as they are generally in good condition, and a better price can be obtained for them to be used as broilers. When they stop laying it may be a sign of moulting, and this will reduce them in flesh if the moult is allowed to start. Old cocks, no longer required for breeding purposes, should also be disposed of. It is better to rely on young birds for next breeding season than keep old birds over until then, unless they are of special value.

MANCHESTER MARKETS REVIEW.

FIRMER UNDERCURRENT.

FROM OUR COMMERCIAL CORRESPONDENT.

A rather better under-current is noticeable in most departments of the provision trade, and, with one or two exceptions, values show a firmer tendency. Little alteration has taken place in the position of butter this week, and the Danish official quotation has been wired unchanged at 146 kroner per 100 kilos. At the corresponding period of last year the figure was 150 kroner, and in 1931 188 kroner. The spot demand for all descriptions has been on quiet consumptive lines, and the market closed steady to firm for both Continental and Colonial makes. According to reports from Denmark, while production in that country is decreasing, the long looked-for improvement in trade is slow to materialise. Good supplies of Empire butter are still available, and it is stated that, although gradings of New Zealand declined seasonally during May, they were 23 per cent. larger than in the same month of last year. In the first ten months of the current season gradings of New Zealand have exceeded the corresponding period of last year by 22,500 tons, or 22 per cent. Production in Australia continues at a low level, with rain necessary for an improvement in prospects. Exports of Argentine butter are practically negligible, and no further shipments have been advised from South Africa.

BACON IMPROVING.

The improvement reported in all classes of bacon last week has been maintained, and the market closes very firm on short supplies. No change is recorded in Irish cures this week, but at the meeting of the local Bacon Committee the following advances were made:—Danish No. 1's 1s., No. 2's and No. 3's 3s.; Swedish 3s., and Dutch and Polish 2s. per cwt. all round. Eggs continue firm, and available supplies of Irish and home produced are by no means heavy. Buyers, however, show no disposition to follow any further upward movement in prices. According to official returns, imports of chilled beef and fresh pork were imported to a smaller extent than in May of last year, but increases were recorded in the arrivals of other descriptions of meat, although the rise was slight in the case of bacon, and the total arrivals of the latter description of meat to date this year have been well below last year's level. Moreover, it should be remembered that exports of bacon from Denmark during May last year were restricted by labour difficulties in that country. The smaller supplies of bacon from the Irish Free State have been more than made up by increased landings from Canada. More butter was received than in May of last year, but the imports of cheese were decidedly smaller than usual. Arrivals of eggs were larger than in May, 1932, in marked contrast to the situation in the earlier months of the current year. The importation of potatoes rose considerably on the month, but the total was still well below that recorded in May of last year.

LIVE STOCK.

At the Manchester Cattle market on Tuesday, fat cattle, including Irish, were shown in slightly smaller numbers, but a fairly substantial increase was reported in lambs, although the number shipped from Ireland was practically on the same level as the previous week. More grass-fed cattle are now coming on to the market. A fairly good trade was experienced for fat cattle, and values ruled firm; but lambs, which were plentiful, were only in moderate request. The moderate supplies of pigs at the Manchester Pig Market were quite sufficient for the quiet demand, and both trade and prices are now at about the usual summer level. There has been no great amount of activity in trade displayed at the Manchester Dead Meat market. Home-killed lambs showed a reduction at the close of the week, but there were no very marked fluctuations in other departments.

Available supplies of dead poultry are fully equal to the demand, which is still on the quiet side. Good supplies of salmon continue to come to hand, and a fair demand is experienced at present reasonable prices. Irish is now quoted at 1s. 6d. and grilse 1s. 2d. to 1s. 4d. per lb. (wholesale).

LIVERPOOL MEAT IMPORTS.

Eight steamers landed cattle and fresh meat at Liverpool last week from the various North and South American and Colonial ports. The vessels, with their freights, were as follow:—The Newfoundland, from Boston, with 250 boxes of pork and 799 boxes of meat; the Delphic, from Australia, with 2,066 sheep and lamb carcases, 43 bags of meat, and 3,147 quarters of beef; the Duchess of Richmond, from Montreal, with 578 boxes of pork and 1,417 boxes, etc., of meat; the Manchester Brigade, from Montreal, with 522 cattle; the Georgic, from New York, with 805 boxes of meat; the Ulysses, from Australia, with 3,901 sheep and lamb carcases, 272 bags, etc., of meat, and 12 quarters of beef; the Coracero, from River Plate, with 12,890 sheep and lamb carcases, 1,338 cases, etc., and 100 carcases of pork, 2,596 bags, etc., of meat, and 31,770 quarters of beef; and the Natia, from River Plate, with 9,120 sheep and lamb carcases, 1,982 cases of pork, 55 sides of veal, 6,996 bags, etc., of meat, and 36,843 quarters of beef—making a total of 27,977 sheep and lamb carcases, 4,143 cases, etc., and 100 carcases of pork, 55 sides of veal, 12,928 bags, etc., of meat, and 71,772 quarters of beef. Compared with the arrivals of the preceding week, these figures show an increase of 43 cattle, 3,297 cases and carcases of pork, 8,072 bags, etc., of meat, and 41,861 quarters of beef, and a decrease of 120,610 sheep and lamb carcases.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES

LONDON STOCK MARKET FEATURES.

INDUSTRIAL SHARE VALUATIONS.

A RAILWAY INVESTMENT.

FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON, Sunday.

On the basis of the yields afforded by the last annual dividends several industrial ordinary shares which have risen considerably of late are over-valued. These include Courtaulds, Dunlop Rubber and General Electric. In the first-named case the return at the current price is little over 2⅛ per cent. net, equal to 2⅞ per cent. less tax, the last dividend having been 4 per cent. tax free. Such shares, however, are not being bought on the strength of what the company paid last time, but on the prospect of such an improvement in profits as will permit of bigger dividends. These prospects may not be realised, but even if it could be shown that companies whose shares have been in most demand of late will not earn enough to justify present quotations for a considerable time to come, we shall probably see valuations at a still higher level, because of the measure of optimism that has come over the market.

A WILD GAMBLE.

For this sanguine sentiment America is largely responsible, for the chances are that the programme of credit inflation and currency depreciation there will result in still higher prices of commodities, thus leading to a boom in so-called equities. An example of this is the spectacular rise in Celanese of America shares of no par value from last year's lowest of 7s. 4½d. to over £13. The more prudent investors will probably decide that such a movement is not really worth consideration, as it is due to a wild gamble, and is not justified by the extent to which the outlook has improved or may further improve. It is doubtful also if the more modest rise in British Celanese issues is justified, though a growth of the speculative feeling would certainly lead to still higher quotations. In the case of Celanese of America it would seem that big blocks of shares are held in particular quarters, and the fact that these are not available in the market is partly responsible for the remarkable rise in the price.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT STOCKS.

It is hoped that with the turn of the half-year money will be released and become available for investment in gilt-edged securities, but it would be unwise to reckon too much upon this. This section of the Stock Exchange entirely lacks the buoyancy that characterised it some time ago, for while there is no likelihood of such a rise in money rates as would depress quotations, there is apparently nothing in prospect of a nature to cause a further substantial advance. The growth of interest and activity in Industrial Ordinary shares is not favourable to gilt-edged stocks, for the previous rise in the latter was partly due to purely speculative transactions, and the operators are now disposed to close their positions in old Consols, Local Loans 3 p.c., or whatever stock they fancied, and transfer their affections to equities as giving greater scope for capital appreciation. After the experience of the 2½ p.c. Conversion Loan any fresh attempt to fund part of the floating debt is not likely to be a source of strength, as were similar operations some months ago.

A STOCK FOR APPRECIATION.

Many people in these days want an investment that is not likely to show capital depreciation, and in order to obtain this they are satisfied with a moderate return. The last issue of Central Electricity Board 3½ p.c. is worth consideration. The amount was largely taken by the underwriters, and because of this it has ruled at a discount since dealings started, but this circumstance scarcely justifies the present quotation of 1½ below the issue price of 93½. At 92 the flat yield is £3 18s. per cent., while if allowance is made for redemption at par in 1963 the full yield is brought up to nearly 4 per cent. Admittedly, in the event of a material rise in money rates, all such securities would depreciate, but such a development is not yet in prospect, and may not be witnessed for several years yet.

KAFFIRS.

Transvaal Gold shares have been a better market since the Finance Minister issued an explanation of the Government's taxation proposals, in the course of which he said that an undertaking had been given that if the excess profits duty yielded more than £6,000,000 per annum the amount would be refunded. Market reports refer to a revival in the investment demand for the shares, a development that justifies the advice given here on a former occasion that people should not be frightened into sacrificing their holdings because of the fall in prices that followed the taxation proposals. Broadly speaking, most of the shares give satisfactory yields on the basis of prospective dividends, but an exact calculation cannot be made because the full payments for this year are an uncertain quantity.

BANK SHARES.

In a few days' time, the English banks will declare their dividends for the first half of this year. The chances are that the announcements will be at the same rates as paid for the whole of last year. At current prices, the yields on this class of investment vary according to the extent of any liability for uncalled capital. The £1 fully-paid shares are most popular with investors, and give quite moderate returns—rather less than 3⅞ per cent. in the case of Lloyds, where the dividend is limited to 5 per cent., while Westminster shares give about 3⅞ per cent., the dividend in this case being restricted to 12½ per cent. Midland £1 fully-paid give about 3 11/16 per cent., a similar figure being obtainable from National Provincial £5 fully-paid, while Barclays £1 fully-paid B give the comparatively good return of 4 7/16 per cent.

THE UNCALLED LIABILITY QUESTION.

Those who do not believe that any of the big banks will make a call upon shareholders —and there is good justification for such a belief—can expect to get 4⅝ per cent. from Lloyds £5 (£1 paid) and Midland £12 (£2½ paid), and 4 7/16 per cent. from Westminster £4 (£1 paid). These are the returns at the prices at which shares are offered, and do not allow for the half-year's dividend in the quotations. In the same market are the shares of the three discount companies, and among these Alexanders look promising. They are £2 shares with £1 paid up. The dividend for 1932 was increased to 19 per cent., and, as the shares are available at 68s., the return is the excellent one of 6d. over 5 7/16 per cent. The banks and discount houses have not had a good half-year, for, although the latter have borrowed money cheaply, they have had to be content with very low discount rates, while the banks have not been able to employ all their funds, even on terms which, a few years ago, would have been regarded as ridiculously favourable to borrowers.

A SAFE RAILWAY INVESTMENT.

Metropolitan Ordinary stock appears to be among the safest investments in the Home Railway market. Based on the dividend of 1⅝ per cent. paid for 1932, it is over-valued at 72⅞, for the yield at that figure is barely 2¼ per cent. The quotation is justified by the fact that each £100 is exchangeable for a like amount of stock in a trust company, upon which 3¼ per cent. will be guaranteed for 15 years and 3 per cent. for 10 years subsequently, such guarantee being secured on the pooled receipts of the suburban traffic of the four main line groups.

THIS YEAR'S PAYMENT.

A 3¼ per cent. stock, at 72⅞, yields £4 9s. 3d. per cent. For the second half of this year, the payment will be larger because, while the trust stock ranks for interest from July 1st, holders of Metropolitan Ordinary, who exchange into it will receive any dividend declared on "Mets" for the first half of 1933. Last year the interim was 15s. per cent., and if it is assumed that only 10s. will be distributed, the full payment, including the interest on the trust stock for the current six months, would be £2 2s. 6d., equal to 4¼ per cent. Holders who make the exchange will still retain the option to convert into London Passenger Transport "C" stock, the dividend upon which is problematical; but in that case the terms are £67 10s. only of "C" stock for each £100 of Metropolitan Ordinary.

THE INDUSTRIAL MARKET.

LEYLANDS IN DEMAND.

Cheerful conditions prevailed in the Industrial market on Saturday, and generally dealers reported that the volume of business was satisfactory.

Leyland Motors proved an especially good feature. This was attributed to a revival of amalgamation rumours, and it was noticeable that Dennis shared in the improvement, though to a lesser degree. Apart from this factor the market is inclined at present to stress the strength of Leyland's position within the industry and to regard the company as being less susceptible than some other manufacturers to the influence of competition arising from dollar devaluation.

With a further improvement in Wall street overnight Nickels opened firm and strengthened further in the later dealings to 22. Friday's sharp rally was due to the technical position on Wall street, and support on this side was by no means considerable. Holdings attracted rather more attention, and added 1/16 to 2 15/16, and gains of ⅛ were marked in Hydros at 9⅝, and in Radios at 10⅝. "Emmies" were dull at 13s. 4½d.

*Close in New York 4.33⅛.

The Cable stocks attracted little attention. The Preference were levelled to 77, although the "A" hardened to 27, with the "B" unchanged at 12¼.

For reasons given Leyland Motors received persistent support, to which they responded sharply, finishing at the best of 39s. 6d., with a rise of 2s., while Dennis were also favoured and added 6d. to 22s. 6d. Rolls-Royce reached 54s., although Austins were dull at 52s. 6d., as were Thomas Tillings at 61s., and Fords at 22s. Aviation shares met with supporting orders.

Although Brewery descriptions closed without alteration in most instances, quotations, where changed, were mostly higher under the lead of Distillers, which met with a resumption of support—partly on provincial account —following the publication of the preliminary figures. The shares were finally 7½d. to the good at 69s. 1½d.

In the Tobacco group Carreras "A" sagged to 7 13/16, and the "B" to 19s. 6d., although "Imps" were steady at 5⅛, and "Bats" hardened to 108s. 9d. Gallaher Ordinary at 46s. 6d. were finally a shade harder, although Godfrey Phillips drooped to 18s. 3d.

Patons and Baldwins provided one of the firmest features in the Textile group, rising 9d. to 56s. 3d. Although no outstanding movements were witnessed elsewhere in this section, quotations ruled firm, apart from a reaction of a few pence in Sewing Cottons to 43s. 3d. Calico Printers added 3d. to 14s. 9d., while J. and P. Coats Ordinary were 4½d. higher at 58s. 10½d.

Among Rayons, both Canadian Celanese and Celanese of America opened fractionally easier, although they regained their overnight levels after a moderate turnover. British Celanese received renewed support, and gained 6d. to 18s. 1½d., while the First Preference at 14s. 7½d. and the Second Preference at 11s. 6d. were both firm spots. Courtaulds gained the turn at 37s. 1½d.

In the Provision and Catering group Lovell and Christmas continued under the influence of the dividend announcement, falling 9d. further to 17s. 9d. Tate and Lyles at 73s. 9d. and Aerated Bread at 23s. 6d. were both dull spots.

Spillers' Ordinary and Deferred remained an active and rising market, both putting on 6d. to 50s. 9d. and 31s. 9d., respectively. Boots Drug at 7⅜, British Aluminium at 28s. 9d., Crittalls at 11s., Dunlops at 30s. 7½d., Chemicals at 27s., the Deferred at 7s., London Brick at 65s., Swedish Match "B" at 12s. 1½d., and Molasses at 9s. all strengthened moderately.

OIL SHARES HARDER.

Oil Shares continued quiet, but the firmer tendency which developed on Friday afternoon was again in evidence. Few shares were openly bid for, but dealers reported a quiet undercurrent of buying, to which quotations responded in some instances. Business, however, was too small to test many prices, and the attendance was described as being very poor. The market was steady at the opening under the influence of the overnight advices from America. Of shares which attracted particular attention, Kerns were in demand on the hopes of higher prices for crude, while Phœnix shilling shares were being picked up on a fair scale in anticipation of the issue of the report.

RUBBER SHARES NEGLECTED.

Rubber shares were neglected, business being very small and prices scarcely varied. Advices from Amsterdam concerning the possibility of a restriction agreement were quite hopeful, but no definite plans have been drawn up yet. Pending more detailed news, the Share market and the Commodity remained inactive.

TONE AND COMMENT

DUBLIN QUIET.

GREAT SOUTHERN STOCKS.

There was little or nothing doing on Dublin Stock Exchange on Saturday. The only price change of importance was a rise of a point in Dublin Distillers Ord. to 6.

The Industrial market was stagnant, and no movement of importance occurred in prices.

The feature of the list is the change in Great Southern Railway issues. All the prices were "blanked," but for the guidance of holders we reproduce here the last quotations for the stocks before the "appointed day." They were:—

Ordinary	2½
Preference	4½
Guar. Pref.	10
Debentures	33⅞

The amount of stock listed was:—

Ordinary	£7,767,123
Preference	5,068,464
Guar. Pref.	3,885,374
Debenture	8,823,797
Total	£25,544,758

These figures convey the striking significance of the disaster which has overtaken the stockholders in our great railway combination. No doubt the official list issued to-day will give the amount of the stocks in their reduced form, and the total—for which we await official confirmation—will be a measure of the huge loss sustained. The official notice published among our "Financial Paragraphs" will inform stockholders as to their procedure.

LONDON SLOW.

GERMAN BONDS STRONG.

The outstanding feature of a quiet session in the London Stock markets on Saturday was the strength of German Bonds on the announcement that service for the interest on the Dawes and the Young Loans will be forthcoming, and that provision will be made for the operating of the sinking fund for the former issue. In view of the recognition of the priority of these Loans, German Sevens, the Dawes issues, finished with an advance of 4¼ to 83¾, the tone at the close being firm, while the Young Loan added 2¾ to 56¼. Apart from these stocks, the markets generally had a tired appearance, and remained under the shadow of uncertainties connected with exchange stabilisation. British Government Stocks were firm, but, apart from 5 p.c. Conversions, which added 3/16, gains did not exceed ⅛, which rise was marked in Old Consols. San Paulo Coffee Bonds were flat, the 7½ being sold down to 53 on news of delay in remitting funds to meet the coupon due on Saturday, but there was some buying later, and the price showed a recovery.

British Rails did not attract much attention. Southern Def. Ord. rose ⅜, but the Prefd. Ord. shed ¼. Where changed Foreign Rails were higher. "Can. Pacs." improved ¼, and there was a general marking up of American Rails, the gains ranging up to 3 points in the case of New York Central. Oils were better on American advices, while in the Mining market Kaffirs were better in places, and Copper Shares showed to advantage. Industrials were quietly firm, with Anglo-American issues better.

THE MONEY MARKET

SMALLER PREMIUM ON GOLD.

RENEWED WEAKNESS OF DOLLARS.

Conditions in Lombard street were not so comfortable as is usual after the turn of the half-year, owing to the fact that the banks were paying on Saturday for the bulk of Friday week's issue of Treasury bills. Borrowers had to pay ½ per cent. for fresh loans over the week-end.

Bank Rate Discount (changed June 30th 2%
60 days (fine)	⅜	9/16 %
3 months	7/16	9/16 %	Trade	2	2½ %

Loans to Brokers Day-to-day					½ %
" for a week					½ %
Deposit Allowance; Banks at Call					½ %
" " Discount Houses at Call					½ %
" " " at Notice					¾ %

The tone of discounts was steady and business quiet. The "hot" Treasuries changed hands at 7/16 per cent., and the competitive rate for three months' Bank bills remained at ½ per cent.

About £125,000 of gold offering in the bullion market was taken on Continental account at 122s. 4½d. per fine ounce. This is 7½d. below Friday's price, and includes a premium of 6½d. above the parity quotation.

Silver was a quiet market, and, in the absence of support, prices were fixed ⅛d. lower at 18½d. for spot and 18⅝d. per ounce for forward delivery.

The Bank of England announced the purchase of £104,200 of bar gold.

American dollars developed renewed weakness in the foreign exchange market on Saturday. The sterling-dollar rate on New York opened 1¾ cents favourably to London at 4.28, subsequently advancing to 4.31½. Canadian dollars were 5 cents cheaper. Continental currencies tended to improve. French francs appreciated to 86⅛, and Dutch guilders recovered part of their Friday's decline. Far Eastern exchanges were steady.

LONDON MINING MARKET QUIET.

PRICES GENERALLY HIGHER.

As was to be expected in view of the quiet conditions which prevailed on Friday, little of note occurred in the Mining market on Saturday morning. There was a general disposition among those present not to open new commitments before this morning in view of the still rather uncertain position at the World Economic Conference.

Although, of course, on a small scale the volume of business was most satisfactory in the Kaffir department. A few inquiries were received for West Australians, but other Gold shares were idle.

Among Base Metal issues the tendency was quite firm, but trading was very subdued. Rhodesian Coppers hardened sympathetically with the overnight rally on Wall Street.

Johannesburg cabled buying orders for a number of issues. Kleinfontein, Daggas and East Daggas were mentioned as being chiefly in demand from the South African centre, while among others Nourse and Randfontein were favoured. Quotations were marked ex-div. in Johannesburg on Saturday morning, and this apparently made prices look cheap. It is expected that the dividends will be deducted in London on Monday next.

There were a few dull spots, but the market, on the whole, was quite firm. An outstanding movement was an advance of ⅛ in Kleinfontein to 1 7/16 as a result of substantial Cape support. Nothing definite was heard to account for the rise, but it was assumed that Johannesburg has knowledge of some good development. Closing prices:—

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

GREAT SOUTHERN RAILWAYS—REDUCTION OF CAPITAL.

An Order was made, appointing the 1st July to be the "appointed day" for the purpose of Section 3 of the Railways Act, 1933. Under this section the major capital stocks of the company will be reduced as follows:—For each £100 4 per Cent. Debenture Stock, £85; for each £100 4 per Cent. Guaranteed Preference Stock, £50; for each £100 4 per Cent. Preference Stock, £35; for each £100 Ordinary Stock, £10. No person shall become the holder of a fractional part of a pound of the reduced capital; such fractional part shall be treated as one pound, and the amount of the reduced capital stock shall be increased accordingly. In arriving at fractions, the complete holding must be treated, as distinct from the certificates, where the account is represented by more than one certificate. The existing certificates will be accepted as good delivery until such time as the company is in a position to issue exchange certificates. Dealings in the stocks, as reduced, will commence on 3rd July.

GERMAN INTEREST PAYMENTS.

Outstanding features on the London Stock Exchange on Saturday were provided by German Government Bonds, which displayed pronounced strength. The movements were the result of the Reichsbank's announcement of its intention to meet in full the interest payments on the Dawes and Young bonds. The Sinking Fund payments on the Dawes Loan are also to be fully met, but those on the Young bonds will not be transferred. These modifications of the German transfer moratorium are the outcome of the recent discussions in London between the long term creditors' representatives and the President of the Reichsbank, Dr. Schacht. Foreign exchange will also be found to meet the 50 per cent. of the interest due on other debts, the remaining 50 per cent. being paid in marks into a Conversion Fund administered by the Reichsbank.

NEW CAPITAL ISSUES IN 1933.

The statistics of the new capital issues in the United Kingdom, compiled by the Midland Bank, show that while June maintained the total of June, 1932, the first six months of this year showed a decline of £5,440,000 on the first half of last year. The amount for June this year was £17,541,000, against £17,468,000 for June, 1932. The aggregate for the six months this year was £69,328,000, as compared with £74,772,000 for the similar period of 1932. Allocations of the issues for this year were:—United Kingdom, £57,719,000; India and Ceylon, £4,845,000; other British countries, £4,467,000; and foreign countries, £2,297,000.

RAND GOLD PROFITS FOR JUNE.

The Johannesburg Consolidated Investment Company announce the following estimated profits in their group for last month:—

	June.	May.
Government Areas	£330,066	£344,044
Langlaagte Estate	£56,035	£58,563
New State Areas	£162,096	£170,100
Randfontein	£160,162	£164,153
Van Ryn Deep	£55,235	£58,245
Witwatersrand	£8,174	£9,069

The probable reason for the decrease in profits last month as compared with May is the shorter working period, there being 26 working days in June as against 27 in May. Gold taken at 120/- per oz.

BRADFORD DYERS.

The directors of the Bradford Dyers' Association, Ltd., in a circular to the shareholders, refer to the decision to postpone the payment of the dividend on the 5 per cent. Preference Stock due on July 1, and state:—"The decision has been reached with regret, after most careful consideration. The present uncertainty as to the course of trade, and the existing disturbed world conditions, render it inadvisable to make the large draft upon the Association's reserves which the payment would entail, and your directors are satisfied that it is in the interests of the business that consideration should be deferred until the end of the year. By that time more information will be available as to the results of the current year's trading, and it is hoped that a position of greater stability may have been reached in world affairs. The dividend is cumulative, and the arrears of any half-year constitute a charge upon future profits."

TIN STOCKS FALL.

The increase in the demand for tin from the United States is the outstanding fact in the monthly statistics issued on Saturday by W. H. Gartsen, of London. Deliveries in June totalled 9,413 tons, as compared with 7,359 tons in May and 6,817 tons in June last year. of the total the United States received 6,145 tons, against 4,835 tons in May and 3,540 tons in June last year. Supplies for the month totalled 7,344 tons, against 6,816 tons in May and 5,226 tons in June last year. The net result is a decrease in the total visible supply from 41,729 tons in May to 39,660 tons. Stocks in the United Kingdom fell from 25,755 tons in May to 21,939 tons, but they rose in the United States, including those landing and afloat, from 8,098 tons to 10,446 tons. The carry-over in the Straits Settlements fell from 7,163 tons in May to 6,972 tons in June. The average price for the month was £222, as against £210 5s. in May and £117 10s. in June last year.

RECOVERY IN OILS.

Oil shares have been attracting considerably more attention than of late, and, under the influence of the quiet purchasing that has been in progress, the leading shares have appreciated. Production figures from the United States have been more favourable under the restriction programme now in operation there, while the better business conditions are causing an increased demand. Satisfaction is also expressed with the recent dividend announcement by the Anglo-Persian, the Phœnix and some of the Trinidad companies (says The Observer). Compared with the lowest levels touched this year, prices to-day are very satisfactory, as the following table shows:—

	Price now: s.	d.	Variation. Jan. 3 s.	d.	to June 14. s.	d.
Anglo-Persian	40	0	40	7½	—31	1½
Apex Trinidad	25	6	24	7½	—18	1½
Burmah	77	6	68	9	—55	0
Lobitos	45	0	39	4½	—29	10½
Shell	51	3	51	6¾	—38	1½
Royal Dutch	21⅜		20½		— 15⅛
Phœnix	12	6	11	10½	— 7	6
Trinidad Leaseholds	57	6	59	10½	—42	6
V.O.C.	40	0	38	10½	—26	9

The more speculative shares have also improved their position, Mexican Eagles standing at 8s. 3d., against a lowest of 5s. 10½d., and Canadian Eagles at 6s. 9d., against a lowest of 4s. 7½d. British Controlled Pref. have also been favoured since the maiden dividend, and are now at 12s. 6d., against a lowest this year of 8s., while the Common are 5s. 6d., against 3s.

GOLD AND SHARES.

On several occasions during the past few months operators in gold shares have suffered rather severe shocks, but those retaining their confidence have had reason for self-congratulation. Little more than a week ago, following the disappointing dividend announcement, an adverse view was generally taken of the early prospects of the Kaffir market; and it appeared to be fully warranted. Yet within the past few days Kaffirs have developed strength and activity (writes The Sunday Times). In the main this was attributable to renewed talk of the stabilisation of gold at £7 per ounce or over. But confidence had been engendered by Mr. Havenga's explicit statement that the Union Treasury will in no case require more than £6,000,000 per annum of excess-profit duty; further, that concessions may be made for the purpose of encouraging the treatment of low-grade ore, and special consideration given to developing enterprises. Obviously, if gold is to be realisable at £1 or more per ounce above current level, a distinctly hopeful view can be taken of the outlook for producers' shares generally. Meantime, those interested in several properties outside South Africa have definite, individual ground for satisfaction. Market expectations of a bumper final dividend on South Kalgurli were fully justified by events. The balance distribution of 4s.—as before—is to be supplemented by a further 2s. 6d. return of capital. The Lake View declaration of 12½ per cent. is the third on account of the current year. Upon this basis the shares appear by no means dear. The impressive statements at the Blackwater meeting in regard to the development position were duly reflected in the market. A cable from the Great Boulder announced that work on the installation of the new treatment plants was starting immediately. In West Africans the Tarkwa Banket West reported another good development on the Obuom mine. If results continue satisfactory, this property is likely to be floated.

FINANCIAL BAROMETERS RISE.

Both the Evening Standard financial barometers advanced to new high record levels last week. At 80.2 the commodity index is nearly 3 points up, reflecting the big rises in wheat and oil prices. The barometer of British Industrial ordinary share prices is nearly 2¼ points better at 89.8. Higher quotations for Brewery, Electrical Equipment and Iron and Steel issues are the main factors in the rise last week.

OVER 400 COMPANY REPORTS DUE THIS MONTH.

In view of the better showing now being made by company reports, much more interest is being taken in balance sheets by the investing public. During the present month something like 450 accounts will be published, and among them are many important ones, including the following:—National Canning, Tronoh Mines, Anglo-Dutch Plantations of Java, Goodyear Tyre and Rubber, Union Castle Steam Ship, United British Oil of Trinidad, South African Breweries, T. S. Motors, Telogoredjo Plantations, Furness Withy, Hoare and Co., Allsopp Brewery Investment, Associated London Flour Millers, Coronet Brick, Boulder Perseverance, Montague Burton, Mexican Eagle Oil, Millars Timber, English Sewing Cotton, Tanganyika Concessions, Beralt Tin, Bengal Iron.

FRENCH REPAYMENT OF BRITISH LOAN.

A telegram from Paris states that France intends to repay all or part of the loan arranged in April between a group of British banks and the French Treasury before the six months expire, according to the interpretation which is placed upon declarations made by M. Bonnet. This is conditional, however, on future calls of public credit proving satisfactory.

DUBLIN UNITED TRAMWAYS COMPANY (1896).

The transfer books of the company will be closed from 12th to 25th July, both days inclusive.

THE IMPERIAL TOBACCO COMPANY.

The transfer books of the "B" six per cent. and "C" ten per cent. Preference Stock will be closed from the 17th to 31st July, both days inclusive, for the preparation of the dividend warrants payable on 1st August, 1933.

IRISHMAN'S DIARY.

Sir Alan Cobham : Speeches in the Dail : Young Seagulls. Grafton Street's Traffic : Ships and Aircraft.

Lord Ashbourne.

Lord Ashbourne paid a brief visit to Dublin on Friday last, when he called on the Lord Mayor, Alderman Byrne, T.D., and congratulated him on the attitude which he adopted in connection with the opening of the Silent Valley Reservoir. Lord Ashbourne also tendered congratulations to the Lord Mayor on his spirited fight for freedom during the municipal elections campaign, when he received such a significant endorsement from the municipal electors of Dublin. In all his public utterances Lord Ashbourne stresses the importance of personal freedom. He declares that there is no intolerance worse than that which deprives anyone of his freedom. While at the Mansion House he was delighted to find that the Lord Mayor's children are all Irish speakers. Three of them who attended Ring College are fluent speakers. Lord Ashbourne returned to the North on Saturday, and spoke at the Aeridheacht at White Cross yesterday.

Shorter Speeches.

I happened to meet a Scottish friend recently who was once a member of the House of Commons, and had just been to Leinster House for the first time. He was much interested in the debates, and impressed by the personalities of some of the speakers. When I asked him whether he did not think some of the orations unduly long, he shook his head, and remarked that a short speech was always a difficult performance. It required not only long experince, but careful preparation. In support of this view he quoted the remarks of a famous statesman (he was not quite sure whether it was Gladstone or Bright) who was asked how long he took to prepare a speech. "That depends," was the reply, "upon how long I am to take to deliver it. If I am to speak for a quarter of an hour, I want a week to prepare; for half an hour, three days will be sufficient; but if I am allowed to go on as long as I like, I am ready to start here and now."

Sir Alan Cobham.

Sir Alan Cobham has a really fine record for one who has only just reached 39. He distinguished himself during the War, and on its termination he adopted civil aviation. It is significant that in 1919, only a year after leaving the Royal Air Force, he had taken up as many as 10,000 passengers. In 1921 he joined the de Haviland Aircraft Company, and started the Spanish air line to Morocco while during the following year he surprised the world by flying from Belgrade to London in a day. He was the first Englishman to fly the Channel in a light 'plane, and in 1924 he won the King's Cup Race.

In that year, together with the late Sir Sefton Brancker, Director of Civil Aviation, he pioneered the Indian air route. Following that he made the first flight to Cape Town and back. Then in 1926, I believe, he accomplished the first return flight to Australia, when he landed home on the Thames at Westminster. Lady Cobham accompanied him in 1927, when he undertook his famous flying boat Adventure round the African Continent. The outcome of this was the "Through Africa Air Route Scheme."

Sir Alan has even penetrated into Central Africa; for in 1931 he commanded a crew of six when he made a survey flight to Lake Kivu. It was for his service in the inauguration of Empire air routes that he received his knighthood from the King.

Ships and Aircraft.

An officer in the Merchant Service tells me that there is the closest possible cooperation between aircraft and ships at sea. Some time ago the Board of Trade made arrangements for owners to ask the masters of their ships to make a note of every aeroplane sighted in flight in the open seas or in comparatively unfrequented waters where aircraft are not usually found. These entries give the time of the observation, and, where possible, the identification marks and any other details which might help to identify the machine. Arrangements have also been made between the Air Ministry, the Board of Trade and shipowners for signal exercises to be carried out between merchant ships equipped with daylight flashing apparatus and aircraft in flight. Aircraft which for some urgent reason desire to communicate with a merchant ship must fly low round the ship, and fire a succession of green Verey lights to attract attention.

The City Rush.

Probably few thoroughfares exhibit such animation in the morning hours of a weekday, especially about 9 o'clock, as Grafton street where it abuts on St. Stephen's Green. As the stream of traffic converges here, chiefly from the Rathmines direction and also along St. Stephen's Green, North, vehicles succeed one another so rapidly in entering Grafton street that it is quite a hazardous matter for the pedestrian who may find it necessary to cross the upper part of the street at this point. The trend of the traffic is mainly towards the city, but there is a considerable amount of movement also in the opposite direction. Motor cars seem to pass at the rate of one every second; sometimes one may see two or three almost abreast in their hurry to reach their destination. To these is added a goodly stream of pedestrians, evidently all on serious business bent. Still, apparently, the procession speeds along without any mishap and free from any official control. Probably only the more robust and active are abroad at this hour, and hence street accidents in the early morning hours are comparatively infrequent. Motor cars form the bulk of the vehicles, but when one has succeeded in dodging them, suddenly an occasional cyclist comes along, who deftly steers past you, just when he seemed on the point of running you down. All is hurry and bustle in the animated scene, yet, withal, well controlled and orderly.

Seagulls.

The next few weeks will see the appearance of vast numbers of young seagulls. Hatching is taking place now in the more desolate islands which dot the coast, and at this time of the year the birds are particularly liable to attack if one has the temerity to venture into their haunts. A friend of mine relates an interesting experience he had recently on one of the Copeland Islands, off the County Down coast. He chartered a small motor boat, and set off from the mainland in the company of some friends. When they were still some hundreds of yards from the rocky shores of the islands they could see innumerable flocks of seagulls wheeling and circling in the distance. They beached their boat and started over the rocks, which gave way in places to large tracts of mossy ground thickly covered with fern. Every few feet of ground were encrusted with nests of the brown speckled eggs, and at times it was almost impossible to avoid tramping on them. As they proceeded further the seagulls rose in dense swarms, and shut off the sun as effectively as a passing cloud. The din was awful. My friend says that the birds would swoop suddenly and rocket past, screaming in the most menacing fashion. A halt was called, and after some discussion it was decided, in view of the threatening attitude of the birds, to abandon the original scheme of circling the island on foot, and a retreat was beaten to the boat.

QUIDNUNC.

D'OYLY CARTE OPERA COMPANY.

SIR HENRY LYTTON BIDS "AU REVOIR."

"I won't say good-bye, but just au revoir," said Sir Henry Lytton, at the fall of the curtain on the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company's closing performance of their season at the Gaiety Theatre last night. "The Mikado" was the piece presented, and a house that was crowded to its utmost capacity gave the players a most enthusiastic reception.

Sir Henry Lytton, in his famous presentation of Ko-Ko, the Lord High Executioner, surely held the centre of the stage. He was in an irresistible mood, and seemed to laugh at his advancing years. Certainly it was difficult to realise that the veteran was completing his fiftieth year with the company. The other principals caught his mood, and the performance was thoroughly enjoyable.

At the close, in response to insistent applause and calls for a speech, Sir Henry Lytton said that he wished, on behalf of Mrs. D'Oyly Carte and the whole company, to thank "our real dear friends" in Dublin for their generous welcome. Love, laughter, and song played a great part in their wonderful Gilbert and Sullivan operas, and the combination of the three should make them go on for ever.

"That is more than I can do," he added. "This is my farewell tour, but before it concludes I hope to return once more to Dublin." This remark was greeted with great applause.

"These operas," he went on, "have made many, many friends all over the world—old friends and new ones. We look to you as our old friends, and I think, and I hope, that that friendship will continue for all time. I won't say good-bye, but just au revoir."

PRINCESS JULIANA IN LONDON.

Princess Juliana of Holland, heiress to the Dutch Throne, arrived in London yesterday on a private visit to her mother's cousin, Princess Alice Countess of Athlone. She made the journey by the Dutch Batavier Line from Rotterdam to Gravesend, and then boarded a train for Victoria, where she was met by Princess Alice and her husband, the Earl of Athlone.

The Princess, whose hair is almost golden, wore a green coat and a white hat of plaited straw, and she had a happy smile as she stepped from the train.

Princess Alice greeted her with an affectionate kiss, Lord Athlone kissed her hand, and the Dutch Minister, Jonkheer van Swinderen, and his wife, also extended their greetings.

Princess Juliana, who is 24 years of age and of a studious turn of mind, had a thick volume in a leather carrier under her arm. As she walked to the waiting motor car, pursued by a band of photographers, she looked eagerly round her and appeared excited at her first visit to London since she was a child.

She spent yesterday quietly at Kensington Palace after her all night journey. She will remain in London for ten days with Princess Alice.

Mr. C. T. Cramp, General Secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, addressing a railwaymen's demonstration at Morecambe last night, said that, as a result of the railway companies' more progressive policy of reducing fares in the summer, which, he hoped, would be persevered in through the winter, the decline in passenger receipts was much less marked than in the last few years.

NEW DEAN OF ST. PATRICK'S.

INSTALLATION OF THE REV. T. A. HARVEY.

The Rev. Thomas A. Harvey, B.D., Prebendary of Dunlavin, was yesterday installed as Dean of St. Patrick's, Dublin.

The installation, which took place at the Afternoon Service, at St. Patrick's Cathedral, was performed by the Chancellor, the Rev. Professor N. J. D. White. The Blessing, after the new Dean had been assigned his seat in the Chapter House, was given by the Archbishop of Dublin.

After the second lesson the Registrar to the Chapter read the Archbishop's mandate for the installation, and the formal ceremony of installation was then performed. At the conclusion of the service, the Chapter proceeded to St. Stephen's Chapel for the assignment of the Dean's seat, and the Blessing was given on their return.

The following members of the Chapter were present:—The Treasurer (the Rev. Canon Drury), the Rev. Canon Oulton, the Rev. Canon Luce, F., T.C.D.; Archdeacon Healy, the Dean's Vicar, the Succentor, the Chancellor's Vicar (the Rev. J. P. Short), Minor Canon Hartford, and Minor Canon Blewett.

Archdeacon Healy preached the sermon.

AUSTRALIAN FLIER'S "RECORD" BID FAILS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BAGDAD, Sunday.

After a further delay at Jask, where they were reported to have made a forced landing while flying from Karachi to Cairo on Thursday on their Australia-England flight, Mr. C. T. P. Ulm and his companions are leaving Jask to-night. They hope to reach Bagdad to-morrow morning.

Mr. C. T. P. Ulm has now no chance whatever of breaking Mr. J. A. Mollison's "record" of 8 days 22 hours and 25 minutes.

While playing cricket in Mutton lane, Potters Bar, on Saturday, Walter Albert Laidlaw (30), of St. Margaret's avenue, Whetstone, was struck on the head by a cricket ball. He was taken to Potters Bar Cottage Hospital, where he died from a fractured skull a few hours later.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE NOTES.

TRINITY TERM ENDS.

THE CONGRESS AT CORK.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

LAST week saw the end of Trinity Term and a general exodus of College people, and once again those of us who remain in College after term find the usual haunts of kindred ones deserted, and realise one day that it is time we, too, departed elsewhere. The College hall is a desolate space now, lonely with echoing footsteps, and ragged notices adorn the boards of clubs and societies, like ghosts of a time long past.

Day by day news comes from Cork from the Congress of the Irish Students' Association, which continued all the week, and concluded on Friday morning last. The Congress was a greater success than was expected by the most optimistic, and everybody returned to town greatly pleased with it. I was unable to give any particulars of the various papers and speakers up to the present, by reason of a certain shroud of mystery which I mentioned last week; but, as I expected, every arrangement had been made, and every meeting was amply provided for by lecturers and debaters. Most of the discussions and papers seem to have been in the hands of College professors and lecturers in University College, Cork; but, no doubt, the pride of the Cork student in his own institution is so absorbing that he has no need to go elsewhere. Without doubt, everyone was pleased with the papers, and discussions which followed were vigorous and outspoken, as is not unusual when students speak among themselves.

Professor Alfred O'Rahilly read the first paper of the Congress on "What is a University for?" in which he said that what was wanted was not a cast-iron Commissary, which was Communism, but an organic state, with independent corporate bodies, and produced as the natural outcome of what are the ends of a university. The chairman was Professor Stockley, Professor of English in University College, Cork. In the discussion which followed those who took part included: Mr. D. J. O'Sullivan, M.Sc., President of the Students' Representative Council in College; Mr. S. F. X. Murray, M.Sc., ex-President of the Students' Association; Miss Ruth Drumgoole, University College, Dublin, and Mr. J. Leslie Flack, Queen's University, Belfast.

On Wednesday the paper was read by Mr. Sean O'Kelly, and referred to various aspects of politics and religion in the University, in the course of which the speaker made special reference to University College, Dublin, and Trinity College, Dublin. This paper was in Irish, and, although the discussion was spirited and interesting, yet it is considered that the points raised would have occasioned a considerably greater amount of discussion if the proceedings had not been in Irish. On Thursday a paper was read by Professor Stockley, and on Friday morning an inter-university debate was held as a concluding discussion.

CONGRESS DANCES.

The sporting and social aspect of the Congress is also worthy of mention. Three dances were held during the congress, at which many of the Cork students were present as well as the delegates. On Wednesday night the delegates made a tour of Cork Harbour, as far as Cobh and Spike Island, in the steam yacht An Saorstat, and on Thursday afternoon a visit was paid to the Cork Summer Show. An excursion to Blarney was arranged for another afternoon, and advantage was taken of it by many of our ambitious orators, who tried for themselves what facility of tongue they could confer on themselves by kissing the famous stone. On Thursday the delegates were entertained to lunch by the College authorities, and the guests included the Lord Mayor, and Mr. Wallace, Chairman of Cork Harbour Board.

The Tennis Tournament was held on Tuesday, and the victors were the Trinity College delegates, headed by the invincible Mr. R. J. Sandys. The Swimming Gala resulted in a victory for the Cork team over the U.C.D. team. In all there were about fifty delegates, which number included a large number from Dublin, six from Trinity College, six from Queen's University, Belfast, and four from Galway. The next Congress of the Association will be held in Dublin next June.

The members of the School of Chemistry returned from tour in England on Wednesday last, bringing with them reports of a most enjoyable time, to the further envy and jealousy of the rest of the Faculty, who were forced to remain at home for examinations and other similarly tedious reasons. Everyone was loud in praise of the organisation and arrangements of the tour, which had been made by Dr. A. G. G. Leonard. The students were accompanied by the Professor of Chemistry, Dr. T. J. Nolan, and Professor A. O'Farrelly, and were confident that it was the most enjoyable of all possible chemical tours.

PASS-LISTS.

The Examination Board was in session all day on Friday last in connection with the First University examinations in the Faculties of Arts, Science and Commerce, and with the subsidiary examinations in the Honours Schools of those Faculties. The pass-lists, which are unusually long this year, were published on Friday night and were a cause for celebration for many, but, I think, a cause of sorrow for many more, since rumour has it that there was a large number of unsuccessful candidates, especially in the first-year examinations.

The Summer Matriculation concluded on Friday, and with it the season of examinations is over until September, when the Honours degree and Autumn Medical examinations take place.

The only College club which seems to remain active is the Boat Club, which this season places all its hopes in the Junior Four and Maiden Eight. As a result of the form already displayed, it is expected that great things will be done by the maiden boat. It was not found possible to fill a Senior Eight, but, if the season's hopes are realised, there seem to be great possibilities for a resurrection of the Wylie Cup Race next year. The club was well represented at the Metropolitan Regatta during the week-end, and the crews travelled North to-day for Coleraine Regatta to-morrow. The season will end on July 21st at Limerick Regatta.

The College Officers' Training Corps will travel to Finner Camp on Monday, 17th July, for the annual fortnight's training. Many of the cadets who were unable to attend the usual weekly parades during term time will be in Griffith Barracks for the next fortnight, when they will undergo the course of training for the year, before proceeding to Donegal.

THE UNIVERSITY PHILOSOPHICAL SOCIETY.

With reference to a notice in the "Trinity College Notes" of last Saturday we are asked to say that the Philosophical Society's Composition Medal for the late session has not yet been awarded.

NEWS OF THE SCREEN.

FILM OF THE EVEREST AIR EXPLOIT.

FROM OUR CINEMA CORRESPONDENT.

The films of the Everest aerial expedition are being made into a picture entitled "Wings over Everest," and within a few months will be released for public showing. The additional studio scenes have now been completed, all the members of the expedition having been "featured" in them. The picture will show the whole exploit in all its stages, from the preliminary preparations to the final flight over the mountain, and, unless it is badly handled in the editing, should form a record of more than usual interest.

DUBLIN PROGRAMMES.

"Father and Son" at the Savoy Treatre this week will be appreciated by those who like American child actors on the screen. "Jackie" Cooper has the principal rôle as the unhappy child of a woman who has divorced her husband, while Lewis Stone, Conrad Nagel, and Lois Wilson also appear. The two short supporting films are good, Zasu Pitts and Thelma Todd being in one, and "Mickey Mouse" in the other.

The Metropole is showing "No More Orchids," the story of a girl whom a stern and proud grandparent almost forces into an undesirable marriage with a prince. However, the path of true love emerges to a satisfactory end at last. Carole Lombard and Walter Connolly are the principal actors. William Collier and Joan Marsh appear in the supporting picture, "The Speed Demon."

"The Queen was in the Parlour," which is being shown at the Capitol, is from a play by Noel Coward, and does not seem to have lost very much in the adaptation. Its principal features are a very Ruritanian plot, clever dialogue, and some distinctly good acting by Claudette Colbert, supported by Frederic March. The other film, "The Devil is Driving," introduces Edmund Lowe, Wynne Gibson and James Gleason.

Evalyn Knapp, Thelma Todd and James Murray appear in "Air Hostess," which is being shown at the Corinthian. It is an aeroplane story full of thrills. The second film is "Daughters of To-day," with George Barraud.

"Hounds of Zaroff" will be the Grand Central's picture for the first four days of the week, and after that Buster Keaton and Jimmy Durante appear in quite an amusing film, "Speak Easily."

Sally Eilers and James Dunn have the principal parts in "Bad Girl," which is showing at the Sackville to-day, Tuesday and Wednesday. For the latter part of the week, Mary Astor and Kenneth McKenna will appear in "Those We Love."

For the first three days of the week, the Pavilion, Dun Laoghaire, is presenting the English comedian, Sydney Howard, in "Up for the Derby," while Adolphe Menjou also appears in "Two White Arms." From Thursday onwards Jack Buchanan and Elsie Randolph will be seen in a musical comedy film, "Yes, Mr. Brown," which had a great popular success when shown in Dublin recently. The last episode of "With Cobham to Kivu," is also being shown.

IRISH WEDDING IN LONDON.

MR. JOHN BALFOUR AND MISS F. VAN MILLINGEN.

Yet another member of the Earl of Antrim's family was married in London on Saturday. He was Mr. John Balfour, of His Majesty's Diplomatic Service, First Secretary in the Legation at Sofia, Bulgaria, the son of the late Captain Charles Barrington Balfour, C.B., and of Lady Nina Balfour, great-aunt of the present Earl of Antrim. The bride was Miss Frances van Millingen, daughter of the late Professor Alexander van Millingen, M.A., D.D., and of the late Mrs. Millingen.

The ceremony was at St. Michael's, Chester square, and the church was beautifully decorated with many kinds of fragrant garden flowers. The Archdeacon of London officiated.

The bride was given away by her cousin, Major Frank Savile. She wore a graceful dress of ivory satin, with a cowl-shaped neckline to the simple bodice. A long, close-fitting skirt extended to form a narrow train, and this was covered by a lovely veil of white tulle, embossed with roses worked in white silk. It was held by a narrow circlet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of golden roses, tied with matching ribbon.

Miss Diana Bowes-Lyon, daughter of the Hon. John and Mrs. Bowes-Lyon, and a cousin of the bridegroom, was the trainbearer. She wore a dress in "Miss Muffet" style, of white chiffon, the skirt edged with two frills. Frills edged a fichu at the neck, and also the elbow-length sleeves. There was a girdle of amber satin ribbon at her waist and a similar ribbon bound a "mob" cap of white chiffon. She wore a necklace of amber beads. Mr. Archie Balfour, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man.

Mrs. Frank Savile was hostess at a luncheon for the families at Grosvenor House.

Among others at the wedding were:—Lady Nina Balfour, Major and the Hon. Mrs. C. J. Balfour, the Countess of Antrim, Lady Jean McDonnell, the Dowager Countess of Antrim, Lady Evelyn McDonnell, Miss FitzGerald, Sir Augustus FitzGeorge, Lady FitzGeorge, Lord and Lady Howard of Penrith, Mr. Henry Howard, Miss Jessie Howard, Lady Sybil Middleton, Brigadier-General Sir Alfred Balfour, the Hon. Mrs. John Bowes-Lyon, Lady Ruth Balfour, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Balfour, the Dowager Countess of Radnor, Mrs. C. van Millingen, Mrs. Earle, the Hon. Angela Baring, Lady Lowther, Miss E. Lowther, the Dowager Countess of Leven and Melville, the Misses Raffles, Miss Kent Teasdale, Mrs. G. E. Cooke, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hopkinson, Mr. E. Bagshawe, Captain and Mrs. Burmester, Mrs. Buckland, Miss E. Needham, Mrs. Waterlow, Mrs. Plasket Thomas, Mrs. Arthur Harter, Lady Bridges, General and Mrs. Charlton, Miss Moyra Charlton, Sir George Dick-Lauder, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Eden, Mrs. Duncan McDougal.

The Countess of Selborne, Lady (Edgar) Bonham-Carter, Sir Timothy and Lady Eden, Miss Sharpe, Mr. W. E. L. Dawson-Pattisson, Miss Jelly d'Arranyi, Major and Mrs. McCallum, Mrs. Arthur Grenfell, Miss Vera Grenfell, the Hon. Joan Marjoribanks, Mrs. Cyril Potter, Lady Delia Peel, Miss Georgiana Guinness, Lord and Lady Duveen, and Mr. O. G. Sargent.

The honeymoon will be spent at a villa near Rome.

CAMPBELL COLLEGE, BELFAST.

The following boys have been elected to Junior Scholarships of Campbell College, Belfast. The names are in alphabetical order:—Benson, H. M. Q., Campbell College; Boyd, S. A., Campbell College Preparatory School; Connor, G. H., Mourne Grange; Hollywood, A. J., Campbell College Preparatory School; Hughes, F. D., Campbell College; Millar, S. H., Campbell College and Elm Park; Stringer, E. L., Campbell College and Aravon.

AIR DISPLAYS AT KILDONAN.

WITNESSED BY MANY THOUSANDS.

WONDERFUL SKILL OF THE PILOTS.

BY OUR AIR CORRESPONDENT.

DURING the week-end more than fifteen thousand people witnessed the aerial displays given at Kildonan Aerodrome, Finglas, by the pilots of Sir Alan Cobham's squadron, which is touring the Free State and Northern Ireland.

The show presented both on Saturday and Sunday, and which will be repeated twice daily at various towns throughout the country until July 16th, is the finest ever seen in Ireland, and, in addition to revealing the skill of the pilots (who are, for the most part, ex-officers of the Royal Air Force), it gave Dublin people an opportunity of seeing a number of types of aircraft which had not previously crossed the Channel. It proved, too, I think, to many people that there is no danger in flying, when the machine is in the hands of a highly-trained pilot.

Alderman A. Byrne, T.D., Lord Mayor of Dublin, opened the display on Saturday afternoon, and officially welcomed Sir Alan Cobham and his squadron to Dublin on behalf of the citizens.

Throughout the displays Sir Alan gave a running commentary, by means of a public address system, on the different types of aircraft taking part in the display and on the manœuvres which they were carrying out while in the air. From start to finish the displays ran without the slightest hitch, and showed how perfect in detail the arrangements were.

OVER DUBLIN.

Earlier on Saturday a number of the aircraft flew over Dublin to advertise the afternoon's display, and the Blackburn "Lincock" executed a number of loops, rolls and power dives at a low altitude, while the pilots of the Avro-Mongoose machines demonstrated their "aerial drill."

Opening with a flight in squadron formation of the ten aircraft comprising the squadron, led by the Handley-Page "Clive," the twenty-two seater air liner, the display did not "hang fire" for a single minute throughout the whole afternoon. Passenger flights were available in all the aircraft, and these were kept very busy, particularly the "Fox" Moth, known as the "Honeymoon Express."

Flying a de Haviland Tiger Moth, which was painted a bright yellow, Flight Lieutenant Turner-Hughes demonstrated his skill as an aerobatic pilot, and endeavoured to show the public just what can be accomplished with a modern light aeroplane. As he performed every stunt it was explained by Sir Alan to the crowd. It was natural that in a display of this type, aerobatics should be an important feature, and the most remarkable performance was given by the Blackburn "Lincock," a small all-metal biplane, fitted with a 240 horse-power engine. Flight Lieutenant Turner-Hughes also piloted this machine, and his remarkable control of it, despite its extremely high speed (this aircraft power dives at more than 300 miles an hour) brought roars of appreciation from the crowd.

NOT SEEN IN IRELAND BEFORE.

After a series of rolls while the machine was continuing a straight flight the pilot executed a number of power dives and zooms. Several of the manœuvres which he carried out had not been seen in Ireland before, and the most interesting of these, I think, was the roll while climbing at a very steep angle. Having climbed the machine steeply for a few seconds the pilot rolled the aircraft completely round, and still continued the climb. Besides demonstrating the nerve of the pilot this showed to some extent the manœuvability of a high-powered aeroplane, which is primarily designed as a fighting machine.

Inverted flying on the Tiger Moth was another item which attracted considerable attention. This machine has a specially fitted inverted fuel system which enables the pilot to keep it on its back for an appreciable period. Quite one of the most thrilling incidents of the day was the flying of the machine upside-down across the aerodrome at a height of not more than fifty feet above the heads of the crowd.

Standing on the top wing of a Mongoose-Avro while it flew past the enclosure at ninety miles an hour was Mr. Martin Hearne's contribution to the programme. Climbing out of his cockpit he made his way out along the wing and stood, arms outstretched, against the bracing wires, afterwards climbing on to the top plane and waving his greetings to an applauding crowd.

PARACHUTE DESCENTS.

Two parachutists, using Russell Lobe parachutes, made successful descents during the afternoon—one holding in the shrouds of his parachute, and preventing it from filling completely until it seemed as if he must be seriously injured by falling to the ground. At the last moment, however, he released the shrouds and landed gently near his companion.

Formation flying by the Mongoose-Avros, the arrival of the Cierva Autogiro, which had been flown down from Aldergrove by Mr. A. H. C. Rawson, added to the interest of the afternoon, and for lighter relief there was a demonstration of truly crazy flying which caused considerable amusement, and, in certain sections of the crowd, some little apprehension for the safety of the pilot. Two competitions, one for judging height, and the other for judging speed, were organised during each of the displays, and attracted quite a large entry.

The squadron, which will be accompanied by a D.H. Moth of the Irish Aero Club, on whose invitation Sir Alan has brought his machines to Ireland, will leave Dublin early this morning, and this afternoon and evening will present their performance at Waterford.

"THE WINDS" AT THE ABBEY THEATRE.

PERFORMANCE BY PUPILS OF PEMBROKE SCHOOL.

Pupils of Pembroke School, Dublin, at the Abbey Theatre, last night, presented a three-act "geographical fantasy," "The Winds," by Kitty Barne, the cast numbering about fifty. There was a large audience. The play was produced by Miss U. White, while Mrs. Burke Roberts trained the performers in elocution. Miss M. Johnson arranged the dances and Miss S. Rock was responsible for the songs and accompaniments. Orchestral music was provided by the Misses B. Costello, Shreider and Jephson, and choruses were given by the St. Vincent's Girls' Choir, conducted by Mr. M. H. Roe.

DUBLIN: Station Orchestra and T. W. Hall (baritone), Verdi and Puccini Music, 7.30.

BELFAST AND LONDON REGIONAL: Pot-Pourri of Viennese Oprettas from Vienna, 8.

B.B.C. NATIONAL: Percival Mackey's Band, 8.

REGIONAL: "Chinese Moon Party," 9.45.

HEILSBERG: Operetta, "Arabian Nights" (J. Strauss), 8.5.

RADIO PARIS: "Isoline," Fairy Opera (Messager), 8.

STRAZBOURG, EIFFEL TOWER AND ALL ITALIAN STATIONS: "Damnation of Faust" (Berlioz), 8.45.

WHAT is evidently to be a first class production of Berlioz opera, "The Damnation of Faust," will take place in the Casino Opera Theatre at Vichy. It will be the climax of a splendidly ambitious musical season at that enterprising health and pleasure resort. The Strazbourg Station, which has been broadcasting the best of each day's music at Vichy, will broadcast the performance of "The Damnation of Faust," and will pass the relay on to several other European broadcasting stations.

As the opera will occupy the greater part of the best broadcasting hours tonight the foreign programmes do not present as much variety as usual. Radio Paris promises an attractive opera by Messager, and Heilsberg is broadcasting a Strauss operetta. Otherwise Continental stations may be ignored without fear of missing items of value.

It is true that Vienna has arranged a concert of an exceptionally attractive kind. Fortunately, however, this concert may be heard from stations nearer home. By arrangement with the Austrian broadcasting authority, the B.B.C. is taking a relay and will broadcast the concert in its London Regional programme, which at that time (8 o'clock) will be further relayed to Belfast. The concert will present a pot-pourri of Viennese operetta music, and the performers will include a symphony orchestra, the chorus of the Vienna Volksoper (National Opera) and distinguished soloists. It is a pity that we are not to get this concert from our favourite station, the North Regional.

In Philco's sponsored programme from the Dublin Station at 9.45 listeners are to hear not only the Free State Army Band, as usual on Mondays, but also Morton Downey, who, when he broadcast for the B.B.C. last week, was described as "The Famous American Radio Star."

DUNDALK GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

THE PRIZE DISTRIBUTION.

There was a large attendance at the annual distribution of prizes at Dundalk Grammar School. The Rev. T. F. Campbell, M.A., was in the chair, and Lady Harty presented the prizes.

The Headmaster, the Rev. A. A. Hanbridge, M.A., expressed regret at the death of Mr. Swan, one of the best friends of the School.

"I am in the happy position," he continued, "in this time of universal depression and contracted incomes of being able to report the continued prosperity of the School, both in numbers and successes. We have over 100 pupils in the School and our record in public examinations during the past year has maintained the high record of previous years."

Outstanding successes were:—F. C. Jameson (Honours, Leaving Certificate), Miss M. Chambers, J. Godkin and S. Rogan (Honours, Intermediate). J. Godkin obtained third place in Ireland in history.

Miss I. Eakins, Miss M. Elliott and A. W. Rogan passed the Matriculation examination. Miss S. Sloane, J. Agnew and C. Sansom were successful in both the Hilary and Trinity Junior Freshman examinations of Dublin University. In religious education (Middle Grade, Presbyterian) Miss M. Magowan won first place in Ireland and also a special prize. In addition, four first prizes, thirteen second and nine third prizes were gained. No pupil failed the examination. Two pupils won the Fainne.

Of eleven entries for various examinations of the Guildhall School of Music during the year, six passed with Honours and five passed with merit. The School choir, under the able guidance of Mr. McBride, B.Sc., again won a first class pass in the examination conducted by the ministry.

He congratulated Mr. William O'Neill, a past pupil, on winning a Scholarship in Science at Trinity College, and also Mr. C. Bingham, B.A., who had completed the course in the Divinity School at Trinity College.

After the distribution of prizes a vote of thanks was passed to Lady Harty on the proposition of the Rev. J. Moody, M.A., seconded by the Rev. Canon Lockett Ford, M.A.

A musical programme was then presented, followed by tea.

While fishing in the Thames at Staines yesterday Victor George Longmore (16), an errand boy, of Lambeth, overbalanced from a punt and was drowned. He failed to grasp an inflated tyre which was thrown to him by some swimmers, and a riverside dweller dived to the rescue in pyjamas.

THE SOMME ANNIVERSARY.

MEN OF ULSTER DIVISION.

BELFAST HONOURS THEIR MEMORY.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Saturday.

SEVERAL thousand people assembled in the Garden of Remembrance at the City Hall, Belfast, to-day—the seventeenth anniversary—to pay a tribute to the men of the Ulster Division who fought in the Battle of the Somme, in which many of them made the supreme sacrifice.

Before the Service at the Cenotaph the Belfast Corporation met and passed a resolution recording "feelings of gratitude to the men of the Ulster Division who, by their glorious conduct on the 1st July, 1916, made an imperishable name for themselves and the province to which they belonged."

In moving the resolution, the Lord Mayor (Sir Crawford McCullagh) said: "We are all proud to be associated with this act of homage to the memory of those who gave their all that we might live. Our sympathy is with the many whose loved ones did not return from the battlefield, and, in cherishing the memory of those that are gone, they may be comforted in remembering how nobly they died, and that their sacrifice was not in vain."

Sir William Turner seconded the resolution, which was adopted in silence, the members standing.

CHANGE IN CEREMONY.

The Lord Mayor later intimated that there was a slight change in the ceremony outside this year. Hitherto the ceremony lasted, perhaps, half an hour, and if the day was wet, it was represented by some that that was, perhaps, too long. He had received so many communications on that point that he summoned all the associations which in former years had placed wreaths at the Service to a conference, where the matter was fully discussed, and they decided that the laying of the wreaths, in the first instance, should be confined to the official parties, that was—The Governor, the citizens, the Navy, Army, Air Force, Ulster Division, and the Order of St. John of Jerusalem and the British Red Cross Society (whose representatives served at the front), and this year, as was very appropriate, Captain Tovey would lay a wreath on behalf of the officers and men of H.M.S. Rodney. It should be understood that no one would be excluded; for after the Service and official ceremony, other wreaths would be laid at various intervals up till 9 p.m.

Councillor Cunningham expressed regret that on such a solemn commemorative occasion there was not a larger attendance of members of the Corporation.

The Lord Mayor and members of the Corporation then proceeded to the Garden of Remembrance.

SERVICES REPRESENTED.

Prominent in the procession were the representative of the Governor of Northern Ireland, Lieutenant C. A. Rives Shillington, R.N.V.R.; His Majesty's Lieutenant, the Right Hon. Sir Thomas Dixon, Bart.; the Moderator of the General Assembly (represented by the Very Rev. Thomas Haslett, M.A., D.D.), the Bishop of Down and Connor and Dromore (the Right Rev. C. T. P. Grierson, D.D.), and the President of the Methodist Church in Ireland (represented by the Rev. F. E. Harte, M.A.).

The representatives of His Majesty's Forces were:—The Royal Navy—Captain J. C. Tovey, D.S.O.; Lieutenant-Commander A. H. S. Casswell, D.S.C., R.N.; Sub-Lieutenant D. J. Tees, R.N.V.R. The Army—The General Officer Commanding Northern Ireland District (Major-General E. S. Girdwood, C.B., C.M.G.). The Royal Air Force—Wing-Commander L. T. N. Gould, M.C.; Pilot-Officer J. L. C. Newton, Pilot-Officer M. J. C. Stanley. The Royal Ulster Constabulary—The Deputy Inspector-General and Commissioner of Police (Mr. F. A. Britten, O.B.E.).

A guard of honour furnished by the 1st Battalion the Border Regiment was mounted near the Cenotaph, and during the procession the band of the regiment, conducted by Bandmaster W. Geary, A.R.C.M., played the Londonderry Air.

While wreaths were being placed on the Cenotaph the regimental band played Chopin's Funeral March, and when all was over the Réveillé was sounded by the military buglers.

In the evening the Belfast branch of the British Legion marched to the Cenotaph and placed a wreath in memory of their fallen comrades.

IN ENNISKILLEN.

The anniversary of the Battle of the Somme was commemorated in Enniskillen by the laying of a wreath on the Great War memorial by the Ex-Soldiers' Orange Lodge. Special Services were held in the Presbyterian church yesterday.

DERRY CEREMONIES.

MEMORY OF SIEGE HEROES HONOURED.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

DERRY, Sunday.

A mural tablet in commemoration of the Siege of Derry heroes—Colonel Henry Baker and Captain Michael Browning—was unveiled at the Cathedral here last night by Senator D. E. B. McCorkell, M.B.E., D.L., Mayor of Derry, in the presence of a large congregation gathered to commemorate the fallen at the Battle of the Somme. The tablet was dedicated by the Bishop of Derry.

The Somme Anniversary Service is held by the Tenth Inniskillings' Old Comrades' Association, and before it the ex-Service men paraded to the Diamond, where Colonel F. S. N. MacRory laid a beautiful wreath on the city War Memorial, while a band played "Abide with me." A minute's silence was observed, and the "Last Post" and "Reveille" were sounded by buglers.

The parade afterwards marched to the Cathedral, where the Dean of Belfast (Very Rev. W. S. Kerr) preached. He said that the Ulster men who had fought at the Somme had inherited the proud traditions of the fine race of men who had sacrificed their lives for their faith at the Siege of Derry. He appealed for a perpetuation of the spirit of comradeship which was so prominent during the war.

The Mayor was accompanied by the Mayoress and Misses McCorkell. The City High Sheriff (Sir Basil McFarland, Bart.) and Lady McFarland were also present.

For the first time several new additions to the ornamentation of the cathedral were in position, including eight volumes containing the names of 49,000 Irishmen who fell in the Great War, presented by Sir John Arnott and the proprietors of the Irish Times, in a beautiful oak case. Other additions were a brass tablet giving a record of the laying up of the Colours of the battalion, and giving a short account of their services, and a stone mount for the War Memorial tablet.

LARGE BEQUESTS TO BOY SCOUTS.

IRISH LOYALISTS IN BANKER'S WILL.

Mr. Thomas Henderson Whitehead, of Woodlands House, Hambledon, Godalming, who died on May 15th last, leaving £75,710 10s. 7d. gross estate, with net personalty £74,620, has left, among other bequests, £5,000 to the Salvation Army, to be used solely for the emigration of British subjects to the Dominions; £2,000 each to Lord and Lady Baden-Powell, £1,000 to the British and Foreign Bible Society, and £100 and all his underclothing, blankets, sheets, etc., to the Southern Irish Loyalist Relief Association, for the loyal Irish in the South of Ireland.

Subject to other personal bequests, the residue of the estate is left to the Boy Scout Association, with the wish that the Association will apply £5,000 for general training as Lord Baden-Powell may advise, and the balance for emigration of young Britons to the Dominions.

PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

Also present:—Miss Hillas, Mr. Hopkins, Mrs. Shewell, Miss Tuckey. Two convictions were reported. Subscriptions received:—Derralossary Parish, 5s.; Mrs. O'Callaghan, 10s.

WICKLOW BOY SCOUTS.

A JAMBOREE FETE.

GETTING READY FOR BUDAPEST.

A JAMBOREE Fête, under the auspices of the County Wicklow Boy Scouts' Association, was held last Saturday afternoon in the grounds of Kilruddery, Bray, the Irish residence of the Earl of Meath. It was a glorious afternoon, and the grounds, with their exquisite terraces, gardens and ponds, looked perfect in a blaze of sunshine. On the lawns and through the grounds were stalls, tents and side-shows, providing a full round of amusement, and it was gratifying to see such a fine crowd patronising the fête, the object of which was to raise funds to help defray the expenses of the group of County Wicklow Boy Scouts who are to attend the Boys' Scouts World Jamboree at Budapest next month.

The opening ceremony was performed by the Earl of Meath, President of the Association, with whom were Lord HolmPatrick, Commissioner for Leinster; Mr. Hugh D. Pack Beresford, Assistant Rover Commissioner, Irish Free State; Mr. W. Carte, Assistant Commissioner for Training; Mr. G. S. Childs, District Commissioner for County Wicklow; Commander Baker, District Commissioner, Sea Scouts, Port of Dublin; Mr. J. Coates, Hon. Director, Jamboree Fête; Colonel the Hon. Claude Brabazon, Scout Master F. F. Elvery, and Dr. Wentworth Taylor.

The Countess of Meath and the Hon. Mrs. Brabazon were also present.

CHIEF SCOUT'S MESSAGE.

The Earl of Meath, declaring the fête open, expressed the pleasure which it gave him to know that his own county was to be represented at the coming wonderful gathering of the youth of the whole world at Budapest. He read a letter, which had been received by District Commissioner Childs from Lord Baden Powell of Gilwell, Chief Scout, expressing his pleasure that the well-known Wicklow Association was to be represented at the jamboree in Hungary. But for a long-standing engagement to visit the scouts of Hereford he would have been delighted to have been at Kilruddery.

Lord Powerscourt also wrote, regretting that, owing to illness, he could not be with them.

Commissioner Childs, in a short speech, explained the meaning of the word "jamboree." He wanted the boys of Wicklow to remember that when in Hungary they would be representing their country, not merely as Boy Scouts, but as ambassadors of the Irish Free State. It would depend on their conduct and bearing in this gathering of the world's youth whether the name of their country would be enhanced.

Mr. J. Coates, Director of the Fête, outlined the arrangements for the jamboree, and said that they hoped that County Wicklow would be represented by 20 scouts at this.

The Gold Thanks Badge and letter from the Chief Scout was presented to Mr. George Lane for his services to the Association.

An interesting programme was carried out during the evening. It included displays by the scouts of their various activities and a physical culture display by the Boys of the Presentation College, Bray. The Irish dancing competition proved a great attraction, and half-hour concerts in the Music Room of the mansion, with Mrs. Harding's orchestra providing musical selections, also proved popular.

COMPETITIONS.

The results of the competitions were as follow:—

DUBLIN TECHNICAL SCHOOLS.

PHYSICAL TRAINING DISPLAY.

An excellent display in physical training exercises and drill, and also boxing and dancing, was given by students of the Day School of Commerce of the Rathmines Technical Institute and other schools in the Town Hall, Rathmines, under the aegis of the City of Dublin Vocational Education Committee last Saturday. It was the first time that inter-school competitions had been included in the programme, and, consequently, much interest was aroused.

Mr. G. J. T. Clampett, barrister, who is Principal of the Rathmines School, presided, and Mrs. Clampett distributed the prizes. Miss Richards, of the Ling Institute, and Mr. G. Galvan acted as judges. Miss Dorothy Strain, instructress, Rathmines School, superintended the girls. Mr. John Flood, instructor, was in charge of the boys, and, with Sergeant-Major Duggan, brought teams of competitors from the Kevin street, Bolton street, and Parnell square schools.

THE AWARDS.

The following awards were made in the competitions:—

IRISH FREE STATE BUTTER AND EGGS.

The following is issued under arrangement with His Majesty's Commissioners of Customs and Excise by the Liverpool Provision Trade Association, Ltd.

These prices will form the basis of assessment of duty on all butter and eggs imported from the Irish Free State into the ports of Liverpool, Bristol, Cardiff, Fishguard, Holyhead, Preston, Douglas (I.O.M.), and all ports of Northern Ireland as from 3rd July:—

BUTTER—Factory, per cwt. (variable), 70s., fair average; creamery, salted, in 56lb. pyramid boxes, per cwt., 77s., add to this price for 56lb. boxes, unsalted 3s. per cwt., 28lb. boxes salted 2s., unsalted 5s. per cwt., 112lb. casks salted 2s., unsalted 5s. per cwt., 56lb. kegs salted 3s., unsalted 6s. per cwt., 1lb. rolls or bricks salted 6s., unsalted 9s. per cwt.

EGGS—17lb., extra selected, per long hundred, fresh 9s. 6d., extra selected 9s. 3d., selected 8s. 9d., medium 7s. 8d., pullet 7s., trade 6s. 6d., and duck eggs 7s. 6d.

From these prices falls to be deducted, in respect of port importation charges and selling commission, an allowance of 5 per cent.

NORTHERN AIR DISPLAY.

EVEREST FLIER'S AEROBATICS.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Saturday.

THE Marquis of Clydesdale (the "Boxing Marquis"), who took part in the recent flight over Mount Everest, gave an "aerobatic" display at the first Ulster civil aviation meeting at Aldergrove, Co. Antrim, to-day. Captain T. Neville Stack, A.F.C., was to have given the display, but unsuitable weather in England prevented his crossing to Northern Ireland. The Marquis of Clydesdale took his place, and thrilled the spectators by a number of daring feats, which included a series of loops and half-loops.

The utility of owner-driven aeroplanes was strikingly demonstrated in a display in which Lady Bailey, Lord Halsbury, Miss Susan Slade and Mr. E. W. Percival took part, in addition to the Marquis of Clydesdale. The central figure behind the display was Mrs. Arthur Cleaver, a pioneer in civil aviation.

The demonstration was witnessed by several thousand people, among those who attended being the Northern Ireland Minister of Commerce (the Right Hon. J. Milne Barbour, D.L.), the Chairman of the Belfast Harbour Board (Mr. R. E. Herdman, D.L.) and Lord Justice Andrews.

There was a display of balloon bursting, a spectacular parachute jump by Mr. J. Gilmore, and an exhibition of R. A. F. training by No. 502 Ulster Squadron, in both day and night bombing aeroplanes, flying in formation.

PARADE IN CASHEL.

MR. BLYTHE ADDRESSES ARMY COMRADES.

The Cashel Divisional Area of the Army Comrades' Association held a parade yesterday, and addresses were given by Mr. E. Blythe and Commandant E. Cronin, General Secretary.

Over two hundred men participated, and the majority wore the organisation's blue shirt uniform. There was also present a large attendance of the general public.

Mr. Blythe, who was given a great ovation, in an address at the City Hall said that they had seen a process of demoralisation going on in the country. A Government was in power which had failed to discharge the primary duty of a Government—to ensure that the rights of the citizen would be respected both as regards individual liberty and as regards property. An organisation which challenged the State in the beginning and did its utmost to break it had been allowed to carry on freely—to recruit, to train, to arm, and, perhaps, was encouraged to do so in order to make a future attack upon the rights, liberties and interests of the people.

"The A.C.A. was formed," said Mr. Blythe, "to secure that challenges like this will be met and defeated. Last autumn we were faced with a conspiracy aimed at preventing the citizens from exercising their rights freely and openly. If that campaign had not been met, then the last election would have been a complete farce. That campaign was met by the Army Comrades, and free speech was secured. The Army Comrades' Association is a vigorous, national organisation, which will serve the people in a much wider way than simply securing the preservation of free speech or maintaining order at public meetings. It is the successor of the great national organisations which in the past encouraged and raised up the people and brought about the establishment of national freedom. It is the successor of the Gaelic League, of the Volunteers, and of the pre-Truce and pre-Treaty Sinn Fein."

The time would come, he added, when the present generation would see the country under one flag from sea to sea—free, prosperous, strong, proud and great.

Commandant Cronin said that they hoped to have the people organised to such an extent that it would be impossible for the gun-bully and the assassin to wreak vengeance on defenceless people.

"Whatever methods are required to put a stop to it we will use them if necessary to make it impossible for those people to reduce this country to the condition which it was reduced to in 1922 and 1923," he said. "We can achieve that most desirable state of things if the decent people rally to our standard and join our ranks."

THE ZOOLOGICAL GARDENS.

NEW ARRIVALS.

At the Royal Zoological Society's breakfast in the Phœnix Park last Saturday the President of the Council had great pleasure in announcing that many new animals had been added during the month of June. Two black leopards were sent by Mr. George Rocker, of Singapore; also two magnificent pythons and one very rare monitor lizard. Major Brennan, of Kenya, brought home a young leopard and a pair of Vulturine Guinea fowl. A very young kangaroo, which is still being bottle-fed, was the gift of Captain Devereux and the officers of the steamer Trelawny. South America sent two pairs of Coypu rats and Calcutta Rhesus monkeys. A gannet arrived from Lough Gill, Co. Sligo, and many other less important birds and animals had joined the inmates of the Gardens within the past few weeks.

After breakfast the guests set out to inspect the new collection. The only animals that showed any feeling whatsoever were the black panthers. They expressed very plainly that they wanted no introductions, and that they definitely did not like the "Zoo," or, for that matter, Ireland in general.

The pythons maintained an attitude of supreme indifference. They are magnificently marked. One of them has what appears to be a tilted nose, whether that is nature's handiwork or indicative of contempt is not yet certain. Some of the guests interrupted the baby elephant's toilet, which consisted of hard scrubbing with what appeared to be a small brick, whereupon it retired shyly and refused to let operations proceed.

WATER POLO.

GOOD FIGHT BY CLONTARF.

TRINITY'S CAPTAIN IN SCORING FORM.

The innovation of playing league matches on Saturday afternoons has been decidedly successful so far, and has greatly increased public interest in a game which is not nearly as well known as it should be. On Saturday Sandycove, the Senior League champions, were engaged at Clontarf; while Dublin, the holders of the Senior Cup, played Dublin University at Blackrock. At each venue there was a crowded attendance.

CHAMPIONS PRESSED.

SANDYCOVE .... 3 CLONTARF 2

Sandycove had S. Healy for L. O'Brien, and Clontarf E. J. Doyle for O'S. Roche. Clontarf missed chances before Horlacher from close in opened the scoring. Following some even exchanges Brady swam through and equalised. Clontarf went ahead early in the second half, Lavery scoring. Case missed an easy chance to increase the lead, and soon afterwards Horlacher deflected a pass by Fagan through the Clontarf goal. Fagan was the outstanding Sandycove player, and he initiated the attack which produced the winning goal, scored by Horlacher.

Sandycove—W. J. McCormick; J. Doran, G. C. Higginbotham (capt.); C. Fagan; M. Kelly, S. Healy, A. F. Horlacher.

Referee—Mr. H. G. Ellerker.

TRINITY'S SUCCESS.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY 7 DUBLIN 4

Dublin were short of Major O'Connor, but Trinity were at full strength. The latter's combination was good throughout but their shooting inaccurate. Several chances were lost before Hayes Dockrell succeeded in defeating Kay, who kept a good goal. Dowds from a pass by Purcell equalised with a splendid shot. Good scored twice for University, and Purcell went through to score for Dublin with a great shot. Boyle converted a penalty for University before half-time. Good increased the Trinity lead early in the second half, but Purcell again went through from back to score a brilliant goal. P. Dockrell scored following some smart combination, but F. Dowds, with a great long shot, kept Dublin in the picture. Good scored again near the finish.

Dublin University—J. E. Price; H. G. Butler, B. G. Kearon; T. H. Dockrell; D. B. W. Goog (capt.); P. H. Dockrell and C. A. Byrne.

Dublin—E. Kay; N. M. Purcell, D. Murtagh; F. Dowds; J. Barry (capt.), C. McCarthy, C. Riordan.

Referee—Mr. H. F. Brennan.

CYCLING.

WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP TRIAL IN THE PARK.

The Cycling Sub-committee of the N.A.C.A. held a 75 Miles Scratch Race in the Phœnix Park yesterday, to aid the Association in selecting a team of three to represent the Irish Free State at the World's Championship in France. For the most part the route followed what is known as the Four-mile Course, with a couple of detours, calculated to make the course approximate in character to that over which the French race will be held.

The event was disappointing, apart from only eight competing. At almost the first turn there was a collision between the leaders, and Woodcock's machine was damaged, but the rider escaped injury. Brady broke his front forks on the third lap. He got another machine, but by the time he was under weigh McMullan and Troy had a ten minutes' lead. Then McMullan punctured. Troy assisted him to fit a new tyre, and beat his fellow-clubman in the run-in.

The remainder of the race was a procession, Troy and McMullan sharing the pace-making and keeping Brady at bay. At the half-distance this trio were the only riders left.

	H.	M.	S.
1, D. P. Troy (City and Suburban)....	3	51	42
2, T. C. McMullan (City and Suburban).	3	51	42 2-5
3, P. Brady (Irish Road Club)...........	4	5	2

Also competed:—G. McGrath (City and Suburban), F. Fenning (Irish Road Club), J. W. Shaw (City and Suburban), O. S. Simminson (City and Suburban), J. P. Woodcock (Harps).

YACHTING.

LAMBAY ISLAND RACES.

The weather was glorious for the Lambay Races of Howth S.C. on Saturday, but the wind mightily erratic, and if it did not box the compass it made a brave effort in that direction.

Mavis handicapped herself in the Cruisers match by a recall at the start. Seven yachts competed, and were badly scattered before the finish, when Klysina won easily on handicap.

Zaida sailed her best race this year when she won the 17-Footers match from Bobolink and Oona and six other starters. Details:—

Calf-skins displayed a firmer tendency, with 9lb.-16lb. sold at 7⅛d. to 7½d. Foreign hides were occasionally easier, the demand being less active. B.A. Americanos sold at 6⅛d., Cuyabanos at 5⅛d., and D/S Queensland meats at 6d. per lb. Quieter conditions prevailed in the market for sole leather, following the recent heavier purchases, though the more restricted buying may be due in some measure to the inability of manufacturers to secure a commensurate increase in the prices of their productions. Repairing bends, however, sold steadily at full recent rates. Offal was in demand, with prices generally firm. In the upper leather section there was a sustained demand for box and willow calf, with patent in active request. Reptiles had a steady trade at firmer prices.

GOVERNMENT NOTICES

TURF SCHEME.

The Minister for Industry and Commerce wishes to ascertain the quantities of Turf available from the bog areas in An Saorstát for disposal outside local markets. Arrangements have been made with the Great Southern Railways Company and with the Grand Canal Company to receive this information from Turf producers through their local station masters and agents. Turf producers who are willing to sell Turf in quantities of not less than fifty tons and upwards in standard sacks (which will be supplied) and deliver it on railway waggons at the nearest railway station or on canal barges at 11s. 6d. per ton are requested to communicate with the local station master or canal agent. The quantity and quality of the Turf which the Turf-producer undertakes to make available should be shown on the special form, which can be obtained on application to any station master or canal agent. On receipt of this information the Minister for Industry and Commerce will endeavour, wherever possible, to put the producer in touch with suitable markets. The Minister wishes it to be known that no Turf will be acceptable for marketing in the standard sacks unless it is of a density of .9, and contains not more than 30 per cent. moisture and 6 per cent. ash. In practice this means that the Turf must be well dried and of dense quality, and one hundredweight must be capable of being contained in a standard sack. Light Turf or badly dried Turf will not in any circumstances be acceptable.—Department of Industry and Commerce, Dublin.

Britain and Russia.

The release of Messrs. MacDonald and Thornton from their Soviet prison has justified the British Government's tactics to the full. When the fantastic trial ended last April, and it was learned that two British subjects had been sentenced to long terms of jail on a manifestly false charge, the Government took unusually prompt action. It interrupted the negotiations, which were then in process, for a new trade agreement with Russia, and imposed an embargo on virtually all Russian imports to Great Britain. The Labour and Liberal critics of the Government were loud in condemnation. They clamoured that such tactics would stiffen the resistance of the Soviet authorities, would render Messrs. Thornton and MacDonald liable to all manner of unmentionable horrors in the barbarous Russian jails, and had abolished any hope of the prisoners' release before the full term of the sentence. The critics were still more vehement when Russia clapped a counter-embargo on British goods, and they lamented that Britain was "losing all along the line." Now they are silenced. On Saturday last Sir John Simon and M. Litvinoff, the Soviet Commissar for Foreign Affairs, who had been discussing the affair in London for nearly a week, reached agreement. The Russian Executive commuted the order for imprisonment—so that both men were free to leave Russia at once—and cancelled the counter-embargo against British imports. Immediately afterwards a proclamation, made by the King in Council, revoked the British embargo.

Russia is now engaged on her second Five Year Plan—the second stage in her effort to convert the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics from a primitive agricultural country into a highly organised industrial State. In order to effect this change she must have money, and money can be obtained only by trade. The loss of the British market would be an incalculable blow to Russia's dreams, and she will go to any lengths in order to retain it. That object has been achieved by her surrender of the prisoners. The trade negotiations, according to the British Government's official statement, will be resumed "at the point where they were interrupted in consequence of the arrest of the Metropolitan-Vickers engineers"; and a new agreement, presumably, will be devised within the next few weeks. The omen, coming at a time when the World Economic Conference has bogged itself in fine phrases, is good, and will be welcomed generally as a sign that one nation, at least, desires a greater freedom of trade throughout the earth. Great Britain has made agreements for mutual commerce with all the Dominions, except the Irish Free State, and with several foreign countries. Her promise to restore relations with the Soviets shows that she is determined to apply her newly-adopted policy of tariffs to its only logical use in the present circumstances—as a bargaining weapon.

There are dangers, however, in a one-sided agreement. Last year Russia sent precisely ten times as much produce to England as she accepted from British manufacturers. In such conditions clearly a trade agreement loses all meaning; and Great Britain will be foolish, indeed, if she permits the new agreement to be nothing more than a channel for the dumping of Russian goods in huge quantities upon her wharfs. Furthermore, she must not forget that Russia is a missionary country, and that Russia's object is to propagate the subversive seed of Communism in all parts of the British Empire. Already Soviet agents have done considerable harm in England and still greater harm in India. If Britain is really wise, she will make the conclusion of the new trade agreement conditional on a stoppage of these activities. The fact that Russia cherishes a creed which revolts the greater part of civilisation is no reason why Britain should refuse to do trade with her—so long as the Russians keep their creed to themselves. It is only when they try to infect the Empire that Britain has a right to interfere; but she may do herself infinite harm if she concludes this trade agreement without a promise of immunity from Communist agitators.

The First Folio.

A copy of the First Folio of Shakespeare's plays, published three hundred years ago at a guinea, changed hands at £14,500 last week. When some economist of the future comes to examine the history of the nineteen-thirties he may draw attention to this sale as an example of their paradoxical standard of values. At a period of acute depression, he will point out, with wry humour, the only article of merchandise to appreciate in price was an old book of no commercial value. Our reverence for antiquity, however, is proof against any such criticism to-day. The First Folio cannot be quoted in terms of wheat and cotton. While the love of Shakespeare remains, the earliest copies of his works will be limited in price only by the resources of his worshippers. Yet, even when the matter is elevated from the sphere of mundane commerce into the realms of artistic imagination, to which properly it belongs, the history of this book remains sufficiently remarkable. It is not an unusually handsome or rare book. It has not even a recognised accuracy which would enable its possessors to boast that in their volume, and nowhere else, can be found the verses of the poet "absolute in their numbers, as he conceived them." At the end of the eighteenth century, when the editors of Shakespeare scarcely had emerged from the first reverence which cautioned them against any considerable change in the text, the Folio could have been bought for £100 or less. In 1922 a copy fetched £8,600, and in the intervening ten years the price has mounted by nearly sixty per cent. These years, however, have seen the Folio subjected to the most searching criticism in the history of Shakespearian scholarship. A number of the plays has been expelled from the canon in their entirety, and of the remainder not one has escaped the dissections of literary surgeons. In the opinion of one school, the plays for which the United States has paid so many thousands of pounds are a hotch-potch of the Elizabethan drama, in which may be detected the work not only of Shakespeare himself, but of almost all his contemporaries. If others are less confident, few critics are prepared to take on trust the protestations of integrity made by Heminge and Condell, the editors of the First Folio; and a considerable band continues to maintain with passionate conviction that the volume contains the plays of Bacon. The market value of the Folio, however, seems to have as slight a connection with criticism as with the necessaries of food and clothing.

"Disguised Marxists."

Herr Hitler's Government is bent upon the silencing of domestic criticism. It has suppressed nearly all the political parties; it is putting the Churches into harness, and no newspaper that fails to speak with the Government's voice is allowed to exist. Yet Nazi officialdom is not pleased; for it seems that, even in Prussia, some people—sheltering, as it were, behind their own insignificance—still dare to indulge whispers of discontent. Captain Göring, Premier of Prussia and Minister of the Interior, has decided to deal with these persons. He has issued a memorandum which conveys a stern warning to officials, clerks and all the smaller fry of the public departments. It has been noticed of late, he says, that men and women of this class have made, in conversation, "remarks which are calculated to sow distrust and arouse dissatisfaction with the Government's measures." The memorandum describes such persons as "grousers" (Miesmacher), and tells them that in future they will be regarded as "disguised Marxists" and their methods as a continuation of Marxist propaganda. All supervisors, adds Captain Göring, "are requested to note such cases and report the names to me at once. Failure to do so I must consider a declaration of solidarity with wirepullers and agitators." We have no doubt that the warning, and the system of petty espionage with which Captain Göring supports it, will be highly effective. Henceforward no Prussian official, however legitimate his "grouse" may be, will venture to breathe it, even behind the locked doors of his home. Mr. de Valera has declared that he admires Fascism, and we may suspect that now some of his Ministers will have a secret feeling of envy for the Nazi way. How irksome to them must be all the protests of civil servants, Civic Guards and national teachers against "cuts" in salaries—all the inconvenient reminders of broken promises. What a blessing it would be if these noisy clerks and teachers—"disguised Marxists"—could be silenced with one stroke of the pen. The time, however, is hardly ripe for such action in the Free State. Ministers must be patient until their enlarged Franchise Bill gives them really autocratic powers.

Labour's Downfall.

Organised Labour manifestly is a spent force throughout the British Commonwealth. It received its quietus in England at the last general election; the electors of Dublin have just shown their disapproval of its politics at the municipal elections, and its power in Canada and South Africa is negligible. The process of decay has gone still further in Australia; for there the Labour Party, rejected by the people, is administering the final touches to its own ruin. Since Mr. Scullin's defeat the history of Australian Labour has been a tale of bickering between its various sects—the sure sign of a movement's last stages. Throughout last week a conference of the State Labour parties made efforts to restore the movement's former homogeneity, but it has failed dismally. Mr. Lang, the turbulent ex-Premier of New South Wales, who caused so much trouble while Labour was still in power in Australia, is at daggers drawn with the other Labour leaders. His group refuses to traffic on various matters of policy with the rank and file of the movement, and he threatens to establish a rival Labour party, which will extend over the whole Commonwealth. At the conference he demanded not only the local autonomy of his group, but its recognition as the only Labour party in New South Wales. The official group, of course, was bound to reject this demand; but nothing less will content Mr. Lang, and a fatal schism inevitably will follow. Nobody will shed many tears. Australia has learned a severe lesson in Labour politics, and there is little fear that either Mr. Lang or the official group will come back to power. They may cut one another's throats with the complete approval of the people.

THE COUNTESS OF DESART.

REMAINS REMOVED FROM DUBLIN.

THE funeral of Senator Ellen Odette Countess of Desart took place yesterday, the remains being removed from her Dublin residence, 1 Waterloo road, by motor hearse to the mail boat at Dun Laoghaire for transport to Holyhead and Falmouth, where her husband, the late Earl of Desart, was buried. There was no Memorial Service, but there were many callers at the house, and also many messages of sympathy received from people who valued the work and personality of the late Countess. At Monkstown the cortège branched off to the sea road, where a number of Lady Desart's tenantry marched in front of the hearse to Dun Laoghaire Pier, and twelve of the men carried the remains on the mail boat Scotia. A 'bus load of members of the Women's Social Club from Talbot's Inch also was on the pier, together with a bodyguard of Girl Guides, composed of commissioners and officers.

The chief mourners were:—Lady Kathleen Pilkington (step-daughter), Mrs. Gordon Foster (step grand-daughter), the Hon. Mrs. Otway Cuffe (sister-in-law), Captain Arthur FitzGerald (nephew), Mrs. Leigh White.

Others who attended the funeral were:—Lady Frederick Moore, representing the President and Council for All-Ireland and the Irish Free State Executive Committee, Queen's Institute of District Nursing in Ireland; Miss Elizabeth J. Colburn, Superintendent for Ireland, Queen's Institute of District Nursing; Dr. Drennan, the Bishop of Ossory, Ferns and Leighlin; Senator Michael Comyn, K.C.; Mr. R. D. Bolton, Mr. G. Shackleton (Carlow), Mr. W. L. Barlow, Mr. James McNeill, Mr. and Mrs. Eadie, Lahard House; Miss H. Poë and Miss S. Poë, Kilkenny; Mr. James Poë, Kilkenny; Miss M. O. Simpson and Miss K. McClure, Aut Even Hospital; H. Toler Aylward, Shankill Castle; the Dean of Ossory, Sir Otway F. Wheeler Cuffe, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Kinahan, Lieutenant-Colonel and Mrs. Evans Johnson, Mr. T. W. Wilde, Dr. Bethel Solomons, the Deputy Chief Commissioner, Irish Free State Girl Guides, representing Lady Powerscourt, Chief Commissioner; Miss Muriel Poë, County Commissioner for the Dublin, Irish Free State Girl Guides; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Kinahan, Mr. Desmond Fitzgerald, T.D.; Mr. G. Campbell, Sir Robert and Lady Tate, Dr. Robert J. Rowlette, Major and Mrs. Loftus, Mr. Justice O'Byrne, Senator S. L. Brown, the Rev. W. J. Mayne, representing the Governors, staff and pupils of Kilkenny College; Mrs. Kevin O'Higgins, Mrs. Bryan Cooper, Senator and Mrs. Douglas, Mr. J. Montgomery, Mr. R. Mulcahy, T.D.; Mr. Thomas Butler (Kilkenny), Miss Dorothy White, representing the Dowager Lady Annaly; Mr. Michael McGrath (Kilkenny), Mr. E. T. Keane (Kilkenny) and Mrs. Keane.

At the Pier, the remains were received by Mr. James Driscoll, Superintendent, on behalf of the London, Midland and Scottish Railway Company, and the coffin was carried aboard the boat by twelve of the late Countess's tenantry. The coffin was received on deck by Captain Hughes, Master of the Scotia. Also on the Pier were Captain C. Cassedy, Harbour Master; Superintendent P. J. McCarthy, and Inspector J. Quinn, Civic Guard, Dun Laoghaire.

In addition to the immediate relatives, there crossed with the remains the Right Rev. Dr. Day, Bishop of Ossory; Dean Phair, Kilkenny; Mr. George Kinahan, agent for the estate, and Dr. Drennan, medical attendant at Talbot's Inch.

The employés, who came from Kilkenny for the funeral, included—Messrs. Michael Davin, M. Flynn, Francis Turner, P. Holden, John Carroll and J. Doherty (Aut Even Hospital), D. Fitzpatrick, T. Fox, M. Quigley, J. Quigley, M. Dunne, M. Johnson, E. and P. Bryan, Thos. Darcy, Miss Mulligan (housekeeper), E. Davin (chauffeur).

The Women's Social Club, Talbot's Inch, was represented by Mrs. Kinahan, president; Mrs. Schofield, treasurer; Mrs. Hynes, secretary, and Miss Mulrooney.

Among the tenantry present were:—Messrs. J. Gibbs, D. Heaney, L. O'Neill, W. Kerr, J. Archibald, J. Murray, John Schofield, Mrs. E. Miller and Miss Mulrooney.

Among those who called at the house to express their sympathy were:—The Superior, Franciscan Friary, Kilkenny; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Blythe, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mulcahy, Mr. Desmond Fitzgerald, T.D.; Mr. Justice and Mrs. O'Byrne, Senator Miss K. A. Browne, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. O'Sullivan, Mons. and Mdme. Dobrzynski, Polish Consul; Signor Allessandra Mariani, Italian Consul-General, and Senorita Elene Mariani; Miss D. M. Layng, M. and Mdme. Maurice Goor, Belgian Consul, Mr. Hugh Pack Beresford, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Starkie, Mr. and Mrs. James Montgomery, Mrs. Bryan Cooper, Miss Constance Towers, Miss C. N. Townshend, Dr. Lombard Murphy, Miss Murphy.

Cards—Miss Charlotte Dease, Mrs. T. A. Finlay, Miss Kenny, Mr. M. J. Hynes, Mr. and Mrs. Eadie.

Telegrams and letters of condolence were received from:—County Dublin Branch Irish Dairy Shorthorn Breeders' Society, Dr. and Mrs. Leigh Doyle, Carlow; Senator and Mrs. Costello, Lady Everard, Miss S. Purser, Mr. Sean Gibbons, T.D.; Lady Moore, Mrs. Muloch.

Wreaths were sent by the following:—Patricia E. George, Miss C. Townshend, Harcourt Street Children's Hospital; Domestic Staff, Aut Even Hospital; Matron and Nursing Staff Aut Even Hospital, Viscount and Viscountess Powerscourt, Household Staff and Employés, Aut Even Hospital; Tenants and Residents, Talbot's Inch; Talbot's Inch Handball Club, the Italian Consul-General and Mme. Mariani, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Evans Johnson, Bishop the Hon. B. J. Plunket and Mrs. Plunket, Mrs. Swifte, Kilkenny Horticultural Society, Captain the Hon. Hubert Preston, Mrs. Preston and Miss Kenny, Kilkenny Woollen Mills, the Earl and Countess of Ossory, Dr. and Mrs. Drennan, Lady Kathleen Pilkington, Mrs. Gordon Foster, Mrs. Soames, Mrs. Mulligan, the Alexandra College Guild, the Staff Aut Even, Mr. James Poë, Mr. and Mrs. Jebb, the Bishop of Ossory and Mrs. Day, Lord and Lady Teignmouth, Captain and Mrs. Arthur Fox, Lady Wheeler Cuffe, John and Even Drennan, Mrs. R. M. Watson (Minnie), Mr. and Mrs. George Butler.

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference.—An anti-cyclone centred off Ireland covers the British Isles. Weather will be fair or fine and warm in most districts.

Ireland, all Districts.—Wind north-easterly or variable, light, fair; perhaps local fog early; warm.

Irish Sea and St. George's Channel.—Wind variable or north-easterly, light, fair or fine; perhaps fog patches; sea smooth.

LONDON LETTER.

FRANCE AND THE CONFERENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
SUNDAY NIGHT.

To-morrow may be a vital day for the World Economic Conference. Much depends upon the speech that Mr. Cordell Hull will make, though there is a feeling in political circles that it will not have any greater effect than his previous statement had. The great problem of stabilisation versus non-stabilisation must be faced, however, and it is not improbable that the French delegation may call for the adjournment of the Conference until the financial position in the United States has become clear. It will not be the first occasion on which the French have suggested adjournment, and, if it is pressed, their attitude on this point may receive no small amount of support from other countries. It is unlikely that there will be an adjournment; for Mr. Ramsay Macdonald will go to great lengths to keep the Conference in being until something has been achieved.

The Russian Embargo.

The Russian question has been adjusted satisfactorily, and Messrs. Thornton and Macdonald are expected back in London on Wednesday. Everybody seems to be satisfied; for, while Sir John Simon secured the release of the prisoners before the removal of the embargo, the latter step was almost simultaneous, and, in addition, arrangements were made for a resumption of negotiations on the new trade agreement with Russia. It is understood that this agreement will be drawn up as soon as is possible. Sir John Simon was to have made a statement in the House of Commons to-morrow on the settlement, but, as he will be in Leeds, it will be given by Mr. Eden, the Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs.

Trade Agreements.

Tariff agreements will be discussed again in the House of Commons this week, when the recent arrangement made with Sweden will be considered, and, since Finland automatically shares with Sweden any benefits conferred by the agreement, that country will be drawn into the debate. It is true that under the agreement Sweden must take more coal from Britain. This provision, however, does not apply to Finland, though that country will be entitled to lower rates for a number of articles in common with Sweden, because it enjoys a most favoured nation arrangement with this country. The question is a curious one, and the debate promises to be most interesting, though it must prove inconclusive.

The Pig Scheme.

The establishment of the marketing scheme for bacon pigs in Great Britain depends upon a ballot, and voting forms are now being distributed to pig-keepers. It will become law if at least half the pig-keepers record their votes, and if at least two-thirds of the votes recorded are in favour, provided that the numerical majority also represents a majority of the quantity of pigs produced. It is anticipated that the requisite majority will be obtained. In that case there will be no delay in putting the scheme into operation, and the latter part of August is mentioned as the probable date for its inauguration.

Chambers of Commerce.

The triennial Congress of the Federation of Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire this week will be attended by no fewer than 300 delegates from all parts of the world. The Prime Minister will open the Congress, and the presidential address will be delivered by Sir Arthur Shirley Benn, M.P. Throughout the week this gathering of the Empire's leading men of commerce and industry will grapple with some of the outstanding trade problems which at present confront all nations, and their conclusions, helped by preliminary investigation and reports of the preparatory committees, will go forward to their respective Governments the considered view of the Congress as a whole. The importance of the Congress may be estimated by the fact that, in addition to the fifty-five British delegates, representatives prominent in the commercial life of all the Dominions and Colonies will attend. Obviously, the points which are exercising the attention of the World Economic Conference will be dealt with very carefully by the Empire Business Congress.

The Aeroplane Market.

The almost complete loss of the Spanish market for the export of British aeroplanes is threatened by the contemplated erection of an aeroplane factory at Bilbao by an Italian firm. It is proposed that the engines should be supplied by the works in Italy, together with the materials for the manufacture of the parts of the aeroplane. At least one other continental country proposes to set up its own aircraft factory, but this country proposes to use British engines. Fortunately, the reputation of our aircraft stands high, and contracts have been secured against keen competition. The tendency, however, of other countries to assemble their own machines is likely to expand, so that, though parts may be made here, the machines may be built abroad.

Foreign Poachers.

Fishermen on the south coast complain of the activities of foreign smacks which poach within the three miles' limit. It is suggested that a fast motor boat patrol would be more effective in checking illegal operations by foreign vessels than the present system of watching by means of a fishery cruiser. Foreign fishermen appear to have accurate information concerning the movements of the cruiser, and avoid the areas where the warship is likely to be, though they lose no time in dropping their nets when the vessel has departed. It is now proposed that representations shall be made to the Admiralty with regard to the employment of fast motor boats on the grounds of efficiency and economy.

More Conferences.

The popularity of London as a world conference centre continues to grow, and in the next few weeks two other international meetings will be held. Under the auspices of the International Standards Association, British, American and continental tyre manufacturers will try to reach an agreement for the standardising of motor-car tyres, valves and wheel rims, so that there may be a reduction in the numerous sizes and patterns now in use. The other conference is the World Petroleum Congress, organised by the Institution of Petroleum Technologists, which will meet at the Imperial College of Science, South Kensington. This Congress is the first of its kind to be held in the British Isles.

The Velsheda.

Reports that the new steel yacht Velsheda will make an effort to regain the America Cup owe their foundation to the victories of the yacht at the Clyde meeting this week, but hopes that a British challenge will be issued are damped by the statement of Mr. W. L. Stephenson, the owner, that he has no intention of issuing a challenge, and that Velsheda was not built for that purpose, but for his own pleasure. It is now apparent that the disappointing show made by Velsheda in her initial races was due to her participation in those events before she had been fully tuned up, and her victories on the Clyde show that effective adjustments have been made.

ITALIAN ATLANTIC FLIGHT.

FIRST STAGES OF THE JOURNEY ACCOMPLISHED.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT AMSTERDAM.

DERRY'S GREAT WELCOME TO THE AIRMEN.

ONE of the greatest flights in the history of aviation began early on Saturday morning, when twenty-four Italian seaplanes, led by General Balbo, the Italian Air Minister, left their base at Orbetello, near Rome, on the first stage of their journey to Chicago.

Within seven hours they had reached Amsterdam, their first stopping place. Unfortunately an accident in landing caused the destruction of one of the seaplanes and the death of the mechanic, Corporal Quintavalle, and injury to the other three occupants, who were afterwards rescued by a motor boat.

Soon after seven o'clock yesterday morning the second stage of the flight was commenced, when the machines left Dutch waters and flew towards Ireland. Flying across Scotland, they reached Derry soon after midday and landed in Lough Foyle.

The citizens of Derry gave General Balbo and other leaders of the squadron a great welcome when they arrived in the city.

If the weather is favourable, General Balbo proposes to resume the flight at six o'clock this morning.

THE FLIGHT TO IRELAND.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

AMSTERDAM, Sunday.

Twenty-four machines, including one reserve machine, of the great Italian air armada left Amsterdam early to-day for Londonderry.

General Balbo, the Italian Air Minister, who is leading the armada, gave the signal to start on the second stage of the greatest formation flight in history at 7.14 a.m., and within three or four minutes the first machine was circling over the city ready to head for the sea.

An hour later the squadron left Dutch territory at Ymuiden, flying in a northerly direction.

About five hundred people saw the start, which took place in foggy weather. Representatives of the municipal authorities were present. The armada took nearly half an hour to get away, the 'planes circling high in the air before setting off for Ymuiden and the sea.

Before the start the order was given to unload parachutes, and specially warm clothing was issued to the airmen.

The fliers assembled last night in the hall of their hotel to pay tribute to their dead comrade, Corporal Quintavalle, whose body was recovered some hours after the accident. All have been deeply touched by his fate, but are resolved to accomplish successfully the rest of the flight to Chicago.

After leaving Londonderry the machines will cross the Atlantic by way of Iceland, Greenland and Canada, thence proceeding to Chicago.

THE ARRIVAL IN DERRY.

FLIERS WELCOMED BY CITIZENS.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

LONDONDERRY, Sunday.

"We have met some difficult weather conditions, but Ireland has given us sunshine as warm as her welcome." These words, spoken by General Balbo, Italy's young Air Minister, after his arrival in Derry to-day, sum up the triumphant completion of the second stage of the great flight of the Italian air armada which set out from Amsterdam shortly before seven o'clock this morning, and reached Derry at a quarter past twelve.

The landing was made without the slightest accident, and when the seaplanes had been moored General Balbo and his officers proceeded up the River Foyle to the city, into which he had made a triumphant entry in ideal summer sunshine.

It was not until midnight on Saturday that information was received at the Italian headquarters here that the armada was definitely coming to-day. When it became known thousands assembled at various points to give the airmen an enthusiastic welcome.

THE JOURNEY FROM HOLLAND.

Shortly after his arrival at Roy Hall in the afternoon General Balbo gave an interview to Pressmen, in which he detailed the progress of the flight between Amsterdam and Derry.

The flight, he said, took off from Amsterdam at 6.45 a.m. (G.M.T.) His own squadron was the first to take off, leaving at 6.10. They were followed by the others, which left at intervals of five minutes. At the time of taking off the weather seemed good, but it soon began to change, a heavy cloud ceiling falling below 600 feet. Now and then it rained. Later the clouds came down nearly to the water level. They also encountered banks of fog, with the result that the machines were obliged to fly just over the water, almost skimming it.

ACROSS SCOTLAND.

In the second hour of the flight the machines ran into magnificent weather, with a blue sky and calm sea. There was a slight mist which became thicker as they flew over Scotland and the Irish Sea. When over Edinburgh the machines moved directly towards Derry, which they happily reached at 11.29.

General Balbo added that on alighting on Lough Foyle he gave orders to start refuelling immediately.

An interesting fact revealed shortly after the arrival of the fliers was that, when the 'planes ran into a fog-bank near the Irish coast, General Balbo decided to alight on Lough Neagh if conditions were no better over Lough Foyle. A little later, however, a report was received from the Italian base at Derry saying that Lough Foyle was clear, and the airmen then decided to go on.

From six o'clock this morning there was much activity at Culmore Point. The mist that had hung over the city had not disappeared as late as eleven o'clock in the mouth of Lough Foyle, and the mountains on the east side were still covered. A gentle breeze rippled the waters.

Among early arrivals at Culmore were Colonel Mondadori, Military Attaché, Captain Trigona, Air Attaché, and Captain Iachino, Naval Attaché of the Italian Embassy in London, who arrived in Belfast by steamer this morning, coming on to Derry by motor car. There was a steady stream of traffic from the city to Culmore Point. Lieutenant-Colonel Sir Charles Wickham, Inspector-General of the Royal Ulster Constabulary, arrived at noon at Culmore from Belfast.

The fliers were expected at midday, and as this hour approached excitement grew. Hundreds crowded the banks in the vicinity of Culmore Point, while many travelled out in boats to where the 'planes were to be moored. Then cries went up from the waiting Italians as, at a quarter past twelve, the first machines were sighted. They were still tiny specks in the eastern sky, but quickly they grew and the roar of the engines was heard.

When nine of the machines were overhead at Culmore three others were seen far away by the observers on the shore, and in a short time three more became discernible. The sky was now filled with the roar of the engines as General Balbo's 'plane led the way over Derry City, taking a broad sweep of many miles and then making for Lough Foyle again.

The leading seaplanes were now falling gracefully towards the waters of the lough, and after circling again they alighted and proceeded towards the moorings. The first had touched the water at half-past twelve, and at this time fifteen had been sighted.

Anxious eyes kept watch for the remaining nine, but just then the others appeared in the distance, and it was realised that all was well. Four British flying-boats, which acted as escorts and flew at a higher altitude, added to the number of machines in the air, and the sight was very impressive as they swooped towards the mooring grounds.

GENERAL BALBO IN THE CITY.

The last of the seaplanes touched the water at ten minutes past one, almost an hour after the armada had been first sighted. Some of the airmen at once proceeded with the refuelling, whilst others sat on the wings of the 'planes and had a light lunch. Captain Trigona, Air-Marshal Clarke Hall, Captain Bertoli and Flight-Lieutenant Waite went out by motor boat to meet General Balbo and his party, and the Minister and some of his officers then proceeded to Derry.

Thousands thronged Guildhall square, the city walls, and all the streets in the vicinity. Decorations were everywhere, the Italian flag and the Union Jack being the most prominent. At the United Irish League hall near the scene of the airmen's arrival in the city two tricolours floated.

Among those waiting at the quayside to take part in the reception to General Balbo were Mr. R. A. Burke, Royal Italian Consul for the Six Counties; Commendatore Mariani, Italian Consul-General for the Free State, who was accompanied by Signora Mariani; Air Vice-Marshal Mills, Wing Commander Gould and Squadron-Leader Wigglesworth, County Inspector Lenthall, District Inspector Lynn; Captain Boyle, of the "B" Special Constabulary; Mr. R. H. Smyth, chairman of the Derry Harbour Board; and Mr. Cripps, Secretary of the Derry Harbour Board.

Loud cheers were raised as the party stepped from their boat to the jetty, and members of the Italian Consulate gave the Roman salute.

EXCITED CROWDS.

General Balbo, looking remarkably fresh, smilingly acknowledged the welcome, and was introduced by Mr. Burke to the other members of the reception party.

There were further cheers as the General stepped on the quayside, and proceeded to where a party of the local Fascisti was drawn up in their black uniforms. A company of young girls presented a pretty picture in their black and white dresses. They were under the ocmmand of Miss Madeline Caffola, and they showered roses on the Air Minister, who then went towards the Guildhall.

At this point enthusiasm ran high, and a large body of people broke through the police cordon, and ran after the General. They were with difficulty restrained by the police. In front of the Guildhall a guard of honour of the 2nd Battalion Leicestershire Regiment was drawn up, and was inspected by General Balbo.

On the steps of the Guildhall were:—Mayor Dudley, E. B. McCorkell, D.L.; Mr. J. Milne Barbour, Northern Minister of Commerce; Sir Henry Miller, Town Clerk; Sir Basil McFarland, Bart., City High Sheriff; Alderman Moore, H.M.L., and Councillor Hamilton, Deputy Mayor. General Balbo and the other members of the party were received at the steps and conducted into the Guildhall, where they remained for a short time in the Mayor's Parlour.

The flight leaders then motored to Troy Hall, where General Balbo resides during his stay in the city. In reply to a question from a reporter General Balbo said that he hoped to resume the flight on Monday morning, the weather being favourable.

He expressed himself extremely pleased with the arrangements in Derry. There has been no difficulty in landing, and the weather was absolutely perfect.

Subsequently, outside Troy Hall, General Balbo spoke into a microphone, saying: "I am very pleased to be in Derry, and I am most impressed with the warmth of the welcome you have given me and my comrades. My seaplanes are performing splendidly, and I do not anticipate that we shall have any trouble between Derry and Chicago. We have met some difficult weather conditions, but Ireland has given us sunshine as warm as her welcome."

CHANGE OF PLAN.

A late change of plan was made to-night by General Balbo, who, after consultation with his commanders, decided to give his men some relaxation after the past two trying days.

Calling the men together, he thanked them for their efforts so far in the flight, and told them that they were to parade at the landing stage near the seaplanes at 8 o'clock to-morrow morning. This means that, providing weather conditions are favourable, the take-off from Londonderry will probably be at about 9.30 a.m.

The men, when given this relaxation, strolled through the streets of Londonderry, where they were lionised by the young people, who besought autographs and cheered the men wherever they went.

An official announcement was issued that the Government of Northern Ireland regretted that owing to the short period of the stay it had been found necessary to cancel the Government garden party.

A message was received by General Balbo from Lord Londonderry, British Secretary of State for Air, regretting that owing to official duties it was impossible for him to welcome His Excellency in person, as he had hoped to do, and sending his heartiest good wishes for the success of the great adventure.

THE ECONOMIC CONFLICT.

BRITISH QUOTA ON IMPORTS.

DR. RYAN'S PLAN TO REGULATE EXPORTS.

SOME REMARKABLE PROPOSALS.

BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

THE economic "war" with Great Britain is apparently responsible for the new bill introduced in the Dail last week by Dr. Ryan, Minister for Agriculture, the text of which has now been circulated to deputies.

It is called the Agricultural Products (Regulation of Export) Bill. The words in parenthesis might seem to indicate that the stream of exported agricultural produce had now suddenly become so great that it was necessary for the Minister to obtain legislative authority to control the glut of products going to Great Britain and elsewhere. Such is, unhappily, not the case.

REASON FOR THE BILL.

The reason for the bill, it appears, arises from the very opposite cause. The title of the bill reveals to some extent the Minister's purpose. It is to regulate and control "the export from Saorstat Eireann of agricultural products to any country which establishes a system of restriction or control of the import of such agricultural products into that country from Saorstat Eireann." The speech of Mr. Baldwin last week may be taken as supplying the remainder of the information. Mr. Baldwin, who spoke at Carmunock, Glasgow, when questioned about imports from the Free State said:—

> "At times more cattle have come in under the 40 per cent. duty than came in free. Countries may neutralise tariffs by export bounties. There is one thing they cannot neutralise, and that is a quota, a restriction saying you can send in so much and no more.
> "That is the thing that cannot be got round, and so we have adopted that principle for tackling questions of prices with regard to meat."

MINISTER MAY EXPORT.

The quota system, under which, it seems, the Free State's exports of various forms of produce to Great Britain will be reduced in certain proportions, will present a difficult problem to the Free State Government. Without regulation the export trade would develop into a competition among exporters as to who would get their produce out of the country first. The Minister is, therefore, taking powers in the bill to prescribe the manner which, to him, appears most likely "to secure for exporters in Saorstat Eireann the maximum benefit," and, with this in view, he may make a register of persons engaged in the export business; he may control and restrict export; he may require returns to be made of the quantities exported by every individual, and he may regulate and control any alternative export which may for the time being be permitted.

The bill further provides that the Minister may himself go into the export business. Section 3 says that:

> "Whenever an export order regulating and controlling the export of any agricultural product to a particular country is in force, the Minister may, if he considers it desirable in the public interest so to do, from time to time purchase, sell and export to such country such quantities of such product as he thinks fit."

CUSTOMS OFFICERS' POWERS.

The possibility of exports being made surreptitiously is provided against in the bill, which empowers any officer of Customs and Excise to detain and seize any agricultural product being exported, or attempted to be exported, in contravention of an export order.

Power is also given to the Minister to set up consultative councils to advise and assist him in relation to the objects of the bill. Members of such councils shall be paid travelling and subsistence allowances.

It is understood that, under the bill, the Minister will be empowered to allocate the quota which Great Britain or any other country may agree to accept among the various exporters in proportion to the amount exported by each in normal times.

STANLEY WOODS TRIUMPHS.

THRILLING GRAND PRIX RACES IN BERNE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BERNE, Sunday.

A "record" crowd of 50,000 spectators saw Stanley Woods successfully defend his title here to-day in the 500 c.c. class of the Swiss Grand Prix.

Driving a Norton, he completed the gruelling 204 miles in 2 hours 40 minutes 58¼ seconds, with an average speed of 122.98 kilometres per hour (approximately 76 miles per hour). Second came another British entrant, Percy Hunt, also driving a Norton.

H. G. Tyrell-Smith and C. W. Manders were obliged to retire through engine trouble.

Woods thus had his revenge on Hunt, who, on the opening day, deprived the Irishman of his title in the 350 c.c. class. In that instance Woods was beaten in one of the most thrilling finishes ever witnessed in the contest.

Woods led up to the last lap, when Hunt, who was the only rider within striking distance, passed him to win by two yards. Hunt's time for the 204½ miles was 2 hours 50 minutes 16 1-10 seconds, and his average speed 116.28 kilometres (approximately 72.8 miles per hour).

The 250 c.c. class was won by Handley, driving an Italian Guzzi machine, with an average speed of 114.18 kilometres per hour (approximately 70 miles per hour). This was a "record" for the race. C. W. Manders, riding a Rudge, was third.

"KIDNAPPING" OF FACTOR.

QUEER STORY FROM CHICAGO.

HOTELKEEPER'S 'PHONE TALK AFTER HOLD-UP.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

CHICAGO, Sunday.

A RANSOM, variously put as being between 100,000 and 250,000 dollars (£20,000 and £50,000), is stated to have been demanded for the release of Jacob Factor, the Chicago financier, "wanted" in England in connection with alleged share-pushing, who, together with Mr. Al Epstein, a Chicago attorney, is reported to have been kidnapped while leaving a road-house near Evanstown yesterday morning.

Two theories are being considered—(1) that the kidnappers are the same gang that kidnapped Factor's son Jerome last April, and who are stated to have been "tricked" into releasing him without receiving any ransom; and (2) that they are another gang sensing a chance for "easy money."

According to the story which Mrs. Factor and Mr. Epstein told the police, the members of the Factor party had just left The Bells (the road-house) in two motor cars, when a third car containing nearly a dozen heavily-armed men crowded them to the side of the road, seized Factor and Epstein, and drove off at high speed, having first taken the precaution of tying handkerchiefs over the faces of their prisoners.

EXTRADITION TRIAL PENDING.

To Jerome Factor, who was with the party, they said: "Go ahead, kid, we don't want you."

Mr. Epstein was later dumped at the side of the road.

A touch of mystery is given to the affair by the fact that the owner of the road-house denied that Factor had been kidnapped, and claimed to have talked to him on the telephone after the alleged kidnapping. Mr. Epstein, however, asserted that Factor had been kidnapped.

Since his fight against the order for extradition made last year, Factor is reported to have amassed another 5,000,000 dollars on the New York stock market and to have gained the control of a big Chicago brokerage house.

The extradition case is scheduled to come before the United States Supreme Court again on October 9th.

Factor is alleged to have defrauded the British public of large sums of money by means of worthless shares. Harry Geen, his partner, was sentenced at the Old Bailey in February to nine months' imprisonment in the second division. He had come to England voluntarily from America to stand his trial.

THE SEAMEN'S STRIKE.

PICKETS STILL AT THE NORTH WALL.

There is no change in the situation in Dublin created by the seamen who ceased work last week as a protest against an agreement reached between the National Union of Seamen and the cross-Channel shipping companies.

Strike pickets were on duty at the North Wall on Saturday last, but the British and Irish Steampacket Company's steamer left at the usual hour for Liverpool.

BELFAST DOCKERS REMAIN AT WORK.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Sunday.

It was rumoured that the Belfast dockers would go on strike on Saturday in connection with the seamen's dispute in the Liverpool and Clyde cross-Channel services, but Alderman M'Curdy, the local secretary of the Amalgamated Transport and General Workers' Union stated to me to-day that the dockers were not involved in the dispute.

"Nothing will occur," he said, "without instructions from our headquarters in London. I cannot understand how the idea was broadcast that the Belfast dockers would be involved."

The Liverpool and Glasgow steamers arrived at Belfast to-day at the usual hours, but owing to the trouble at the ports they did not carry much general cargo—perishable articles and motor cars. The passengers traffic from Glasgow and Ardrossan was very heavy in view of the approaching holiday season.

CORK SEAMEN'S MOVE.

At a meeting of the Cork Branch of the Irish Seamen's and Firemen's Union yesterday a resolution was passed unanimously pledging themselves to establish and support the formation of an Irish Seamen's Union. It was also definitely agreed to break away from the National Seamen's Union of Great Britain and Ireland, it being stated that it was the opinion of the meeting that this body was dominated by the various shipping companies of Great Britain.

The branch called on the general public and Labour bodies for whole-hearted support in their fight against what were described as slave conditions and wages, and declared that Mr. Spence had no authority from the men to sign the new agreement.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

MALTA, Saturday.

After all-night sessions, the Legislative Assembly, and later the Senate this morning, adopted resolutions protesting against the Imperial Government's decision in respect of the language question.

The Legislative Assembly's sitting was characterised by a strenuous defence of the "Italianity of Malta," and bitter invective against the Imperial Government.

It is worthy of note that popular interest in the language question has waned a good deal, but it is stated that the Nationalists are organinsing a mass meeting on the subject.

Early this year it was announced that the Secretary of State for the Colonies did not intend to alter the Letters Patent of April 25th, 1932, prescribing the teaching of Maltese and English in elementary schools, and permitting the use of Maltese and English, as well as Italian, in criminal trials.

LION IN SUMMER-HOUSE.

Hearing a pet monkey screaming in alarm in a summer-house in the grounds of the Craigwell Park Country Club, near Bognor Regis, yesterday, Mr. P. A. Ramella, the club manager, went to see what was the matter. Looking into the summer-house, he was astonished to see a full-grown lion calmly eating some tomatoes which had been put there to ripen.

One of the club gardeners went off to a menagerie that had been camping for the night in a field near the hotel grounds, and returned with a keeper. The keeper assured them that the lion was very tame, and would not attack anybody, and he led it away from the summer-house to its cage as one would lead a pet.

BRITONS LEAVE MOSCOW.

RELEASE APPEAL GRANTED.

MUTUAL EMBARGOES LIFTED.

TRADE TREATY TALKS TO BE RESUMED.

MR. LESLIE THORNTON and Mr. William MacDonald, the British engineers, who were released on amnesty by the Soviet Government on Saturday evening, left for London via Warsaw and Berlin at eleven o'clock last night.

Thus ends the dispute between England and Russia which followed the trial of employés of the Metropolitan-Vickers Company on what the British Government always contended were trumped-up charges to serve a purpose of Soviet internal policy.

Following the interviews at the Foreign Office between Sir John Simon and M. Litvinoff, the Soviet Commissar for Foreign Affairs, an official statement was issued by the Foreign Office on Saturday night as follows:—

"The Soviet Embassy have informed the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs that the petitions of Messrs. Thornton and MacDonald, who were sentenced in April last to terms of imprisonment of three years and two years respectively, came before the Praesidium of the Executive Committee of the Soviets to-day and that the sentences have been commuted, so that both men are free to leave Soviet territory immediately. They are being liberated this evening.

"At the same time the Commissar for Trade has cancelled the counter-embargo against British imports.

"A supplement to the London Gazette published this evening contains a proclamation, made by the King in Council to-day, revoking the embargo which was declared by the previous proclamation of April 19th, made under Section 1 of the Russian Goods (Import Prohibition) Act, 1933.

TRADE TALKS RESUMPTION

"Arrangements will now promptly be made to resume the Anglo-Soviet trade negotiations at the point where they were interrupted in consequence of the arrest of the Metropolitan-Vickers engineers."

Sir John Simon first discussed the matter with M. Litvinoff on Monday. On Wednesday, M. Litvinoff having in the meantime communicated with Moscow, the agreement was reached in principle, and was subjected only to the technical business of arranging that the prisoners be actually released at the moment when the embargo was lifted.

The fact that the clock in Moscow is one hour fast in summer of British time enabled the British Government to be assured of the actual release of the prisoners before the issue of the proclamation, although technically simultaneous with their release.

The Soviet newspapers do not comment on their release, merely printing the official announcement.

Mrs. Thornton left London last night for Berlin to meet her husband. She was accompanied by Mr. Alan Monkhouse and Mr. I. R. Cox, two Metropolitan-Vickers officials.

MACDONALD EXPLAINS.

When seen by Pressmen yesterday morning at the British Embassy in Moscow Mr. Thornton described some of his prison experiences. Mr. Macdonald declined to be interviewed, pleading ill-health.

"The first thing I shall do when I reach England," said Mr. Thornton, "will be to report to my directors. No, I am not much interested in food, because I have been upset by the prison diet in spite of the tinned food which was sent in to us. In fact, I lived mostly on cold pork and beans.

"Macdonald and I got along very well. It only took him a minute to explain things to me. In fact, he has always been a sort of protégé of mine.

"He also suffered through the prison fare. We were allowed plenty of exercise, and usually paced the courtyard for an hour and a half before breakfast every morning. We never mingled with the other inmates of the prison, although we could have done so."

FROM "THE TIMES."

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

TRADE WITH THE SOVIET.

In a leading article on the release of Messrs. Thornton and Macdonald, and the removal of the embargo on Russian imports, The Times observes:—The Government's action has been criticised by some whose commercial interests were affected by the embargo, by professed Communists and by that small but extremely vocal group of people who cannot feel that they are being fair-minded unless they are being perverse. It may, however, be taken as the better opinion—it is certainly the opinion of those most closely concerned—that, whatever details of procedure may have been open to criticism, the prisoners would all have fared very much worse if the British Government had not intervened, or had confined their intervention to amiable verbal representations. There is reason, moreover, to think that the two Moscow prisoners would not have had to wait so long for their release, and that the embargo might consequently have been removed before this if the Soviet Government had not been misled by their agents and friends in this country into believing, that the British Government lacked the determination to adhere firmly to the policy they had adopted with the practically unanimous support of the country.

The object of that policy has now been attained. The prisoners have been released, and every British engineer or trader working in Russia will be the safer in future for this demonstration. The incident, however is now closed, and the way is clear for putting trade relations between the two countries on a more satisfactory and permanent basis. It is announced, as part of the agreement reached between Sir John Simon and M. Litvinoff, that arrangements will immediately be made to resume the negotiations for a new trade agreement at the point where they were interrupted by the arbitrary and ill considered action of the O.G.P.U. From what was said at the time good progress had been made in these negotiations, and there was ground for hoping that they would soon lead to the conclusion of an agreement much less one-sided than that which the British Government denounced nine months ago, and which came to an end on April 17th.

The trade agreement with the Russian monopoly, in any case, required to be thoroughly revised and recast, if only because it had become a complete anomaly in present circumstances. The new organisation of home markets and the adoption of the quantitative principle clearly entailed some such change as was in view in the negotiations that are now to be resumed. If they succeed in balancing monopoly advantage on the Russian side with equitable marketing arrangements on this side, they may work out a technique useful to others as well as to this country.

STIFF HURDLE FOR THE CONFERENCE.

MR. ROOSEVELT REJECTS THE GOLD STANDARD AGREEMENT.

CONSIDERED STATEMENT TO-DAY MAY SHOW WAY OUT.

THE World Economic Conference will reassemble to-day to face its most critical session since it met three weeks ago.

Will the gold countries—bitterly disappointed by President Roosevelt's refusal to adhere to their resolution—move the adjournment of the Conference, or will its deliberations be continued under the protection of some face-saving formula?

Much depends on the statement setting forth the standpoint of the American delegation, in the light of Mr. Roosevelt's refusal, which Mr. Cordell Hull is expected to make to-day.

Gold-country leaders were reluctant to comment on the position, preferring to wait for Mr. Hull's pronouncement, in the hope that it will contain a chink through which some ray of light may be discerned, but the Paris newspapers are less reticent, and describe the situation as "the beginning of the end," and say that the Conference now ceases to have any "raison d'être."

In Continental circles it is believed that Britain is now unlikely to act in opposition to the United States, though an agreement, they contend, would at least have permitted the adoption of measures for European salvation.

DOWNING STREET ACTIVITY.

The news of Mr. Roosevelt's refusal came from the American delegation in the following form:—

"The President has replied to the Secretary of State that he has rejected the joint proposal in its present form, and the Secretary of State will on Monday morning make a statement elaborating on American policy as it applies to this subject."

Yesterday was a day of exceptional activity in Downing street. The Prime Minister arrived at his official residence from Chequers shortly after 10 a.m. Mr. Neville Chamberlain, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, called early in the afternoon, and conferred with the Prime Minister. Half an hour after the Chancellor's arrival Mr. Cordell Hull visited No. 10, and had a conversation with Mr. Macdonald, and remained for forty minutes. Shortly after Mr. Hull left Cabinet Ministers who are members of the British delegation to the Conference arrived, and their meeting lasted an hour and a half.

STILL HOPEFUL.

At 6 p.m. Mr. Chamberlain met the representatives of the gold countries in the Chancellor's room at the Treasury, and conferred with them for nearly an hour.

It is understood that, while the gold countries' representatives regarded the President's attitude as a set-back, they were unanimous in the view that the phrase "in its present form" contained in the American announcement held out hope of eventual agreement.

The attitude adopted in authoritative British quarters is that no comment is possible until after the American Secretary of State has made his statement to-day. The statement will take the form of a public declaration issued to the Press.

U.S. PLAN EXPECTED.

It is expected that it will give some indication of an American plan for temporarily steadying the dollar in foreign exchange markets through the federal reserve banks and foreign central banks. It is understood that Mr. Hull is awaiting further cabled instructions from Washington before completing the statement.

Mr. Hull's statement is looked forward to with eagerness, as for the first time America will have taken the initiative in this matter of currency and exchange. The general outlook is still regarded as hopeful.

Mr. Roosevelt's rejection of the so-called gold declaration, drafted with such travail in London, is variously construed by Washington correspondents as a direct defiance of France and as an attempt to delay the final decision a few days, when the dollar may be low enough for private control measures.

The President's statement that control of the exchange is a banking rather than a Governmental proposition offers no promise of stabilisation without protection for the Federal Reserve Bank by the United States Treasury.

CAN GOLD SURVIVE?

He believes that permanent stabilisation will not be in sight until the gold countries have shown that they can remain on the gold standard.

There is also reason to believe that the vagueness of the London gold resolution militated against its acceptance by the United States.

The Herald-Tribune asserts that the inflationist clique bars the road to stabilisation at present. They only think, it says, in terms of the 1926 price level, and consider it desirable, and, indeed, inevitable, that all currencies come off gold before new standards are set. Another school thinks it wise to effect now a rough temporary stabilisation, and thus save the Conference from failure.

The New York Times correspondent sums up the President's views thus:—

1—There have been no "grations" of the dollar, but a gradual decline of the dollar exchange, which, although fluctuating, has been fairly consistent.

2—The dollar has not yet declined low enough to afford a fair stabilisation value.

3—The United States stake in the World Economic Conference would be sorely damaged by pegging the dollar at the present time.

Meanwhile the financial community generally, and bankers in particular, have hailed the proposed "steadying" of the dollar by the Federal Reserve Bank. "The dollar drift upward or downward should be governed by the natural dictates of legitimate trade and not by unhampered speculation."

THE REJECTED TEXT.

The text of the declaration on gold which President Roosevelt rejected is as follows:—

"A declaration in which nations on the gold standard and those not on the gold standard join.

"It is agreed that stabilisation in the international monetary field should be attained as quickly as is practicable, and the common interests of all countries concerned is recognised.

"That the re-establishment of gold as a measure of international exchange value should be accomplished with the recognition that the time at which each country off gold could undertake stabilisation, and that the point at which parity is established must be determined by the respective Governments.

"It is reasserted by the Governments, the currencies of which are on the gold standard, that it is their intention to maintain the free working of that standard at the current gold parities and in conformity to their respective monetary laws, believing that the maintenance of the existing gold parities is in the interests of world recovery.

"The Governments subscribing to this declaration, whose currencies are not on the gold standard, take note of the above declaration, and recognise its importance without in any way prejudicing their own future ratios on gold, and reiterate that the ultimate objective of their currency policy is to bring back an international standard based on gold under proper conditions.

"Each Government whose currency is not on the gold standard agrees to adopt such measures as it may deem most effective to limit exchange speculation, and the other signatory Governments undertake to co-operate to the same end.

"Each of the Governments signatory hereto agrees to ask its central bank to work together with the central banks of other Governments which signed this declaration in limiting speculation, and at the proper time in re-inaugurating an international gold standard."

A suggestion that the gold standard countries should co-operate against Great Britain and America, because they are "dumping" exports and thus damaging Germany's export trade, has been made by the Reichsbank President, Dr. Schacht.

WHEAT PROGRESS.

The progress made by the Wheat Conference is the one bright spot on the Conference horizon. The Australian delegation will now be able, following the decision of the Australian Premiers' Conference, to offer their adherence to a scheme for temporary limitation of wheat export. Restriction of production as a remedy for the depression is definitely ruled out by the Premiers' Conference. Limitation of export is likely to commend itself to the Wheat Conference, however, and it is hoped that an agreement will be announced early this week unless unforeseen difficulties crop up on the Argentine and Canadian fronts.

HITLER IS STILL A CATHOLIC.

REPORTED CHANGE OF FAITH DENIED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BERLIN, Sunday.

Reports yesterday that Herr Hitler, the German Chancellor, intended to abandon the Catholic faith and enter the new Evangelical Church of Germany have been denied in an official statement.

The Chancellor, it says, still belongs to the Catholic Church and has no intention of leaving it.

The rumour is understood to have originated in a statement by the Rev. Dr. Ludwig Mueller, who is reorganising the German Church. It caused all the greater stir because the Vice-Chancellor, Herr von Papen, is now in Rome for the purpose of discussing with the Papal Secretary of State, Cardinal Pacelli, the question of a concordat between the Vatican and the Reich.

The Chancellor's reported change of faith was accepted by Protestant Church circles, who believed that it would form a dramatic feature of the nation-wide celebrations of the 450th anniversary of Luther's birthday on October 10th, when, according to the Propaganda Ministry, the Reformation is to be celebrated on a novel scale.

It is understood that in his conversations with Cardinal Pacelli, Herr von Papen has explained Hitler's attitude towards Catholics in Germany.

CONCORDAT REACHED IN PRINCIPLE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

VATICAN CITY, Sunday.

An agreement for a concordat between the Vatican and Germany, it is understood, has been reached in principle between Herr von Papen and Cardinal Pacelli. A few points of detail are still outstanding, but it is hoped that they will be settled before Herr von Papen's departure on Tuesday.

The new concordat will link up those already existing between Prussia, Bavaria and Baden respectively and the Vatican. It is presumed that Herr Hitler will give adequate assurances in regard to Catholic education, about which the Vatican is particularly jealous.

It is probable that, subject to guarantees, the Vatican will consent to the dissolution of the German Centre Party, which represents the Catholic element.

VICEROY NOT QUITTING.

SIMLA, Saturday.

Lord Willingdon, the Viceroy, at last night's banquet in honour of Sir Charles Watson, the retiring Political Secretary, declared his definite intention of staying in India for his full term of office.

TEACHERS RESIST THE "CUTS."

GOVERNMENT ATTACKED.

"THE BROKEN PROMISES."

From Our Correspondent.

ENNISCORTHY, Saturday.

ADDRESSING a meeting of the County Wexford Irish National Teachers' Organisation, Mr. Cormac Breathnach, T.D., President, said that some branches of the Organisation had called on him to resign the presidency because of his action in the Dail on the "Cuts" Bill.

"When I am convinced," he said, "that it would be to the advantage of the Organisation for me to resign, I will not continue in the position for twenty-four hours longer. At the moment I am not so convinced. If you and the other teachers in the State will prove to me that my retention of the office as your President is inimical to your interests I certainly will clear out. Up to the present I have not been so convinced.

"I understand that at the end of this meeting this matter is to be discussed. I will be very happy to discuss it with you."

The cuts, he said, were very severe, but he had an assurance from President de Valera and the Executive Council that if matters improved, if the State was put on a firmer basis, financially and economically, the salaries of the teachers will be restored.

The Minister had said that if the Irish National Teachers' Organisation had been better led during the past year a settlement would have been reached. He challenged that assertion. At the 1932 Teachers' Congress the leaders were not empowered to accept or reject Mr. MacEntee's terms, but to refer the offer to the branches. The branches turned down the offer. Mr. MacEntee's statement was, therefore, entirely false and misleading.

THE PENSION FUND.

Mr. Breathnach said that he had the assurance of President de Valera that the Pension Fund question would soon be settled, either by negotiations or by infliction, as the "cuts" were inflicted. President de Valera was anxious that the Irish National Teachers' Organisation and the Government should come to terms and arrive at an amicable settlement, but whether they come to terms or not the pension question would be settled in a very short time—at what cost he did not know.

"The teachers were very good friends of Fianna Fail for the last five or six years," he added, "and the teachers feel they have not been requited for their efforts on behalf of Fianna Fail. We were not looking for any recompense, but we expected fair play.

Mr. Thomas Frisby said that inside ten years of native government the teachers' salaries suffered to the extent of a twenty per cent. reduction. The last "cut" was the severest of all—not so much on account of the hardship it inflicted, but because of the manner in which it was made, because it was the stated policy of the Minister for Finance to place the teachers in the wrong in the eyes of the public. More disappointing to the teachers than all else was the broken promises of President de Valera.

They did not know who was really behind this attempt at bureaucracy in excelsis, but the teachers' organisation would give it the most violent opposition possible.

Alderman Corish, T.D., Mayor of Wexford, advised the teachers to become perfectly organised because times were going to be worse in the country, and more "cuts" would be the order in a short time. The casualisation of labour proposed by the Minister for Finance, was a system unworthy of any Government in the world.

Mr. M. Murphy, N.T., who presided, said that, owing to the way in which the teachers had been harried, it was an evil day for them when a native Government came to rule in the land.

Mr. Breathnach met the teachers in private session afterwards.

CARLOW MEETING.

"Hundreds of teachers had helped to put Fianna Fail into power, and it was as difficult to understand as to justify the embittered attacks which had been made on the teachers."

This statement was made by Mr. T. J. O'Connell, General Secretary, I.N.T.O., at a public meeting held under the auspices of the County Carlow Committee, Irish National Teachers' Organisation, in Carlow, on Saturday.

Dealing with the agreement of December, 1931, Mr. O'Connell said that the Executive of the time had agreed under the stress of circumstances and with a knowledge and experience of the wage-cutting propensities of the former Government, to accept a cut of six per cent. in salaries. This was to meet the financial stringency, and the Government in turn agreed to take full responsibility for the future payment of pensions to all teachers. That agreement was strenuously denounced by leading members of Fianna Fail, by none more so than the present Minister for Finance, who attacked the Executive for "handing over the Pension Fund to the tender mercies of Mr. Blythe." The supreme authority of the organisation—Annual Congress—had repudiated the agreement and the executive which negotiated it were defeated at the annual elections. It could not, therefore, be said that the general body of the teachers had ever accepted that agreement, and it was more than strange that they should now be deemed to be bound by it.

THE SAME OFFER.

It was stranger still that when Mr. MacEntee was less than three months in office he asked the teachers to accept this very same offer of Mr. Blythe, an offer which the Teachers' Congress had repudiated, and which he himself had three months earlier denounced.

Mr. MacEntee in the Dail had attempted to argue that President de Valera in his speech at Rathmines had not the teachers in mind. The President himself had stated the contrary to a teacher who was now a member of the executive of the organisation.

The principles enunciated in the Rathmines speech, continued Mr. O'Connell, were that salaries of £300 or £400 were not to be cut. In his speech on the second reading of the bill the President was at some pains to show that he had kept faith with the civil servants, inasmuch as the £300 salary was not cut, while only a cut of two per cent. was made on salaries between £300 and £400. He made no mention of the teachers nor did he explain how he squared his application of the Rathmines principle to the teachers by making a cut of 5 per cent. on a salary of £147 or 6½ per cent. on £300 or 7¼ per cent. on a £400 salary.

The Economies Bill made "cuts" varying from 5 to 8 per cent. in teachers' salaries, and took as much, if not more, money out of the pockets of the teachers as Mr. Blythe would have done, and it left the pension question still unsettled. It was, therefore, distinctly worse, from the teachers' point of view, than the offer made by Mr. Blythe.

There was nothing to settle or negotiate about in regard to the pension question. The teachers had kept their own side of the fund solvent, and they were not prepared to accept any responsibility for the insolvency of the Government side. Their attitude was that, in common with other public servants, they were entitled to pensions. They contributed 4 per cent. of their salaries for pension purposes. The fund was the concern of the Government and not of the teachers.

Mr. O'Connell repudiated the statements which, he said, were made by Mr. McEntee to the effect that the teachers had said they were not going to be good Irishmen, and they would not play Gaelic games or teach Irish history or do their duty by the State. "Irish teachers," concluded Mr. O'Connell, "were doing their duty by their country before Mr. McEntee was even heard of, and they will be found serving their country when his name will no longer be remembered except as that of a discredited political acrobat."

IRISH LANGUAGE REVIVAL.

MINISTER AND FORTY YEARS' PROGRESS.

From Our Correspondent.

WICKLOW, Sunday.

Opening the County Wicklow Feis at Rathdrum to-day, Mr. T. Derrig, Free State Minister for Education, speaking in Irish, said that his presence showed not only personal interest, but how interested the Government was in the language revival. The revival movement had progressed rapidly in the schools, and the Government was going a step further by extending the language in the Civil Service, and it would insist on Irish getting a better show than hitherto in the official life of the country.

The language, however, could not be revived by Government action alone. Co-operation must come from parents and the public, from public bodies and organisations, by giving preference to competent Irish speakers in filling appointments. Great progress had been made in forty years, but great leeway had still to be made up.

Mr. Don Piatt said that in Northern counties, with only three half hours' Irish teaching weekly, and a hostile Government, there were schools which could beat any school in the Free State.

AMERICAN TOURISTS ARRIVE.

The Cunard liner Scythia landed 300 passengers at Galway, most of whom were tourists. Among the arrivals was the Most Rev. Dr. Fitzmaurice, Bishop of Delaware, U.S.A., who intends to visit Listowel. The Scythia would have made the crossing in record time, but was delayed for some hours in a fog off the Aran Islands.

CATHOLIC BOY SCOUTS.

In the grounds of the Sacred Heart Convent at Armagh, before a very large assembly, the investiture took place by His Eminence Cardinal MacRory of the First Patrol of Catholic Boy Scouts. Senator T. McLaughlin presided.

The Cardinal said that it was a great pleasure to him that the Boy Scout movement had been launched in Armagh. He had anxiously longed for this, and he sincerely hoped that the movement would spread throughout Armagh, Tyrone and Louth.

CROAGH PATRICK.

An organised pilgrimage, the first of its kind to Croagh Patrick, will leave Dublin on Saturday, 29th instant, by special corridor train, reaching Westport about midnight.

DAIL AND SENATE.

BUSINESS FOR THE WEEK.

By Our Political Correspondent.

THE Dail Eireann Loans and Funds (Amendment) Bill, which received its second reading in the Dail last week, will probably come up on Committee stage during the present week. So far, only one amendment has been notified, and this is in the name of the Minister for Finance. It appears to be of some importance, since it proposes to alter the scope of the bill by deleting from the title the words: "Outstanding balances of the" . . . . The title, when these words are omitted, will read: "An Act to make provision for the redemption of the loans floated by public subscription in the United States of America under the authority of the first Dail Eireann and the second Dail Eireann, respectively." In its original form the bill proposed to redeem only the "outstanding balances" of these loans.

MONEYLENDERS BILL.

In connection with the Moneylenders Bill No. 2, Committee stage, Mr. Frank MacDermot (Centre Party, Roscommon) has given notice to move that, in addition to the nine grounds in Section 4 of the bill upon which a moneylender may be refused a licence, there shall be added the further grounds, (a) if the applicant had not attained the age of 15 years on the 31st December, 1931, and (b) if satisfactory evidence has not been produced that the applicant possesses a competent knowledge of the Irish language.

It will be recalled that on the occasion of the first reading of the bill a fortnight ago Mr. Dillon (Centre Party) suggested that the original bill was being dropped and the new bill introduced, because the special Committee which had considered the first bill suggested that the moneylenders should learn Irish.

SENATE'S AGENDA.

The Senate will meet probably on three days during this week. The order paper contains a large number of items, including the Cement (No. 2) Bill (report); National Health Insurance Bill (Committee), Public Hospitals Bill (Committee), Public Services (Temporary Economies) Bill (second stage), Electrical (Amendment) Bill (second stage), Local Government (Extension of Franchise) Bill (second stage), and Constitution (Amendment No. 19) Bill (second stage).

LIMERICK RATE.

ADJOURNMENT MOTION DEFEATED.

When Limerick County Council, at a meeting on Saturday, proceeded to make the rate for the service of the financial year ending 31st March next and to sign the seal to rate books, Mr. S. Hewson proposed that the matter should be adjourned. His reason, he said, was that a considerable portion of last year's rate was still uncollected, and it would be obviously unfair to ask the people who had paid to meet their obligation under the new levy. He said that the Minister for Agriculture had let it out the other day that the Government were able to tackle derating, and until they knew their place they should adjourn the making of the new rate.

Mr. Madden, seconding, said that the amount of last year's rate outstanding was £20,000.

The Secretary—£40,000.

Mr. Madden suggested that until the economic "war" was over the rate should be collected in four instead of two moieties.

On a division the motion was lost by 13 votes to 10.

CHILD KILLED BY TRAIN.

Death from cerebral hæmorrhage and fracture of the skull caused by being struck by a train was the verdict at an inquest on Hyacinth Edward Dolan, aged two years, of Williamstown, Moate, who died on Thursday evening as a result of an accident on the railway-line.

Daniel Dunning, Athlone, the driver of the train, said that when about twenty yards from the house of the child's parents he saw the child going towards the line. He shut off steam and applied the brakes, but was unable to stop in time. The side of the train struck the child.

He was exonerated from all blame.

THE NEW LAND BILL.

"REVOLUTIONARY FEATURES."

MUNSTER FARMERS' CONVENTION.

A MUNSTER convention of the National Farmers' and Ratepayers' League was held in Mallow on Saturday, at which Dr. E. F. O'Connor, M.O., Macroom Cottage Hospital, Vice-President of the National Executive, presided.

Dr. O'Connor said that they had now reached the stage when the Government had gone bankrupt of policy. Elected on wild promises, the Government had plunged the country into a reckless economic "war," and had, from time to time, introduced legislation which showed them to be devoid of responsibility. When the rest of the world was looking for moratoriums, they were paying away £5,000,000.

In a reference to the American loan, he said that this might become a party subsidy.

Mr. E. J. Cussen (Cork) said that, from the pronouncements of Ministers and prominent members of the Government Party, they could infer that the new Land Bill would contain revolutionary features. It probably would contain a section by which their farms could be taken from them, and all they had won through years of sacrifice would be lost. In view of what they knew about land division in the past, they should look on the bill with concern.

Mr. Curran, T.D. (Tipperary), said that, if they were to judge by rumour, the Government would empower itself to take any man's land at any price, and there would be no appeal. Probably such matters would be decided by the various Fianna Fail clubs. Only through united action by farmers, labourers and shopkeepers could they defend their right to live.

AN EARLY ELECTION?

Mr. W. R. Kent, T.D., said that probably an election would be sprung before the end of the harvest. The Government might go to the country on a popular call to the young on the question of the franchise or the abolition of the Senate. For this their party should be prepared.

Mr. M. F. Farrell (Cashel) said that it was one thing to pass a bill, and another thing to carry it into practice. If the Government passed the Land Bill, they would create a large number of small holders, and from what he had seen he would say land division should be a slow process. The average labourer would fail even in a good farm.

They, as farmers, did not ask for the retention of annuities, and in Tipperary they would not stand for the provisions of the Land Bill. Neither would the people of the rest of Ireland.

Mr. C. J. O'Callaghan-Westropp (Clare) said that the policy of the occupying owner was one great barrier against Communism and atheism, which even at the time of the Ashbourne Act was growing in the country. The Government was going to break through the vesting order. A commission in 1907 found that there was not enough land to relieve congestion, not to speak of land for landless men. He saw real danger in the power vested in the State Commissioners.

The meeting was also addressed by Lord Muskerry, Mr. Nicholas Ryan, Tipperary, and Mr. Richard Hearne, Waterford.

A motion by Mr. Wall (Limerick) read:—"That we deny the right of any Government to interfere in the title of land vested in the Irish people." The motion was carried amidst acclamation.

TIPPERARY INCIDENT.

ALLEGED ASSAULT BY ARMED MEN.

Civic Guards are investigating an incident which is reported from Cappawhite district, Co. Tipperary, in which it is alleged that on Wednesday night last, between 11 and 12 o'clock, three motor cars, with unknown men carrying rifles and revolvers, arrived in the locality and interrogated on the public road a number of men, including some members of the I.R.A., with reference to a recent shooting incident in connection with a local land dispute.

Some of the men interrogated allege that they were threatened and beaten.

After discharging several shots into the air, the visitors left.

BALDOYLE RACES.

TWEED COSTUMES IN THE SUN.

The Metropolitan race meeting at Baldoyle last Saturday attracted a good attendance. Despite the favourable weather more tweed costumes and coats were to be seen than summer attire. Miss M. Laidlaw had a very distinctive note in her costume. She wore a white linen costume with a smart flowered linen hat and blouse. Her sister was attired in soft brown. Mrs. Ruttledge looked cool in flowered green. Mrs. J. Fitzgerald wore white. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. M. E. Fitzgerald, had an attractive blue suit. Lady Nelson wore a navy suit and small hat to match. Lady Eva Forbes also chose navy. Lady Talbot de Malahide wore black and white. Mrs. Lovat was attired in figured linen tweed.

Among those present were:—Mr. and Mrs. More O'Ferrall, Hon. H. G. Wellesley and Mrs. Wellesley, Captain G. P. Dunne, Mr. Isidore Blake, Captain ffrench-Davis, Colonel H. J. Blake, Mr. E. Delaney, Mrs. Croft, Mr. H. J. Usher, Mr. W. Bailey, Mr. H. C. Crozier, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Rogers, Captain and Mrs. V. J. Parr, Mr. J. H. H. Peard, Major M. J. Kenny, Captain H. Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Corrigan, Lady Goulding, the Misses Laidlaw, Mrs. Smallwood, Mrs. W. J. Hilliard, Major Hilliard, Mr. L. Hilliard, Mrs. Page Croft, Mrs. Dunne, Lady Eva Forbes, Mr. Justice and Mrs. O'Byrne, Lady Goulding, Mrs. P. J. McGilligan, Dr. and Mrs. Barniville, Lady Weldon, Mrs. M. E. Fitzgerald, Mrs. J. Fitzgerald, Sir Walter Nugent, Mr. and Mrs. More O'Ferrall, Mr. R. More O'Ferrall, Mrs. Dalgetty, Mrs. Baggallay, Sir Henry Lytton, Mrs. Uniack, Mrs. Hayward Farmer, Colonel and Mrs. McCabe, Mr. A. Turner, Judge Sheehy, Dr. MacRussell, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Maher, Dr. Edward Magennis, Dr. J. Magennis and Mrs. V. Magennis, Mr. Fred. Clarke, Mr. J. J. Parkinson, Major and Mrs. Beamish, Captain and Mrs. Collins, Hon. Mrs. Gilpin, Mr. J. McGrath, Miss K. Kennedy, Dr. J. Cullen, Dr. McErlean and Miss McErlean, Sir Thomas Robinson, Colonel Hill Dillon, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Cogan.

WOULD-BE SMUGGLERS FINED.

Charged at Tynan (County Armagh) Petty Sessions with attempting to evade Customs duty on 567 dozen eggs, Ernest Booth, Collombrone, and George Curran, Lisdoort, Ballygawley, were each fined £100, with a recommendation that this should be mitigated to £27 and allowed a month in which to pay.

Sergeant Shaw and Constable McCleery gave evidence of seeing the defendants taking a lorry into the Free State with several cases of eggs on it. About an hour and a half later they saw the lorry returning laden with cases of eggs.

SEASIDE ACCIDENTS.

Margaret McDermott (16), of Clarinda Park, Dun Laoghaire, fell from a 'bus in Upper George's street, Dun Laoghaire, yesterday evening, and sustained severe head injuries. She was taken to St. Michael's Hospital.

Mary Cullen (8), Longford place, Monkstown avenue, fell at Dun Laoghaire. She was taken to St. Michael's Hospital suffering from injuries to the head.

Thomas Lysett (2½), of Sandymount avenue, fell from a railway bridge at Booterstown yesterday. He was brought to Monkstown Hospital and treated for head wounds.

Mrs. L. Byrne, 10 Glasthule Buildings, Dun Laoghaire, was admitted to St. Michael's Hospital last night suffering from injuries sustained in a fall from a 'bus.

IRISH MOTOR RACING CLUB'S TRIAL.

DRIVING TO SCHEDULE IN THE MOUNTAINS.

THE Reliability Trial of the Irish Motor Racing Club last Saturday afternoon did not receive as large a measure of support as did the "rally" held under its auspices earlier in the season. The distinction between the two forms of competition is one of name more than of fact, and the main difference between Saturday's event and the "rally" was that the "rally" was followed by a supper and dance; on Saturday the competitors just went home when they completed their journey of 82 miles.

Perfect weather conditions made the run through the County Dublin and the County Wicklow as easy as it was agreeable, and of the nineteen starters only one of the drivers failed to finish the course. The "also ran" was Mr. F. Boyle (9 h.p. Riley), who was in trouble in the neighbourhood of Sally Gap, and the subsequent proceedings interested him no more.

TWENTY MILES PER HOUR.

The drivers were required to average 20 miles an hour, their times being taken at four points during the afternoon. As was anticipated, all of them did so without difficulty, even in the sections where the mileage given on the route cards was short of the distances returned by the speedometers. Everyone would, therefore, have been in the first-class awards list if it were not that a short section of the route near the end of the run was timed to enable the committee to differentiate between the respective performances.

The route traversed took the competitors across the shoulder of the Three Rock Mountain by Barnacullia and Glencullen to Annacrivy Hill. Then, skirting the base of the Sugar Loaf Mountain, through the Rocky Valley and Kilmacanogue, they ascended by Red Lane to near Roundwood, and crossed the Military Road by Sally Gap. A gentle descent, following the course of the Liffey, took them through Kippure and Kilbride to Saggart and Rathcoole, and, skirting the city, they reached the Dublin-Belfast road at Santry, where the time section was located, that route finishing at Drumcondra.

There were special awards for seven of the nineteen starters, and the times gave the following results, subject to the further examination of the intermediate checking sheets:—

BEST PERFORMANCES.

Best performance by driver of an under 1,100 c.c. car in timed section—Dene Allen, 9 h.p. Standard.

Best performance by driver of an over 1,100 c.c. car—A. S. Forbes, 11.9 h.p. Morris-Cowley.

Ladies' award—Miss Jordison, 14.9 h.p. Ford.

Novices' award (club)—D. Mackenzie, 8 h.p. Hillman.

Best performance by a driver from outside Dublin—C. Bradley, 12 h.p. Singer.

Best performance on car of over six years' service—Major McNeill, 11.8 h.p. Bugatti.

Supplementary award—J. A. Lawson, 9 h.p. Riley.

Also finished:—T. K. Sheridan, 9 h.p. Riley; E. G. R. Kelly, 12 h.p. Wolseley Hornet; Miss N. Comerford, 9.8 h.p. Hillman Minx; W. E. Gray, 14.9 h.p. Ford; R. M. Anderson, 13.5 h.p. Standard; A. P. MacArthur, 8 h.p. M.G.; T. Murphy, 20.9 h.p. Sunbeam; Mrs. P. A. Sheehan, 8 h.p. Ford; P. J. Griffin, 7.9 h.p. Austin; E. P. Murray, 8 h.p. M.G.; W. J. Vickers, 12 h.p. M.G.

SELLING CHEAP: BUYING DEAR.

COST OF THE ECONOMIC WAR.

From Our Correspondent.

CLONMEL, Sunday.

Addressing a meeting in Ardfinnan to-day, Mr. Richard Curran, T.D. (Centre Party), said that owing to the economic war the farmer was selling cheap and buying dear, so that he was never in a worse position than at present. It was time that the people spoke out and made clear their desire to end the disastrous economic war.

The Government funked the local elections, but the people should tell them that they were not satisfied with the way in which local administration was carried on. The total rate demanded in South Tipperary this year was £135,000; while in 1919-20, when the country was at the peak of prosperity, it was £86,000, and in 1914-15 it was £54,000. How were the people to meet the present demand would like a revision of the land annuities.

The present bitterness and hatred, which were the dominant factors in Irish politics to-day, would not get the country anywhere, and it was high time that they were replaced by common sense.

Mr. Martin Farrell said that the farmers would like a revision of the land annuities, but they certainly did not agree with saving £1,000,000 and paying 25 millions for it.

AN OVERDOSE OF ASPIRIN.

YOUNG MAN'S DEATH AFTER ELOPEMENT.

An inquest was held at Jervis Street Hospital, Dublin, on Saturday last, on Arthur Robert Howard Pasley, aged 33 years, of Tinahely, Co. Wicklow, who died in the hospital on Friday night as a result of swallowing 100 aspirin tablets. The jury returned a verdict of death from heart failure, and expressed the opinion that Pasley was temporarily insane when he took the overdose.

It was stated that Pasley called at the Howth Civic Guard station and informed the Guards of what he had done.

Dr. Charles Coury, who attended him, gave evidence that he gave him injections and had him removed to hospital. Replying to the Coroner, he said that a poisonous dose would be anything over 35 grains; if Pasley's story was correct, he had probably taken 500 grains of aspirin. Under those circumstances it would be impossible to save his life.

Pasley, he continued, told him that some months ago he had run away with a young girl whom he had married, and with whom he was living on good terms. He also said that he could get no work, and would like to go to America, but had not enough money to do so.

Pasley's wife gave evidence that they had been married some months ago in a London registry office, and then went to Liverpool, where they were married in a Catholic church.

The City Coroner, Dr. McErlean, said that they were dealing with a young man who apparently had secret worries and troubles which, very likely, he exaggerated in his own mind. Apparently he had some trouble with his family at home, and also found it difficult to get work.

A NOTABLE DRUM

FOR TORONTO ORANGE DEMONSTRATION.

From Our Correspondent.

BELFAST, Saturday.

The Orange drum which the Prince of Wales beat during his visit to Northern Ireland last November has been sent to Canada, and will figure in the Orange celebration at Toronto on the 12th July. This fact was revealed to-day by Sir Joseph Davison, County Grand Master of Belfast, when speaking at a drum unveiling ceremony in Belfast.

In complimenting the members of the North Belfast Drumming Club on their progress, Sir Joseph said that there was a time when the "big drum" seemed to take a back seat in Orange activities owing to the popularity of the bands. However, through the agency of the drumming clubs in the province the drum had come back into its own. (Hear, hear.) No matter how delightful and how inspiring the music they got from the bands there was no doubt that the drum was the war instrument. It was to the tap of the drum that the heroes of the past defended Derry; it was to the tap of the drum that they crossed the Boyne, and it was to the tap of the drum that the loyal people of Ulster would go on to the end. (Hear, hear.)

New Zealand expects to export 12,000 cases of eggs, or 360,000 dozen this year, compared with 5,264 cases last year.

GALTEE MORE PILGRIMAGE.

UNVEILING OF A CROSS.

THOUSANDS MAKE ASCENT.

From Our Correspondent.

TIPPERARY, Sunday.

Several thousand people assembled to-day on Galtee More, three thousand feet above sea level, to take part in the ceremony connected with the unveiling and blessing of the large cross, constructed of concrete and iron, which has been erected on the summit in honour of Christ the King. The originator of the project was the Rev. Brother McKenna, Superior of the Christian Brothers' Schools, Mitchelstown. The boys of the school bore the framework of the cross for miles along the mountainside and up to the summit, and neighbouring farmers and labourers carried sand and cement to the spot where the cross was erected.

Pilgrims came from Counties Tipperary, Limerick and Cork, and included many priests, members of the Christian Brothers Order and Catholic Boy Scouts. The ascent was made from the northern and southern sides. On the southern, or Mitchelstown, side, from which the greater number made the long and toilsome journey, flags indicated the easiest route.

The Rev. William Ryan, C.C., Galbally, who was deputed by the Most Rev. Dr. Harty, Archbishop of Cashel, to bless the cross, read a message from the priests of Galbally, in which it was stated:—

"This cross will stand as a lasting monument, on historic ground, to the faith of the Irish people, to their Catholic spirit, to their loyalty to Our Holy Father the Pope, and to their splendid and burning devotion to Christ the King. May it bless and protect the historic Glen of Aherlow. May it long adorn the storied range of the Galtees and the fertile plains that surround them. May it lead bands of pilgrims to scale the mountain side and kneel in prayer on this now hallowed spot to Our Saviour crucified."

FORCES OF EVIL.

Father Ryan said that there were forces of evil at work in Ireland at the present time, the most dangerous being that of Communism. There was also the danger of extreme nationalism, which had been condemned by the Pope in one of his encyclicals. There was far too much bitterness in politics in this country, and they would have a better, a happier and more contented country if they were more tolerant one to another in their political views.

At the conclusion of the ceremony hymns were sung by the choir of the Christian Brothers' Schools, Mitchelstown, and a decade of the Rosary was recited.

Catholic Boy Scouts who had camped overnight on the Galtee slopes and in the Glen of Aherlow rendered valuable aid to thirsty pilgrims by supplying refreshment from their water bottles.

PRE-TRUCE I.R.A.

PROPOSED ALL-IRELAND ORGANISATION.

From Our Correspondent.

LONGFORD, Sunday.

A "Convention" of the pre-truce I.R.A. was held in Longford this evening, when two officers of Clan na nGaedheal, Mr. Simon Donnelly, president, and Mr. John Loughrey, general secretary, who have been entrusted with the work of preparing the ground to unite existing pre-truce organisations and groups in an all-Ireland organisation, attended, and explained to the fifty delegates present the aims of the proposed organisation.

The Convention decided to give whole hearted support to the project, and to endorse whatever action would be taken in the name of the pre-truce I.R.A.

The following committee was appointed to deal with the organisation of surrounding areas:—Messrs. Sean Duffy, Ballinalee, chairman; Edward Cooney, vice-chairman; A. J. Quinn, secretary; B. Garahan, M. Reynolds, J. Major, P. Hopkins, James Mulligan and T. Gerety.

CIVIL SERVANTS' COMPENSATION.

THREE FRESH CLAIMS.

A meeting of the Civil Service (Compensation) Board was held in Government Buildings, Merrion street, Dublin, last Saturday, when claims for compensation on discharge from office, by Miss Mary Day, formerly sempstress in the Viceregal Lodge, and Thomas Moorehouse, formerly head gardener in the Viceregal Lodge, were heard.

A claim by James J. Quigley, postmaster in Carrickmacross, to be allowed to retire from the service on account of worsened conditions of service, was also heard.

Mr. Quigley claimed that he had to attend telephone calls after office hours without any allowance for such work.

Judge Davitt presided, and the other members of the Board present were Messrs. W. F. Nally and L. M. Fitzgerald (for the Minister for Finance), and A. McE. Kelly and P. J. Leonard (for applicants).

Mr. L. O'Gorman, secretary to the Board, was in attendance.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

SPIRITED RALLY IN GRAINS: STOCKS CLOSE FIRM.

Reuter's Telegrams.

NEW YORK, Saturday.

Intimations from administrative quarters that the dollar was still too high in terms of the leading currencies aroused renewed inflationary enthusiasm on the Stock Market to-day. Many issues advanced between 1 and 3 points before the close, and the turnover was large for a two hour session at 2,790,000 shares.

The market opened firm, and at once advanced briskly in very active trading, with the "ticker" falling several minutes behind transactions on the "floor." Grains rose spiritedly, and cotton displayed a good under tone, while spot silver advanced five-eighths.

All groups participated in the upward movement, rail and commodity stocks being very firm.

The market closed firm, with the Industrial, Utility, Rail, Metal, and Farm Implement sections 1 to 3 points higher on the day.

The firmness of Gold Mining issues was due to revived rumours of the establishment of a free gold market in New York, thus allowing gold to find its own level.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Saturday.

Very bullish crop damage reports for all cereals induced general buying and covering on the Grain market to-day. The expectation that exceptionally bullish private crop estimates are forthcoming, the strength of other markets, indications of bullish foreign weekly statistics and the firmness of sterling assisted the upward movement, while heavy profit-taking in the late dealings was well absorbed. Developments in Washington and London are being anxiously followed.

Wheat values advanced on buying by Eastern interests. A bullish estimate by the "Modern Miller," giving the winter wheat crop at 312,000,000 bushels and that of spring wheat at 190,000,000, with the condition at 59.4 per cent., and the yield of maize at 2,475,000,000 bushels, constituted an additional helpful factor. Maize, rye and oats were governed mainly by the fluctuations in wheat.

POST OFFICE WORKERS' MEETING.

RESISTANCE TO BONUS REDUCTIONS.

A meeting of the Dublin members of the Post Office Workers' Union was held in the Mansion House yesterday, Mr. C. R. Dixon, Chairman of the National Executive, presiding. According to an official statement issued last night, Mr. Norton submitted a report of the executive activities, which culminated in the Government's decision to suspend the reduction of the cost-of-living bonus for six weeks, and criticism was expressed of the action of the Minister for Finance in announcing his decision to suspend the reduction at a meeting of the Civil Service Representative Council—a body which is recognised by less than 1,000 civil servants out of a total personnel of 20,000.

Many members, the report says, expressed the opinion that the union should prepare to take drastic action should the Government at a later date persist in an endeavour to enforce further reductions, and a vote of confidence in the National Executive was passed.

'BUS AND TRAMCAR IN COLLISION.

RATHFARNHAM ACCIDENT.

A tramcar and a 'bus came into collision at Rathfarnham Bridge, Dublin, yesterday. The driver of the tramcar, Laurence Byrne, of Kimmage, received a severe cut in the throat from a piece of flying glass. He was treated by a doctor who lived near by. A woman in the 'bus was slightly injured on the leg, but the other passengers were unhurt. The 'bus and tram, although damaged, were able to proceed to their destinations.

ALLEGED DEBT.

AEROPLANE SEIZED AT TRAMORE.

An unusual seizure was effected in Tramore last Saturday evening, when a three-seater aeroplane, which had been plying for hire on Tramore Strand was taken possession of by a Court messenger from Waterford, acting as Sheriff's officer. The machine had just completed a flight around Tramore, and disembarked a passenger when the Sheriff's officer appeared, and, after a conversation with the pilot, he had the aeroplane towed off the strand and stored in a local garage, where it will remain until next Wednesday, when, if an arrangement is not come to, it will be sold by public auction.

The seizure, it was stated, was made on foot of a High Court decree for £146.

ON THE STAGE.

THIS WEEK'S THEATRE ATTRACTIONS.

This week the Abbey Theatre Company are presenting "Autumn Fire," one of T. C. Murray's best-known plays. Performances will begin to-night and subsequent nights at 8 o'clock, and there will be the usual matinée on Saturday.

The Gaiety Theatre will be closed this week, and for the two following weeks, for the usual midsummer holidays.

At the Theatre Royal there is a variety programme, in which Charlie Manny and Eddie Roberts, Jane Ayr and Eddy Leslie, Vine, More and Nevard, Herbert La Martine and Teddy Sherry, Tracy and Vinette, Raymond Smith, Edith Mirrelson, and the Valmar Trio will appear.

The Olympia presents a comedy revue entitled, "At Your Service." The principal actors are George Mayfield, Ruby Rowe, Rene Chesney, Jack Rutherford, Brin Luxford, George Hopkins and Roma Haworth.

The Queen's Theatre is presenting another revue, "Mixed Up," the cast of which includes the Rollenoffs, George Casey, Gaby Bolon and Jack Boot. On the screen Evelyn Brent appears in "The Crusader."

"The Midshipmaid," which is being shown at the Grafton, is a film version of the popular play of that name, and features Jessie Matthews, who makes her first appearance on the screen. She is remarkably good, and the film itself is quite amusing.

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

Anglo-Persian Oil Co.—The profit and loss account shows that royalty and taxation to the Persian Government amounted to £2,645,131, of which £1,142,353 was in respect of final settlement up to December 31, 1931, less reserves previously made, and £1,502,778 for the year 1932. In view of this settlement, it has been possible to draw on the balance of profit carried forward last year, which, chiefly because of the previous uncertainty of the position, had been kept at a higher figure than normally necessary. In the past, royalty payments were provided out of the profits of the First Exploitation Co. and Anglo-Persian Co. By arrangement with the First Exploitation Co. this company has taken over the liability for all such payments in consideration of a reduction. The volume of sales was well maintained.

Alvis Car and Engineering.—Dividend of 7½ per cent., less tax, on Pref. shares for year to December 31, 1932.

Fishers Foils.—Net profit after usual provisions, for year to April 30, would be £7,581, against £6,430. Actual profit of £12,655 is shown, however, as provision for certain items is made in capital reduction scheme.

London Pavilion.—Interim at rate of 5 per cent. per annum, less tax, on Ord. for half-year.

Nasmyth, Wilson and Co.—No dividend is to be paid on Pref. shares for half-year ended June 30, 1933.

Phœnix Oil Profits.—The Phœnix Oil and Transport Company reports a net surplus for 1932 of £162,473. This compares with £20,746 for the preceding year, struck after transferring £128,703 to investment reserve in respect of subsidiary companies. Adding the £182,524 brought in gives a total of £344,997. The directors have decided to allocate £100,000 to investment reserve, raising it to £800,000, leaving available £244,997, as against £182,524. It is proposed to resume dividends with the payment of 6d. per share on the £1 shares, and the relative amount of 3.463897d. per share on the 1/- shares. These will absorb £107,770, leaving to be carried forward £137,227. Production of the group amounted to 823,217 tons, as against 687,023 tons in 1931. The restrictive measures were in operation during the first five months of the present year, resulting in a total output for the period of 319,100 tons.

Raimal Tea.—Final dividend of 12½ per cent., less tax, making 27½ per cent. for year. (Last year 65 per cent.)

Selecta Gramophones.—Net balance for year to March 31, £848, against £1,523. After again writing £1,000 off preliminary expenses, £910 goes forward, against £1,062 brought in.

Stuttaford and Co.—Interim dividend of 5 per cent., free of South African tax. (Last year 2½ per cent.)

United Fruit.—Second quarterly dividend of 50 cents per share, payable July 15.

MIRAGES AT SEA.

VESSELS SEEN UPSIDE DOWN.

Two mirages were seen over Bridlington Bay yesterday—the first in the afternoon, lasting about two hours, and the second in the evening, for an hour. Ships on the horizon could be seen double, a boat appearing to be upside down on top of the actual vessel.

Visibility was extremely clear, and Withernsea Lighthouse, 24 miles away, could be seen double, one lighthouse seemingly balanced on top of the other. Grimsby, which is forty miles away, could be picked out by the monument, while through telescopes it was possible to see people walking about the streets at Hornsea, 20 miles away. Shipping in the Humber could be clearly distinguished.

Hundreds of people gathered on the sea front to watch.

AT DROMOLAND DEMESNE.

By permission of the Dowager Lady Inchiquin, Dromoland demesne and gardens, Newmarket-on-Fergus, Co. Clare, were thrown open to the public on behalf of the Pension Fund for District Nursing in Ireland. There was a large attendance, and a most enjoyable afternoon was spent.

A concert was held in the castle, at which songs and violin and pianoforte selections were supplied by the Dowager Lady Inchiquin, the Hon. Griselda O'Brien, Hon. Hilga O'Brien, Hon. Fion O'Brien, Lord Monteagle and Mr. George Welsh, Limerick, and dances in Irish costumes were given by four children from Ennis.

A carrier pigeon, labelled I.U.F.S. 32, 2313, was picked up in an exhausted condition last Thursday at Celbridge, Co. Kildare. It is at present being cared for by Miss M. Robinson, Castletown, who is anxious to trace its owner.

DOUBLES AT BALDOYLE.

SMART DISPLAY BY GRECIAN ORB IN SOMERTON PLATE.

THE delightful weather on Saturday afternoon made the racing at Baldoyle very enjoyable, but the attendance, owing to the many counter-attractions, notably the air pageant and the Metropolitan regatta, was rather small.

The hard state of the going was, probably, responsible for the small fields in a couple of races. There were only four runners for the Howth Plate, in which Vici was attempting a task he had not hitherto undertaken—namely, running over a distance of seven furlongs. He was in front for most of the journey, but when challenged by Twain it was apparent that staying is not his strong point. Twain, on the other hand, stuck out the journey to the end, and readily supplemented his success at the Curragh meeting a week previously.

OWNER AND JOCKEY SCORE DOUBLES.

J. T. Rogers, owner and trainer of Twain, and E. Gardner, the rider, were again to the fore later in the afternoon, when Lady Warbler got the better of an exciting finish with Snow Glory, and won the Coolock Plate. Mr. J. J. Maher's filly put up a strong challenge, and it was only in the last few strides that she was mastered, and Swindon Light was also concerned in the finish, being only a head off in third position.

The Somerton Plate, for two years old, was won in good style by Sir Thomas Dixon's Grecian Orb, who had not previously run, but came with a big reputation from a stable which specialises in two-year-old running. It was common report that the son of Greek Bachelor was as good, or better, than Black Wings, which was akin to suggesting that the race would be almost a certainty for him. Served by a quick beginning he was so far in front in the first furlong that he was able to cross over and take the rails position, and simply cantering in front all the way he won in easy style from Golden Dragon and Styford. The winner was bred by P. Behan, his trainer, who also has a yearling full-brother, who, if looks go for anything, might be even a better racehorse.

The long spell of ill-luck which has pursued Mr. J. J. Parkinson was broken at last when Voucher beat a big field in the Killester Selling Plate. Odds were laid on her chance, and she won in comfortable style, but at the ensuing auction did not elicit a bid.

THE CONSISTENT GLENREE.

That very consistent two-year-old, Glenree, gave another convincing display when winning the Juvenile Plate. He had his work cut out, however, to dispose of Grianeogh, who ran on in determined style to finish second. Lavendula, judiciously ridden by Mr. Fred Clarke, confirmed her Naas form by Breagan. FRENCH RACING.

SAINT CLOUD, Sunday.

The Prix du President de la Republique was run here this afternoon over 1¼ miles, and resulted as follows :—

MACARONI ....(A. Rabbe) 1
GENERALLISIME ....(——) 2
TAXODIUM ....(——) 3

Eleven ran. Won by half a length; same.

Pari-mutuel—Win, 14 frs. 50; places, 8 frs., 59 frs. 50; 12 frs. 50.

The race gave further evidence of the extent racing here has suffered from the financial crisis. Hitherto the Prix du President has been worth 400,000 francs, and was regarded as one of the richest prizes of the season. This year its value has been reduced to 300,000. Unlike last year, when the appearance in the field of the English horses, Orpen and Ut Majeur, gave the race a strong international aspect, there were no foreigners in the field this time.

ENGLISH RACING TOPICS.

COLOMBO'S FORM AND BREEDING : THE VALUE OF THE PHALARIS-CHAUCER CROSS.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

LONDON, Sunday Night.

IT cannot be said that the yearling sales at Newmarket last week were excitingly good, though they were better than those of twelve months ago. These July sales are not nowadays a good index to the bloodstock market. They assisted to cause depression among breeders last year, but things were very different when they went to Doncaster; and it can be fully anticipated that the Doncaster Sales will certainly be as good as—probably better—than they were twelve months ago.

The July sales have never really attracted the good buyers, and they owed what importance they possessed to the fact that the National Stud yearlings were sold during the first July meeting, as well as those of one or two other stud masters, who have now practically given up breeding.

The National Stud sale last week could not be called a good one. It is a bull point in favour of the Doncaster Sales that the best two-year-old we may have seen for a long time was bought at the public auction last year for 510 guineas. I refer to Lord Glanely's Manna colt, Colombo.

STERLING PERFORMANCE.

The more his performance in the Fulbourne Stakes last week is reflected on it the better it seems. Maureen beat Mystery Ship by four lengths in the Queen Mary Stakes, and she is thought at Beckhampton to be particularly smart. She has certainly won all her three races in exceptional style. Colombo last week gave Mystery Ship no less than 15lb., and beat her as easily as Maureen had done at Ascot at evens; and it may be said that the connections of Mystery Ship did not think there was anything in training capable of giving the filly so much weight and beating her so easily.

Colombo is another case of the invaluable cross of Phalaris on Chaucer mares, which has given us some of the best racehorses of the present decade, and it is apparent that the blood of the sons of Lord Derby's great sire is nicking as well as his own did.

Colombo is by Manna out of Lady Nairne, by Chaucer—out of Lammermuir—dam of Ellangowan and other good winners—out of Motem out of Kermesse—one of the late Lord Rosebery's best families. Lady Nairne herself was drafted by the late peer, as he had too much of the blood.

A SUCCESSFUL BREEDER.

Messrs. Brice bought her, and, at 6,200 guineas, she came into the possession of Sir Alec Black, who has been such a successful breeder, first at the Compton Stud, in Dorsetshire, and since that at the new Compton Stud near Newmarket, which is now for sale, and is a model establishment. It was Lord Derby's stud manager, Mr. Walter Alston, whom results have well proven to be one of the greatest geniuses of his time in mating mares, who first discovered the value of the Phalaris-Chaucer cross, and he persevered with it with vastly successful results.

It was probably the blood of Pilgrimage in Chaucer, through his dam, Canterbury Pilgrim, that most appealed to him, and Colombo has a double cross of Pilgrimage—one through Chaucer and one through Lammermuir's sire, Sunstar, who was out of Doris by Loved One, by See Saw out of Pilgrimage.

I shall be greatly surprised if Colombo is fairly beaten this season; and the National Breeders' Produce Stakes, run at Sandown on Saturday week, our most valuable two-year-old race, seems at his mercy. It is far too soon yet to generalise, but it seems as if the two-year-olds of this season are a far better lot than those who had been seen out at this date last year.

Although there is a great deal of racing this week, none of it is of great importance; but on Thursday we shall have the weights for the Stewards' Cup. Concerto is not engaged, but Solenoid is, so we may presume that Mrs. Mackean's colt will have top weight. In the Molyneux Cup at Liverpool Gold Bridge is set to receive a stone from Concerto.

JULY CUP RUNNING.

On the July Cup running Solenoid is 11lb. or 12lb. behind Concerto, so I expect that Gold Bridge will get a few pounds from him at Goodwood. Gold Bridge has not shown so far that he gets six furlongs as well as five.

The Divot is 5lb. behind Gold Bridge over five furlongs on their Ascot running, so it is easy to handicap these three. The Divot only just gets six furlongs on the top of the ground, but if the going is good at Goodwood, he should get the distance of the Stewards on the falling ground, and he is one who must have a chance. Mannering should get the six, and is one whose handicapping can be looked at with interest; but I imagine that it will be hard to handicap Solenoid out of it.

Dastur has been given 9st. 9lb. in the Liverpool Cup, to be run on July 21, and I hardly expect to see him in the field. It is unfortunate that he was not engaged in the Eclipse Stakes, where his stable companion Firdaussi will do duty. By the way, when this rich event at Sandown comes on next week I imagine that Loaningdale will be a greatly fancied candidate; for he has been doing particularly well since he beat Mannamead so unexpectedly at Ascot

DENBIGH'S IMPROVING FORM.

China King, who has been sold to go to India, is not likely to run for the Liverpool Cup. Denbigh is a likely candidate for this, as I am sure that we have not seen all the best of him this year, and he dead-heated in the Autumn event on the course last November.

Beneficial will not be trusted again after his poor display at Newmarket, when, although he got off, he did not run as if he cared for his task. The Irish four-year-old Lindley has been given 8st. 6lb., which does not, on the best of his form, seem an altogether unconscionable burden. It is likely that §Pommame will be fancied for this race. He has been an unlucky horse this season.

One notes that Lord Derby's three-year-old Highlander, the winner of the Dee Stakes, has been given only 6st. 9lb. He was thought worth running in the Derby until he developed some knee weakness shortly before Epsom.

RICHARDS'S BAD DAY.

It is the custom now to begin an account of each day's racing with the doings of Gordon Richards. Yesterday at Alexandra Park was not a good day for him, as he failed to ride a winner. It was a sweltering afternoon, and there was the usual big crowd that always goes there on London Cup day.

The Cup brought a little luck to the Aga Khan, who can console himself with the reflection that, if he did not win a race at Ascot, he won the chief prize at the cockney meeting, his Taj Ud Din taking the Cup easily by three lengths and a half-length from Barrage and Grey Wonder. It appears to be a favourite course with this grey son of Gainsborough and Taj Mahal; for one of the only two other races he has won was the Autumn Cup there last October.

Barrage made the running first, and then at half-way Grey Wonder took it up from Loosestrife; but three furlongs from home Beary began to make up ground on the favourite, and, passing Barrage, won with great ease. Tchang Ti finished fourth and Lunavada fifth. Loosestrife seemed to find the ground too hard, and although Bunkawai finished strongly he had too much ground to make up.

MERITONDY'S FAILURE.

Meritondy, who has always seemed to like this course better than any other, was so much better handicapped than when she ran a good second at Folkestone that there was no question of her being favourite for the July Handicap; but she was never going like a winner.

Icarus was in front coming into the straight and won easily by two lengths from Doch-an-Doris, the old horse being in no way disgraced under his big weight.

Mr. John Bisgood does well with his small stable, and although there were four better favourites for the Hornsey Handicap than Ole King Sole, the four-year-old, who was badly broken down last winter, was a comfortable winner by three parts of a length and a half-length from Hotcha and the favourite, Accra.

A recent purchase of Wootton's, the two-year-old Badebec, was badly drawn in the Juvenile Selling Plate, but flew out of the gate, was soon away clear, and won by a length from Sky Hero, being bought in afterwards for 300 guineas. Wootton gave 200 guineas for her when she won at Lewes for Mrs. Arthur James.

In the other seller Wootton's Roibell was beaten four lengths and a length and a half by Stop Gap and Best Bargain. It was the third time the Abbot's Trace colt had won this season, and Walter Nightingall had to go to 410 guineas to retain him for his owner, Mr. Alfred Duggan, a son of the Marchioness Curzon.

The odds-on chance, Tolstoi, a son of Tolgus, easily won the last race, the Wood Green Maiden Plate, for Major Cuthbert Blundell.

SELECTIONS.

At Nottingham to-morrow the Savile Plate may be won by ON BRIAN, or, in his absence, by STRATHPEFFER.

The Harrington Stakes may be won by DOUBLE ARCH, if the ground is not too firm. If he is not started O.T.C. may be the best.

The Elvaston Plate may be won by ROSENKAVALIER.

NEWMARKET HINTS FOR TO-DAY.

At Nottingham The Italian, Ben, Auld Stock, Astbury and will run for the Holme Pierrepont Selling Plate, and I prefer the last-named.

Monte Carlo, Coomakista, Pinault, Mellin and will be seen out for the Arnold Selling Plate, and the last-named should win.

Elusive George will give a good account of himself in the Savile Plate, as will

SANTA FE GELDING,

who is slightly preferred. Sanchance, The Right Man and Allumette may also run

Although he failed in the Duke of Cambridge Handicap, Double Arch will probably run well for the Harrington Stakes. Rock Star has done splendidly since winning at Ascot, and should beat Priory Court. However, I shall pin my faith to who, at Sandown Park, ran a good fifth for the Sandringham Stakes, when attempting to give 10lb. to Belfry, Foxbridge and Coronado, and 12lb. to Typhonic.

Shardley, Salic Law, Lord Swift and

FOXY

I take as our best for the Elvaston Plate, and the last-named should follow up the recent successes of W. Jarvis's team.

POMPOUS FANCIED.

LITIGATION PREFERRED IN HARRINGTON STAKES.

THE Nottingham Executive can consider themselves very fortunate in having no opposition to the first stage of their summer fixture to-day, for on each other day of this week there are two meetings. Double Arch, who heads the scale for the chief event, the Harrington Handicap, has not met with much luck since beating a useful field in the Flying Dutchman Welter Handicap at York. He was brought down at Windsor, and last week did not get the clearest of paths in the Duke of Cambridge Handicap. I am warned, however, that he will probably return to winning form here, for he acquitted himself well in a mixed gallop on Friday.

If Frank Butters can do nothing right for his biggest patron, the Aga Khan, he is continually winning races with Sir Alfred Butt's horses, and Robber Chief has a splendid chance on his Manchester Cup victory. I think his subsequent Windsor failure can be excused on the grounds that the sharp course did not give him sufficient scope to gallop.

Rock Star has gone up in the scale since winning at Ascot, and I pass on to Ennis Bridge, who was unlucky when third to Cornette and Bunch at Wolverhampton a week ago. He was slowly away from the gate, and yet finished only about a length behind the winner. Frank Hartigan's charge is a consistent sort, and I think this mile and a quarter is his ideal distance.

Winsome Prince, who came up against the improved Craig Park at Newcastle, would make more appeal to me over a slightly longer journey, and I must also pass over Nash Light who picked up a penalty at Newmarket. I have, however, a great respect for O.T.C., who has been placed in all his races this year. He started a hot favourite for a similar race at Sandown recently, and has now less to do at the weights.

The one they all have to beat is

LITIGATION.

Sneyd's charge was not greatly fancied when winning at Windsor, judging by his starting price, but there was no mistaking his superiority. He won comfortably by a couple of lengths, and it seems that Major Sneyd has got him back to his best. With only a few pounds above the minimum, I fancy the weight adjuster may not have got his full measure, and I take him to win from Ennis Bridge and O.T.C.

Lord Glanely can choose from a useful pair in Buckland and Elusive George in the Savile Plate, and, although their successes have been in selling company, I shall expect his selected to go close. Diana Buttercup has also been running in lowly company, but she has won twice, and, not being unduly penalised, must have a great chance. My choice is who impressed me considerably when scoring in runaway fashion at Folkestone.

The winner of the Elvaston Plate may come from those at the top of the weights, and I choose from Benzina Victoria, Salic Law, Frankie and POMPOUS.

I accord the last-named a somewhat confident vote, because he ran really well behind Lucky Patch at the recent Wolverhampton meeting.

In the Bramcote Handicap I fancy that is the best treated.

HAPPY PRINCE

MONTHLY CUP FINAL.

MATCH DECIDED BY SPIN OF COIN.

OAKLANDS .... 1 MONTPELIER 1

Even after an extra chukkar no definite result could be arrived at in the final of the monthly cup between Oaklands and Montpelier at the A.I.P.C., Phœnix Park, on Saturday, and the result was a drawn game of one goal each. In order to decide the destination of the trophy it was decided to rely upon the spin of a coin, and Mr. Maxwell Arnott called correctly for Montpelier.

From the Oaklands' point of view this was most unfortunate, for they exceeded all expectations, and playing well above form were able to hold Montpelier—a side with a two goals greater handicap—to an even draw. They were strong as a combination owing principally to the brilliant play of Major O'Rorke and Mr. Martin. For Montpelier two players—Mr. Arnott and Mr. Magee—also were in exceptional form, and their understanding proved a constant source of worry to their opponents.

Four chukkars were scoreless, and both goals were made in the second session. First Herr von Dehn scored for Oaklands from a difficult angle, after brilliantly accepting an awkwardly placed pass. Later Mr. Usher scored for Montpelier when he was smartly up to score from a rebound from a fast shot by Mr. Arnott which hit a goal post. Teams :—

Montpelier—Mr. R. H. Usher, Mr. W. Magee, Mr. M. Arnott, Mr. J. W. Shackleton.

Oaklands—Mr. D. Malone, Herr von Dehn, Major J. O'Rorke, Mr. J. Martin.

Umpire—Mr. J. J. Durack.

SPORTING GOSSIP.

Jockey's Double at Alexandra Park.

R. Dick scored a "double" at Alexandra Park Races on Saturday, his two winners being Stop Gap in the Tottenham Selling Plate and Tolstoi in the Wood Green Maiden Plate.

Exeter House to be Sold.

Exeter House, Newmarket, where there is stabling for thirty-two horses, is to be offered for sale at Winchester House, Old Broad street, London, on July 10, on behalf of the executors of the late Mr. Walter Griggs.

Big Winner for H.H. Aga Khan.

H.H. Aga Khan has been experiencing a run of ill-luck with his bloodstock this season, but there are now indications that the tide is turning in his favour. At Alexandra Park on Saturday he won the chief prize, the London Cup, with Taj Ud Din, and he had won a race earlier in the week with his colt Alishah in the July Stakes at Newmarket.

THE QUARTER-FINALISTS

MISS SCRIVEN'S RECOVERY IN WIMBLEDON SINGLES.

THE last eight in the Wimbledon Championships are:—

Men's Singles—H. E. Vines (U.S.A.), R. Menzel (Czecho-Slovakia), H. Cochet (France), L. B. Stoeffen (U.S.A.), J. Satoh (Japan), H. W. Austin (Great Britain), G. P. Hughes (Great Britain), Jack Crawford (Australia).

Women's Singles—Miss D. E. Round (Great Britain), Signorina L. Valerio (Italy), Madame R. Mathieu (France), Miss Helen Jacobs (U.S.A.), Fraulein H. Krahwinkel (Germany), Miss M. C. Scriven (Great Britain), Mlle. L. Payot (Switzerland), Mrs. F. S. Moody (U.S.A.).

Miss Betty Nuthall was beaten by Miss M. C. Scriven, the left-handed girl from Yorkshire, who won a remarkable match by 3-6, 6-0, 6-4, and became, with Miss Dorothy Round, one of Great Britain's two representatives in the last eight of the women's singles. Miss Nuthall has rarely played so well as when taking the first set of nine games. The girl who won the American championship two years ago was, however, no match for the girl who won the French title a few weeks ago. It looked all over when Miss Nuthall won the first set. Miss Scriven was quite unable to control her forehand and dropped service games.

After taking the second set to love, Miss Scriven recovered to 2-3 in the third after Miss Nuthall had been within a point of 4-1. After a love game to the latter against the service, Miss Scriven came right out of her shell and gained for the first time in the match perfect control over her forehand, hit the ball with tremendous power, ran Miss Nuthall about and, taking four games in a row—the last three with the loss of only four points—walked off the court a courageous winner.

Henri Cochet, champion of 1927 and 1929, beat D. N. Jones, a young American, who is at Clare College, Cambridge. Cochet could do nothing with Jones's service, which was the fastest of anything seen at Wimbledon since Tilden's heyday, until the fourth set. Elsworth Vines accounted for Daniel Prenn, the former German Davis Cup player, in three sets, and H. W. Austin, who with G. P. Hughes formed Great Britain's "hope" in the last eight, beat Dr. P. D. B. Spence easily, while Jack Crawford, the Australian, had no difficulty in eliminating A. C. Stedman, of New Zealand.

MEN'S SINGLES.

FOURTH ROUND.

J. H. Crawford (Australia) beat A. C. Stedman (New Zealand)—6-1, 6-4, 6-2.

E. Vines (U.S.A.) beat D. Prenn (Germany)—6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

H. W. Austin (Great Britain) beat P. D. B. Spence (South Africa)—6-2, 6-2, 6-4.

H. Cochet (France) beat D. N. Jones (U.S.A.)—6-4, 6-8, 8-6, 6-0.

MEN'S DOUBLES.

SECOND ROUND.

G. P. Hughes and F. J. Perry beat N. H. Latchford and W. H. Powell—6-3, 6-1, 8-6.

R. Nunoi and J. Satoh beat J. J. Condon and C. J. J. Robbins—6-1, 5-7, 6-1, 6-2.

L. B. Stoefen and C. Sutter beat L. de Borman and A. Lacroix—6-3, 6-4, 9-7.

THIRD ROUND.

G. von Cramm and E. Nourney beat A. del Bone and E. Sertorio—1-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

N. G. Farquharson and V. G. Kirby beat I. Aoki and G. L. Tuckett—6-2, 6-3, 6-4.

WOMEN'S SINGLES.

FOURTH ROUND.

Mme. R. Mathieu (France) beat Miss K. E. Stammers (Britain)—6-4, 6-0.

Miss D. E. Round (Britain) beat Mrs. S. K. Edwards (Britain)—6-4, 6-2.

Miss H. Krahwinkel (Germany) beat Mrs. M. R. King (Britain)—6-2, 7-5.

MIXED FOURSOMES CUP.

A ONE-SIDED FINAL AT MILLTOWN.

FAVOURITES fo rthe final, as the result of convincing form during the week, W. Collins and Mrs. Byrne beat J. F. Conan and Miss Conway in the Irish Open Mixed Foursomes Cup at Milltown on Saturday by 6 and 4.

Conan and Miss Conway made too many mistakes ever to have a chance of winning, and they sealed their fate by taking five at each of the first two holes, losing both. The first hole undoubtedly made a good deal of difference to the whole match; for Collins pulled his drive into an unplayable lie on the left, but his partner, after picking out under penalty, put the ball in the middle of the green, and Collins holed a four-yard putt for a four. The others took three putts.

Collins and Mrs. Byrne became two up at the second and three up at the fourth. Then they lapsed; lost two of the next three, and found themselves only one up at the eighth. At this critical point Conan and Miss Conway failed again, losing the eighth and ninth to turn three down. They won the tenth, but that was their last success, as Collins and Mrs. Byrne took the next four for the match. Collins played steadily and well all through, while Mrs. Byrne, who has a handicap of 18, gave him sound support.

W. Collins (St. Anne's) and Mrs. Byrne (Newlands) beat J. F. Conan (Killiney) and Miss Conway (Dun Laoghaire) 6 and 4.

S. FAIRWEATHER PLAYS FOR SCOTLAND.

Syd Fairweather (Malone) has gained the distinction of playing for two countries in representative matches. Last year he was in the Irish teams against England and Scotland, and on Saturday at St. Andrews was included in the Scottish side beaten by England by ten matches to five, three being halved. J. Adams, recently appointed to the Royal Co. Down Club, also played for Scotland. The results were:—

MIZLER WINS AGAIN.

Harry Mizler, the former amateur champion, won his third fight as a professional when at The Ring, London, yesterday, he knocked out Nobby Baker, of Wales, in the first round. Mizler took only 1 minutes 32 seconds to deliver the winning blow—a powerful right-hand punch to the body—and Baker had to be assisted to his corner.

CRICKET.

BRIGHT BATTING BY E. A. INGRAM.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY'S HEAVY DEFEAT.

E. A. INGRAM had a big share in the easy victory gained by Leinster over Dublin University in the College Park on Saturday by 112 runs, with five wickets to spare. Trinity had lost 8 wickets for 90 on Friday, and on Saturday the innings closed for an addition of nine runs, Ingram taking the last two wickets in successive balls. Leinster got the runs for the loss of three wickets, and Ingram, going in after F. G. Connell had been dismissed with the score at 26, hitting the bowling with delightful freedom, gave one of his brightest displays. He batted one and three-quarter hours, did not give a chance, and hit 13 boundaries. Score:—

WARD CAUSES COLLAPSE BY SERVICE.

The League leaders, Pembroke, beat Civil Service by the comfortable margin of 54 runs at Sydney Parade on Saturday, though at one time their prospects of victory did not appear bright. They lost their first four wickets for 28 runs, H. Flewitt at that period being nearly unplayable, but T. C. Williams and B. Bergin came to the rescue. Civil Service put up 48 for 2 wickets, but T. F. Ward then got going, and quickly tumbled the side out. Score:—

BOUCHER IN FORM.

At Castle avenue on Saturday Phœnix won a low-scoring game by 54 runs. Clontarf, who were much below strength, fared badly against the bowling of R. Fox and Ruddle, and lost 5 wickets for 12 runs. McElhenny and Martin stopped the rot, but the side were all out for 49 in a little over an hour and a half. Phœnix passed the Clontarf total with four wickets down. Ganly had a 6 in his 11. Score:—

THE MUNSTER TEAM.

Following what was looked on as an unofficial trial match between Cork County and The Rest, at Mardyke, Cork, on Saturday, the following team was chosen to meet Leinster in Dublin on July 14 and 15:—F. H. Hall (Cork County) (capt.), D. M. Loughnan (Bohemians), D. O'Mahony (do.), T. P. O'Gorman (do.), W. R. O'Sullivan (do.), Jack Darcy (Constitution), Jerh. Darcy (do.), H. Frackleton (Purcells), J. A. Delaney (Bohemians), R. G. Dorgan (do.), J. Collins (Constitution). Twelfth man—F. Murphy (Bohemians).

CHANGES IN LEINSTER SCHOOLS' TEAM.

K. Kelly, of Belvedere College, has declared off the Leinster Schools' team to oppose Ulster at Rathmines to-day and to-morrow, and his place will be taken by F. Clampett, of St. Columba's College.

D. Robinson, of King's Hospital, will replace Fuge, of St. Stephen's Green School, who is also unable to play.

ULSTER MATCHES.

Cliftonville, 181 for 9, declared; Downpatrick, 120.

Lisburn, 173; North Down, 99.

WEEK-END MEETINGS.

SMART PERFORMANCES AT SCHOOL SPORTS IN DUBLIN.

ST. ANDREW'S COLLEGE, Masonic Orphan Boys' School, King's Hospital, Sandford Park School and Kingstown Grammar School held their annual "Sports Day" on Saturday. In recent years, as the result of the activities of the County Dublin Schools' Union, athletics have been given a conspicuous position in the curriculum of our educational establishments, and the progress made by the boys in all branches of athletics, under the careful guidance of the headmasters and their assistants, was again exemplified at these always enjoyable meetings.

The most striking achievement was the running of V. Howard at King's Hospital. Winner of the Victor Ludorum Cup, his time for the 100 yards championship was returned at 10 1-5 secs., and from scratch in the 100 yards handicap he was given as doing 10 3-10 secs. G. Craigie also had a great day at the St. Andrew's College meeting, his successes including the 100 yards senior championship and the 440 yards.

Dr. O'Callaghan won the hammer at a meeting at Chicago with a throw of 161ft. 3⅜ins.

KINGSTOWN GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

Glorious weather favoured the annual sports of the boys of the Kingstown Grammar School on Saturday. The grounds were in perfect order, and the attendance was a very large one. Results:—

GAELIC GAMES.

WEXFORD TO MEET DUBLIN.

KILDARE'S CHALLENGE TOO LATE.

(BY PAT'O.)

WEXFORD .... 2 GOALS 8 POINTS (14)

KILDARE .... 1 GOAL 8 POINTS (11)

With a single score between Wexford and Kildare at the 60th minute, Pringle, of the Garda, shot from point blank range for Kildare, and hit the inside of the framework. The ball bounced on the goal line, and Howlin bundled it clear. The umpires decided that the line was not crossed, and they were in the best position to judge. A score would have forced a re-play, yet the finish in Wexford's favour by the same margin as last year was a true reflex of a game of great speed and quality. Croke Park was playing fast, and the ball was swung from goal to goal freely. Wexford's ready opening gave O'Neill a lead which he helped to maintain throughout. Wexford's close tackling and method of hunting in groups prevented Kildare's passing from developing. The All Whites are not the sparkling side they were. P. Martin, a veteran of many finals, was the best man of the side. His perfect hands and passes, his earnest work at centre field, rallied Kildare in a gallant effort to save the game. Howlin's posts had narrow escapes near the end. Wexford meet Dublin in the Leinster final on July 30.

HOW THE GAME WENT.

Wexford secured the ball from the throw-in, and Walsh swung out to O'Neill, who pointed inside a minute. Pressing hotly, Wexford were wide twice, and some fast exchanges saw Goff clearing. Fane placed Walsh for Wexford's second minor, and Higgins was kept busy for Kildare. O'Neill's free put Wexford three points up. Martin at last got the Kildare forwards moving, and Byrne took a perfect free for a point. The wind and sun were balancing factors. Kildare passed and re-passed to the goalmouth. Howlin saved beneath the cross-bar; Mulhall and Pringle were on the line, and a swift hand tap above the bar set the score at 3-2. Kildare were doing better, and signalled two dangerous wides. The Hayes brothers and Roche played steadily in Wexford's defence, and smart work by Fane and Brosnan and Walsh gave Spillane an opening. He shot hard at Goff, who cleared at the cost of a 50. Wexford's resolute tackling swept the game goalwards. D. Morris crossed accurately to the square; Walsh and O'Neill burst through, and Spillane, last to receive, scored the first goal of the match. Wexford pressed hotly to the half-hour stop, and N. Walsh had a grand point from 40 yards. Half-time—Wexford, 1 goal 4 points; Kildare, 2 points.

A SMART GOAL.

Wexford were again quickest into their stride. They were wide with successive shots. Then O'Neill accepted a fast crossing ball from Fane. He drew the opposition before shooting out to D. Morris, who was unmarked, and a fine drive beat O'Reilly for Wexford's second goal. Martin's long range point did not help Kildare, for McDonagh balanced from a free from the other end, and the O'Neill-Brosnan-Morris combination ran Wexford into a big lead of 2-7 to 3 points at the end of the third quarter.

Just when the game looked like an easy one for Wexford the All White men threw more spirit into their work, and staged one of the best finishes of many years. The Kildare men went up high to field. Soon Martin was swinging dangerous lobbing shots to the wings and centre. Burke picked up one, and his pass to Kehoe was cleverly turned to the net. H. Burke had another point, and P. Martin was through for a goal, only to be whistled back.

Kildare were now playing their brightest football, and were rarely out of Wexford's 50. Byrne had two grand points. Meaney and Goff held up any Wexford raids, and Martin's pass to P. Byrne set Kildare within a goal of the leaders. Wexford's backs saved the game at this stage, but Pringle should have netted from the seven yards mark when he hit the timbers near the end.

ROWING.

METROPOLITAN REGATTA.

A GREAT RACE FOR IRISH BLUE RIBAND.

EXCELLENT racing featured the conclusion of the Metropolitan Regatta at Islandbridge on Saturday, and not the least noteworthy achievement of several fine performances was the victory of the Commercial under age fours in the Dodder Cup. It must be close on twenty years since a Commercial crew won a trophy at these regattas, and this success was, therefore, immensely popular. Not only that, it was gained decisively; for J. F. Tuohy's boat led all the way, the margin over Dublin University being two lengths.

Regarded as the blue riband of Irish rowing, the Metropolitan final, aptly enough, provided a thrilling race between the senior fours of Neptune and Lady Elizabeth. It was the hardest rowed race of the two days, but Lady Elizabeth held out a shade the stronger to gain the verdict by a matter of a couple of feet.

Lady Elizabeth and Neptune had also a ding-dong struggle in the Pembroke for senior eights, but from the time they came out of the final bend Lady Elizabeth had a bit the better of it, and it was by a canvas that the good Neptune crew succumbed to a superior one. Neptune's maiden eight, however, had a stylish win over Commercial in the Visitors, a length and a half separating them at the gun, but this Commercial crew is the making of a good one, as was evidenced by the way they rowed this race against an eight that has not known defeat. The Gray (junior eights) also yielded a capital finish, Dublin University beating Dublin by about half a length after the losers had been in front to the big bend.

The trophies were won as follows:—

THE CUP WINNERS.

Metropolitan Cup (Senior Fours)—Lady Elizabeth B.C.

Pembroke Cup (Senior Eights) — Lady Elizabeth B.C.

Gray Cup (Junior Eights)—Dublin University B.C.

Visitors' Cup (Maiden Eights)—Neptune R.C.

Subscribers' Cup (Second Senior Fours)—Drogheda R.C.

Schools' Race — Belvedere College R.C. "A" crew.

THE RESULTS.

THE METROPOLITAN CHALLENGE CUP—Senior Fours.

FINAL.

North Station.—Lady Elizabeth B.C.—W. S. J. Carter (bow), 10st.; 2 H. Watson 11st. 7lb.; 3 J. G. McClintock, 11st.; D. S. Gogarty (stk.), 12st. 7lb.; T. O. Dunbar (cox.), 9st 10lb.—1.

South Station—Neptune R.C.—J. A. Duggan (bow), 11st. 8lb.; 2 W. J. Collins, 12st. 6lb.; 3 J. B. Kane, 11st. 8lb.; F. Lemass (stk.), 10st.; J. Nolan (cox.), 9st.—0.

Neptune did not start well, and Lady Elizabeth had worked out a slight lead at the first bend. There Neptune went ahead, and at the Neptune boat-house was about a length in front. Lady Elizabeth then began to forge up, and were but slightly behind. It was a thrilling finish, with both crews putting every ounce into it, but Lady Elizabeth got the better of it by a couple of feet.

THE PEMBROKE CHALLENGE CUP—Senior Eights.

FINAL.

CIVIC CHALLENGE CUP (Maiden Fours).

FINAL.

North Station—Commercial R.C.—M. C. Flannery (bow), 10st. 13lb.; 2 J. O'R. Fox, 11st. 4lb.; 3 M. J. Caffrey, 12st. 10lb.; L. Heffernan (stk.), 11st.; R. J. Lenehan (cox), 8st. 6lb.—0.

From a level start, Neptune took a slight lead in the first minute. They rounded the first bend with Neptune a length in front, and at the big bend Neptune had increased their lead to a length clear. Commercial rowed quite well, but could make little impression on the leaders, who won by a length and a quarter.

LIFFEY CHALLENGE CUP (Junior Fours).

TRINITY FORCED TO CALL ON SUBSTITUTES.

Our Special Correspondent with the Trinity crews at Henley wires:—

Further misfortune has overtaken the Trinity eight, as Malahan has fallen sick, and another substitute will have to be found. I understand McCarthy Morrogh, who rows No. 5 in the junior eight, has been wired for to take Carson's place, and O'Malley is coming to replace Malahan. O'Malley has been stroking the junior eight well recently.

This is very bad luck on the crew, who were at the top of their form, and who have improved a lot since they arrived here, but these are two capable substitutes, and, what is even more important, they will be very fit. O'Neill has been fixed into his seat by the piece of wood behind his knees, not at his feet as previously.

The eight have drawn Keble College in the preliminary heat of the Ladies', and the four have drawn Christ's College in the Visitors'.

BOXING.

McCORKINDALE UNLUCKY TO LOSE DECISION.

BARCELONA, Sunday.

Dan McCorkindale, the South African heavy-weight, got a "raw deal" at the Bull Ring here yesterday. He outboxed and virtually beat the European champion, Paolino Uzcudun, but failed to get the decision of the Spanish referee.

Boxing skilfully and showing unusual aggression, McCorkindale won at least half of the rounds. In the third he landed a right which closed Paolino's left eye. McCorkindale was not slow to follow up his advantage, and played for the injured eye continually. There was a thrilling moment in the sixth round, when McCorkindale sent his man down with a left hook, but the Spaniard was up in a flash.

The last round was the best. McCorkindale's constant attack on Paolino's left eye had made it bleed badly, but, in spite of this, the Spaniard summoned up every bit of energy and went all out for a knock-out. McCorkindale was of the same turn of mind, and both men tried to land one heavy blow after another in some spirited fighting that brought many of the spectators to their feet, shouting and waving their arms in their excitement, but neither could land the coup de grace.

The decision in favour of Paolino was greeted with tumultuous cheering, but McCorkindale got a wonderful ovation as he left the ring. He had put up a splendid show, and was very unfortunate to be beaten.

Switzers SALE

Post Orders Receive Careful Attention

If Unable To Call Post Your Order Early

BEGINS TO-DAY

SWITZERS SALE is an event altogether distinct from other Sales — just as distinct in fact as are SWITZER Fashions from ordinary Fashions. It must be borne in mind that this is practically the only outlet for the thousands of special values accumulated during a full six months' regular trading. Now they are released . . . . a veritable flood of tempting Sale Offers . . . . Fashions that are a revelation in Chic . . . . Price Reductions that have been well worth waiting for—even half the year!

● Postage paid on purchases

Post Orders and enquiries from the Country are very carefully dealt with by an expert staff and purchases despatched without delay. SWITZERS pay postage on Fashion Goods, Fabrics, and General Drapery.
